21. No standing rule of the Senate may be repealed or amended except upon an affirmative vote of a majority of the Members of the Senate, one day's notice being given, but any rule not requiring more than a majority vote may be temporarily suspended by a vote of a majority of the Members of the Senate. A rule requiring a two-thirds vote on any question may be amended only by a two-thirds vote on one day's notice, and a rule requiring a two-thirds vote may be temporarily suspended only by a two-thirds vote.

All proposed amendments to these rules shall, upon presentation, be referred to the Committee on Rules without debate.

Introduction and Reference of Bills

Introduction, First Reading, and Reference of Bills

22. Any Senator desiring to introduce a bill shall send it to the Senate desk.

The Committee on Rules shall check all Senate bills prior to introduction and all Assembly bills before reference to committee and shall designate the committees to which they shall be referred. The provisions of Rule 12, referring to the assignment of bills are intended as a guide to the committee but are not binding upon the committee.

Under the order of Introduction of Bills, the Secretary shall assign a number to each Senate bill, shall read it the first time, shall read the name of the committee to which the bill has been assigned by the Committee on Rules, and unless otherwise ordered by the Senate without debate the assignment of the bill shall then be complete and after printing the Secretary shall deliver the bills to the committee so designated.

Under the order of Messages from the Assembly the Secretary shall read each Assembly bill the first time, shall read the name of the committee to which the bill has been assigned by the Committee on Rules, and unless otherwise ordered by the Senate without debate the assignment of the bill shall then be complete and the Secretary shall deliver the bill to the committee so designated.

Introduction of Bills by a Committee

23. Any committee may introduce a bill germane to any subject within the proper consideration of such committee in the same manner as any member.

Introduction of Bills at Special Sessions

24. Whenever at any special session a bill is received at the desk, under the order of Introduction of Bills, it shall be referred to the Committee on Rules which shall decide whether or not such bill can properly be considered at the session. If in the judgment of the Committee on Rules such bill can be considered it shall report it back and designate the committee to which it shall be assigned. Thereafter it shall be assigned a number by the Secretary, be read first time, and referred to the committee recommended by the Committee on Rules unless otherwise referred on motion without debate.

Senate Resolutions

25. All Senate resolutions upon being presented shall be given a number by the Secretary. Such resolutions shall be printed in the Journal and indexed in the History and Journal.

Bills in Committee

Committee Hearings

26. During the constitutional recess or as soon thereafter as practicable the chairman of each committee shall prepare a schedule of hearings concerning bills referred to the committee. The schedule shall be arranged according to subjects insofar as may be convenient.

The schedules and any changes therein shall be delivered to the Senate as soon as convenient in order that due notice may be given to persons interested in the legislation.

Substitute Committee Bills

27. A committee may amend into one bill related provisions germane to the subject and embraced within the title; and with the consent of the author the committee may constitute such bill a committee bill by striking out of the heading of the bill the line "Introduced by" and the name of the author and substituting therefor "Substitute committee bill of the Committee on" and the name of the committee.

Recalling a Bill From Committee

28. The Senate may at any time by 21 votes recall a bill from committee.

Consideration of Bills

Order of Making Files

29. When bills are reported from committee they shall be placed upon the General File, to be kept by the Secretary as follows: All bills when reported to the Senate by the committee shall be placed at the foot of the second reading Senate or Assembly file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the Senate or Assembly third reading file, in the order of reading. Unless otherwise ordered by the Senate the File shall be taken up in the following order: Senate second reading file, Assembly second reading file and Senate third reading file, Assembly third reading file. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the File, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate.

An inactive file shall be kept to which bills may be transferred at the request of the author, or on motion, and they shall be so transferred when they have been passed on third reading file without action three successive times. Bills may be carried on the inactive file by author and bill number without setting forth the title.

Bills may be transferred from the inactive file to the second reading file on motion, and after being read the second time such bills will take their place regularly on third reading file and be available for consideration and passage.

Notices of committee hearings shall be published in the File whenever presented by chairmen of committees to the Secretary for that purpose. For such purpose bills will be identified by subject or by number.

Special Order

30. Any measure or subject may, by vote of a majority of those voting, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

Messages From the Governor or Assembly

31. Messages from the Governor or from the Assembly may be introduced at any stage of business except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

Messages from the Governor or from the Assembly may be considered when indicated in the order of business or at any other time by unanimous consent or upon motion.

Engrossing Bills

32. All Senate bills, constitutional amendments and joint or concurrent resolutions shall be engrossed before final action is taken on them in the Senate. Engrossment shall consist of comparing the printed engrossed bill with the original bill introduced and any amendments adopted to ascertain that it is correct. When a bill is reported correctly engrossed it shall be substituted on the File for the original bill.

Enrolling Bills

33. All Senate bills shall be enrolled immediately following their final passage and receipt from the Assembly. An enrolled copy of every such bill, amendment or resolution shall be printed and examined to ascertain that it is a true and accurate copy of the measure as it was passed. It shall then be authenticated by the signatures of the President or President pro Tempore of the Senate and the Secretary or an Assistant Secretary of the Senate and by the corresponding officers of the Assembly and transmitted without delay to the Governor.

Debate

Statement of Motion

34. No motion shall be debated until the same be distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary, before the same shall be debated.

Regulations as to Speaking

35. 1. When a Senator desires to address the Senate, he shall rise in his place, address the President, and when recognized he shall proceed to the nearest microphone and proceed to speak through the public address system.

2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.

3. When two or more Senators arise at the same time to address the Senate, the presiding officer shall designate the Senator who is entitled to the floor.

4. No Senator shall be interrupted when speaking, and no question shall be asked him except through the presiding officer.

5. The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

Order in Debate

36. When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the objectionable language shall immediately be taken down in writing by the Secretary of the Senate.

Right to Address the Senate

37. No person other than a member of the Senate or the President thereof, shall address the Senate while it is in session but the Senate may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole and while sitting as such committee may be addressed by persons other than members.

Questions and Motions

Amendments to Bills

38. When amendments to a bill are reported by a committee or offered from the floor, such amendments shall be submitted in triplicate.

Adoption of amendments to any bill in the Senate prior to third reading, other than by roll call, shall not preclude subsequent consideration in committee or on the third reading of the bill, of such amendments or any part thereof, by the Senate.

Motion to Lay on the Table

39. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

Division of a Question

40. If a question in debate contains more than one distinct proposition, any Senator may have the same divided.

The Previous Question

41. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall require a majority vote of the Senators present; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate except that the author of the bill or the amendment shall have the right to close, and the question under discussion shall thereupon be immediately put to a vote.

Call of the Senate

42. Upon a motion being carried for a call of the Senate, the President shall immediately order the doors to be closed, and shall direct the Secretary to call the names of the absentees as disclosed by the last previous roll call. Thereupon, no members shall be permitted to leave the Senate Chamber except by written permission of the President pro Tempore or in his absence of the presiding officer. Those members who are found to be absent and for whom no excuse or insufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody, as they appear, or may be sent for and then taken into custody by the Sergeant-at-Arms wherever found, or by special messenger to be appointed for that purpose. In the absence of a quorum, a majority of the members present may order a roll call of the Senate and compel the attendance of absentees in the manner above provided.

A call of the Senate may be ordered after the roll has been called and prior to the announcement of the vote.

No recess can be taken during a call of the Senate. During a call, the Senate may consider and transact any matter or business that the Senators then present shall unanimously decide to consider, but no call of the Senate shall be had during a call of the Senate, except that during a call which was ordered for the purpose of procuring sufficient attendance for the conduct of business of the Senate in general and not for any other purpose, such call may be made to apply also to not more than one item of business by motion made and adopted by a majority vote of the members present after the roll has been called and prior to the announcement of the vote on such item of business. Under such circumstances, when the call of the Senate is dispensed with as to the item of business to which it is so applied it shall be deemed dispensed with as to the purpose for which it was originally made. When a call of the Senate is ordered, pending the announcement of the vote upon the completion of a roll call, the pending roll call shall become unfinished business, the consideration of which shall be continued until further proceedings under the call of the Senate are dispensed with, when it will forthwith become the order of business before the Senate.

Reconsideration

43. On the day on which a vote has been taken on any question a motion to reconsider the vote may be made by any member.

The motion may be considered on the day made or on the succeeding legislative day but may not be further postponed without the concurrence of 27 members.

No vote on a Senate bill may be reconsidered on or after the last day fixed for the consideration of Senate bills prior to adjournment and no vote may be reconsidered on the last day of the session.

When reconsideration of the vote by which any bill was passed has been demanded the Secretary shall not transmit it to the Assembly until the demand has been disposed of or the time for reconsideration has expired, but if the bill has already been transmitted to the Assembly the demand for reconsideration shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the bill. This motion shall be put to a vote immediately without debate and if not adopted shall preclude a demand for reconsideration.

A demand to reconsider the vote on any debatable question opens the main question to debate and the vote on the reconsideration shall be on the merits of such main question.

Voting by Senate

Voting on Roll Call

44. Whenever a roll call is required by the Constitution or Rules, or is ordered by the Senate or demanded by three members, every member within the Senate shall without debate answer "Aye" or "No" when his name is called.

The names of members shall be called alphabetically.

No Senator shall be permitted to vote or change his vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

Excused From Voting

45. When a Senator declines or fails to vote on call of his name he may, after completion of the roll call, and before the announcement of the vote be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which question shall be decided without debate. Unless the Senator is excused from voting he shall be required to vote.

By Senator Powers:

Senate Resolution No. 12

Creating the Senate Legislative Process Committee and defining its powers and duties

WHEREAS, Many of the legislative proposals involve problems within the jurisdiction of more than one standing committee of the Senate, and the adequate consideration of such measures requires the cooperation of such several committees in order to avoid duplicating the work of one such committee by another, and much delay in the legislative process could be avoided if it were possible to eliminate such duplication of effort and provide a means for expediting the consideration of such measures; and

WHEREAS, There is need of a committee equipped to ascertain facts and secure facts and secure information upon assigned topics from time to time during the session, a committee acting in aid of and in collaboration with the several standing committees of the Senate; now, therefore, be it

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a vice chairman from its membership.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 12

Senate Resolution No. 12

Creating the Senate Legislative Process Committee and defining its powers and duties

WHEREAS, Many of the legislative proposals involve problems within the jurisdiction of more than one standing committee of the Senate, and the adequate consideration of such measures requires the cooperation of such several committees in order to avoid duplicating the work of one such committee by another, and much delay in the legislative process could be avoided if it were possible to eliminate such duplication of effort and provide a means for expediting the consideration of such measures; and

WHEREAS, There is need of a committee equipped to ascertain facts and secure facts and secure information upon assigned topics from time to time during the session, a committee acting in aid and in collaboration with the several standing committees of the Senate; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, as follows:

1. A special committee designated the "Senate Legislative Process Committee" is hereby created and authorized and directed to take such steps as may be necessary to coordinate the work of the various standing committees of this session in considering questions before such session in order that there be no duplication of work or effort, and to make such studies as may be necessary, ascertain such facts and information, and secure such statistics for the use of the Members and committees of the Senate as may be of aid to them in considering and acting upon legislative proposals at this session.

Until the adoption of Joint Rules at this session, the Joint Rules of the last preceding regular session are incorporated herein and made applicable to this committee and its members.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

ADDRESS BY THE GOVERNOR

Mr. Speaker, Lieutenant Governor Knight, President pro Tem. Powers, Speaker pro Tem. Maloney, and Members of the Legislature:

I welcome you to Sacramento for the last Constitutional Session of the Legislature in our first century of statehood. Paradoxically it is the first of its kind, because only last November the people ratified your constitutional amendment to limit the session in even-numbered years to consideration of the budget and other financial matters.

I agree with the principle of that amendment. If it were possible to do so, I would be happy to conform to that simplified procedure because you have already been in session, wrestling with the problems of our growing State, more than half of the past year, a condition that I am sure was not contemplated by the founders of our State Government. But the California of today is not the California of a hundred years ago. The only feature that remains the same is its boundary line. Today it is not only larger than many of the important countries of the world—England, Italy, and Norway, but it has more people than many—Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Greece. It is growing faster than any of them—by almost four millions in the last 10 years. It is changing as fast as it is possible to change to an industrial State of world-wide significance. Its problems are proportionate to that size, population and growth, both in number and complexity. We must therefore meet more often than was contemplated in the past. Problems of growth do not solve themselves. It is therefore necessary for me to call you into special session again—the eighth time since 1943—to consider some of the problems that cannot await action until the next general session in 1951.

I have endeavored to be considerate of your time, and although there are a sizeable number of items in the call, I believe you will find that many of them are not controversial, others have already been the subject of study in former sessions, and still others have had special study by your interim committees. You will find little entirely new matter to be considered. It can, I believe, all be considered, while you are also studying the budget.

Traditionally the Governor does not address the Legislature on the presentation of the budget. The text of his message is usually submitted in writing with the budget. The length, tabulations, and complexities of any message that tells the whole story of the budget almost demands this. I will therefore conform to the custom, submit my message in writing and limit my remarks on the budget to a few salient points which can be briefly stated.

I want to report to you that the budget was prepared with great care. It represents the cooperative effort of all the departments of State Government in building a budget consistent with both economy and good service to the public. It does not contain a shortsighted brand of economy, which neglects such things as education, mental hygiene, public health, corrections, and law enforcement. It contains moderate increases for these functions. Other state operations in spite of growth are being held to current levels.

The budget is balanced, and without the imposition of new taxes.

According to revenue estimates there should be a small surplus at the end of the fiscal year.

It retains intact our Rainy Day Fund of $75,000,000 as a cushion against any recession.

It does not propose new or expanded services which have not already been considered and approved by the Legislature.

It contemplates the expenditure of $195,000,000 less than in the current year.

It is not a billion dollar budget. The total is 29 million below that sum—$971,000,000.

In addition every department of the State Government is prepared to make and is under instructions to make every possible saving throughout the year.

The proposed expenditures may be broken down as follows:

31½% for education and educational facilities
20½% for highways, streets and motor vehicle regulation
17% for social welfare
9% for mental hospitals and correctional facilities
6% for conservation of agriculture, water and other natural resources
2% for public health
14% for operations of the many other governmental activities.

Almost two-thirds (63.5%) represents expenditures fixed by the Constitution or existing statutes. Included in this group of costs are payments for the support of public schools; assistance to the needy aged, blind and children; expenditures for highways; apportionments of revenues shared with local governments; and contributions to the various state retirement funds.

Approximately 8.3 percent of the expenditure total represents controllable items for capital outlay. While these payments are controllable in the sense that they are not fixed by law, the overcrowded conditions of our hospitals and other institutions make them mandatory as a matter of moral responsibility.

The remaining 28.2 percent or $274,000,000 represents the controllable expense items of the budget of which $214,000,000 is for state operations and $60,000,000 is for assistance to local governments. I have the responsibility for recommending each year the proper amount to spend for these activities, although I have nothing to do with the supervision of the funds appropriated for assistance to local governments. Even most of these state costs are controllable in only a limited degree. For instance, in any one year we can exercise little control over the number of patients in our hospitals, inmates in our correctional institutions, or the number of students at the university or in our state colleges. We merely make provision for whatever the number may be.

The budget proposes the appropriation of 50 million for construction of buildings—most of the remainder of our building reserves. When this sum is expended our postwar reserves will be practically exhausted, and we must then look to other sources for capital outlay. We will not have provided all the facilities hoped for when you originally set up the reserves. More growth than could be foreseen and increased building costs prevented this from being accomplished, but our medical, custodial, and educational facilities will be more nearly adequate to meet their expanding needs than they have been for many, many years. No one can seriously question the soundness of the program on which you and I cooperated to reserve a substantial part of our wartime income for this important purpose. It will pay rich dividends in human values.

The financial plan submitted to you in this budget strikes a balance between expenditure requirements and available resources. In my management of state affairs I have steadfastly refused to take any action which would involve the State in an expenditure program beyond its financial means. I have at all times insisted on a margin between our resources and our obligations. The budget for 1950-51 has been prepared in this pattern.

I call your attention, however, to the fact that the day of surpluses in State Government is no longer with us. Conditions call for economy in this and following years, because some of the spending formulae established by the Constitution and statutes accelerate expenditures faster than revenues may increase under existing laws in the future.

This budget is tightly balanced. Any appreciable amount of spending in excess of it will call for additional revenues, which of course means more taxes.

At the present time our State is in a satisfactory financial condition. Since war revenues brought us into balance in 1943, we have amortized all of our bonded indebtedness. And until the people passed the bond issue for distressed school districts last November, we were debt free. The critical needs of our highway system and our building requirements are being supplied through well ordered plans, and building reserves. We have set aside our so-called Rainy Day Fund of $75,000,000 to protect us against a recession and consequent drop in tax revenues. If the expenditures for the next fiscal year do not substantially exceed the proposed budget, we may with confidence look forward to starting our second century of statehood on a sound financial basis.

For a fuller discussion of these figures which I have quoted and the statements that have been made concerning the budget, I refer you to the printed message and to the analysis of the Department of Finance, both of which accompany and are attached to the budget itself.

Now a brief review of the items on the agenda of the special session.

There are 18 of them, but I am sure the number will give you little concern. Many of them will involve little more than regular procedure.

Items 17 and 18, providing for the consideration of validating acts and charter amendments, are included in most special sessions and are usually little more than routine.

Items 13 and 14 relate to fire insurance. One is to correct clerical errors in the law passed last year to modernize the standard form of policy for fire insurance. The other is to specifically authorize the form of contract which has been in effect for many years between the Department of Veterans Affairs and 200 fire insurance companies of the State, the validity of which contract has been clouded by an act of the Legislature in 1947. Neither of these subjects should be controversial.

Item 12 is included at the request of the Secretary of State and county clerks to clarify a section of the election code dealing with absentee voting in order to prevent the invalidation of ballots. It appears to be noncontroversial.

Item 11 was included at the request of several of our major cities for the purpose of making the Community Redevelopment Act more workable. The amendments although important are said to be merely of a technical nature.

Item 6 is intended to remedy a particular situation in Santa Clara County which I am told is not controversial, but which will if acted upon by you, equalize the apportionment of bonded indebtedness of school districts when district boundaries are changed by annexation.

Item 2 is for consideration of the enactment of the uniform support of dependents law. This law is designed for the purpose of making it more difficult for defaulting fathers to avoid responsibility for the support of their families. Under existing laws it is extremely difficult to enforce even the judgments of our own courts when the defendant leaves the State. This uniform law sets up a reciprocal arrangement between the states that have adopted it, to enforce their respective laws and judgments. Several states have already adopted it and I believe that California could with benefit to itself join that number.

Item 10 is submitted at the request of farm groups and the Department of Agriculture for the purpose of properly housing the department in Sacramento and enabling it to render a better service to the public. The proposal is that two million dollars of the unbudgeted reserve of the Agriculture Fund be authorized by statute for expenditure in the construction of a new building for the department, to be amortized in a period of 20 years through a rental charge. These charges will be less than present average rental costs. I believe you will find the Departments of Finance and Agriculture and the industry in agreement on the need and propriety of the proposal.

Item 7 is for the purpose of considering the growing problem of air pollution. I know that your interim committee of the Assembly which is studying the subject has not completed its work and that perhaps the Legislature is not prepared to act with finality. On the other hand there are some things that should be done. There have been catastrophes in other states and nations from community air pollution, and the growing problem in California makes it impossible for us to say that the same thing could not happen here.

In spite of this fact there are at present, so far as I have been able to ascertain, no comprehensive studies any where in the world on the effect smog has on the health of people. Certain studies of a statistical nature are being made by cities, and certain laboratory tests as to the effect known smog irritations have on plant and animal life. But no scientific study has been made to ascertain whether exposure to this smog over long periods of time affects the health of human beings in a fundamental way. Such a study should be made by our State, because millions of our citizens are affected by it. It calls for a coordinated program of field studies by our Department of Public Health and laboratory and clinical research by the universities. I recommend authorization for such a program to be completed at the earliest possible date. It probably will be essential for any definitive action you may later take on the subject. If as a result of the work of your committee any further action is desired by you at this session, I shall be happy to cooperate.

Item 16 refers to unfinished business of the last special session; the consideration of effective means for protecting the public against sex crimes. Last December you enacted certain statutes affecting the punishment of sex offenders, but no action was taken concerning the custody, treatment and rehabilitation of such offenders pending a further report of your Assembly interim committee on the subject. I trust you will be prepared to act on the subject at this session, and that you will make the most scientific use of the facilities of our institutions in the Departments of Corrections and Mental Hygiene. I am sure you will find overwhelming support for such a program among law enforcement officers, psychiatrists, and the general public.

Items 8 and 9 refer to public works. About eight years ago, the State undertook to survey its needs for public works. As a result of that project advance planning was undertaken on both the state and local levels. Blueprints were placed on the shelf for use as needed. As a result California was prepared to go forward on a building program of unprecedented proportions at the conclusion of the war. We have built more highways and constructed more buildings than any state in the Union since V-J Day. But this year will exhaust practically all our reserves for that purpose and the 10-year period for which the program was designed will have almost expired. Our State will have at least three million more people than it had when we started. New needs that could not then have been foreseen now exist. Our vision is not now clouded by war. We can and should therefore take a new view of our situation from this vantage point. We should try to project our thinking into the future another decade in order to be ready not only to adjust ourselves to normal development, but also to any emergency that may arise.

There is a great reservoir of necessary public works projects in the fields of water supply, sanitary facilities, urban redevelopment, water conservation, streets, roads and highways, as well as necessary public facilities of all kinds on all levels of government. They cannot all be built in one year or perhaps in a decade, but they can develop according to a pattern and the pattern should now be redesigned to meet our changed requirements.

I therefore suggest by the inclusion of this subject in the session, that you consider legislation providing for a survey and analysis of the public works programs of all state and local agencies to the end that we have coordinated advance planning of such programs. We should do for our other construction needs what we did in determining the critical needs of our highway system. Some of the local improvement acts involve methods of financing that are considered by city authorities as being outmoded and unduly costly. A review of these acts would be desirable.

The present legislation relating to the appropriation and apportionment of state funds for the support of public school assistance expires June 30, 1950. This makes mandatory the consideration and enactment of a new measure which will make it possible for us to provide an adequate appropriation and an equitable apportionment of funds to support the public school system. This subject is covered by Item 5 of the call.

Item No. 1 deals with social welfare and is a matter of major concern. This subject was carried over from the December special session at which time you provided for the transition from state to county administration in accordance with the wish of the people as expressed at the election last November. I have made this item sufficiently broad for the consideration of every phase of social welfare as it applies to children, the aged and the needy, in accordance with my statement last December.

There are matters of procedure and matters of substantive importance to be considered such as relatives' responsibility for aged parents and child care centers, both of which I trust you will re-evaluate and revise in such manner as will coincide with human needs and the financial ability of our State Government.

Item 15 refers to the subject of gambling with particular reference to anti-slot machine legislation. At the last general session of the Legislature strong anti-slot machine bills were introduced in both houses. Each house passed its own bill and thereafter killed the bill of the other, with the result that no legislation of this character was enacted. Almost immediately there was an upsurge of slot machine activity in many parts of the State. There is no doubt that this is one of the main activities of organized criminals and one of the main reasons for the disgraceful gang warfare which is becoming more prevalent and undermining public confidence in the administration of justice.

It is the desire of an overwhelming majority of law enforcement officers that the mere possession of slot machines be made illegal, in order that they may effectively perform their duties.

We have no right to expect efficient law enforcement from them if we deliberately leave the law in an ambiguous condition and difficult of enforcement. I urge you in the interest of honest law enforcement and the welfare of the public to make mere possession of slot machines by anyone, any place, a violation of the law.

I will close this message with another recommendation concerning illegal lobbying.

The bill passed by the Legislature at the special session in December was satisfactory as far as it went, but it did not cover the subject matter as it should be covered if we are to expect adequate enforcement. The lobbyist is required to report his income and expenditures, but there is no clear cut requirement that his principal is required to do so. We do not have a thoroughly workable act in the absence of such a provision and I urge you to consider the enactment of such a requirement.

I also urge you to again consider a provision prohibiting state officers and employees, whether they be legislative or executive, from accepting employment which is inconsistent with their public trust. No man can serve two masters, and no state officer can, in conscience, accept employment which can interfere with the honest performance of his public duty.

I know you will believe me when I say I have no desire to harass or interfere with any public officer in the earning of an honest livelihood. All I ask is that the rules be fair to the public as well as to ourselves.

I also repeat what I have said on other occasions that I have no desire to limit the right of citizens to petition their government. It is an inherent right of citizenship. It is a wholesome influence to have people interested to that extent in the management of their governmental affairs. All we ask is to have reasonable regulations for those who spend money to affect legislation or other official action.

You took no action on these phases of the problem at the December special session, choosing rather to appoint an interim committee to study the matter. I have offered my cooperation to the committee and I now renew that offer to you in the hope that we can enact a reasonable and workable law which will eliminate the evils of lobbying and restore the occupation of legislative representative to a respected and useful status.

In this and all other matters within the purview of the budget and the special session, I pledge you not only my cooperation, but my best wishes for success.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

BUDGET MESSAGE

By GOVERNOR EARL WARREN

1950-1951 Budget

To the Senate and Assembly of the State Legislature of California:

In fulfillment of a duty prescribed by the Constitution, I submit herewith the Budget for the State of California for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1951. I am happy to recommend to you a balanced budget requiring no additional taxes—a budget which meets the needs of a growing state and yet calls for a net reduction in expenditures. My estimate of total expenditures required for the 1950-51 Fiscal Year is $971,615,944, which is $195,146,474 less than the adjusted estimate of $1,166,762,418 for the current 1949-50 Fiscal Year.[1]

For a state like ours a budget total for a single year, however important as a summary statement, has limited meaning without an explanation of what the budget contains and how it relates to past and future years. Our State Government serves every phase of our social and economic life; to present its activities and fiscal requirements in a comprehensive manner requires quite a large book. I shall attempt to cover the highlights here.

There are a number of important factors contributing to a reduced and balanced budget. First are the basic policies which have guided the preparation of the program for the operations of the State Government itself, where most of the costs are subject to executive and legislative control.

State department heads have complied wholeheartedly with my instructions that budget requests be kept to the absolute minimum consistent with effective performance of essential services. Our State Government has become more efficient. More service is being obtained per dollar of expenditure; we are keeping better trained personnel in the state service with a lessening of turnover; departments are able to perform more work without a corresponding increase in staff. There has been a moderate drop in prices and we anticipate a further drop during the budget year. We are constantly adopting improved methods which cut costs and increase service. I have not, however, adopted a short-sighted brand of economy which neglects such things as education, mental hygiene, public health, corrections, and law enforcement. You will find moderate increases recommended for these functions.

Other state operations, in general, are being held to the 1949-50 level. I have avoided proposing new or expanded services in this budget which have not already been considered and approved by the Legislature. This is in line with the desire of your interim budget committee to make decisions on important fiscal policies at the general legislative session and to provide in the budget session for the continuation of approved policies for the ensuing fiscal year.

Several developments since I last submitted a budget have caused substantial changes in the outlays for assistance to local government. Last fall the voters approved the return of the aged and blind security programs to county operation and participation. Sharing by the counties in the cost of administration and direct aid will reduce the State Government's expenditure for social welfare during next year by the sum of $25,981,000. We must remember, however, that security payments to the aged and blind are being continued on a much liberalized scale. The total payments to the aged and blind from state, federal and county funds estimated for 1950-51 will be more than [1] There is a technical question as to the most accurate figure to use in stating the budget total. You will observe that the Director of Finance and his staff urge that a more technically correct statement of total expenditures for the 1950-51 Fiscal Year would be not $971,615,944 but $855,033,414, and for the current, 1949-50, year not $1,166,762,418 but $1,035,473,524. The differences are the amounts of revenues which the State collects for the counties and cities and turns over to them to spend. These revenues, referred to as "shared revenues," are composed of the liquor license fees, the "in lieu" automobile license fees and the counties' and cities' shares of the gasoline tax and motor vehicle registration fees. It does seem illogical to include such items as state expenditures but I have continued to do so for the sake of a better comparison with prior budgets and so as to be very sure that I am not making a misleading statement of the amount of budget reduction.

$240,000,000. In the following figures we can compare this total with the amount spent in previous years and see more clearly how great the increase has been.

	State funds	Federal funds	County funds	Total
1947-48 ____	$62,513,319	$55,343,112	$11,184,568	$129,040,999
1948-49 ____	93,033,777	72,118,814	5,906,583	171,059,174
1950-51 ____	119,775,550	100,135,400	20,693,550	240,604,500

During the last three budget periods, the State has provided funds for school building construction in distressed districts out of its current resources. In the future this assistance will come from the $250,000,000 bond issue authorized for this purpose at the special election last November. Under proper accounting practice, the expenditure of funds derived from sale of these bonds is omitted from the 1950-51 Budget, but amounts required for interest and repayment of the debt are included as a current cost. Payments for school building aid which amount to $25,585,000 in the current year are not repeated in the 1950-51 program, but provision is made for $1,125,000 interest on school building bonds—a reduction of $24,460,000.

As a further means of assisting counties and cities to meet their financial problems, the dates of apportioning motor vehicle and liquor license fees were advanced during the current year. As a result, apportionments of shared revenue are inflated by $22,800,000 in 1949-50. Although this disbursement is not a genuine cost of State Government, it affects the budget total and must be considered in making comparisons of expenditures this year and next.

Capital outlay expenditures are extraordinarily high for the current, 1949-50, year because it is during this year that we are getting our postwar construction projects fully under way. Expenditures for 1950-51, while still somewhat above normal, show a very considerable reduction.

We Californians are aware of our great growth during the last 10 years. Generally we see but a single aspect of it at any one time. In the State's annual budget we must cope with all of the many problems of a greatly increased population.

Following are a few budget facts which typify this unending growth and development, and the continuing demand for the services of government.

1. The 100,000 increase in school attendance this year adds nearly $11,000,000 to next year's state budget.
2. Three new state colleges and increased enrollment at the older colleges and special schools resulted in 4,066 added students this year with a further increase of 1,732 in prospect for the new budget year. The added cost this year is $2,876,000 and the further additional expense in 1950-51 is $1,827,000.
3. We will have 106,000 needy children on our assistance rolls next year, compared with 82,000 this year. The added state cost of this humanitarian work is $6,700,000.
4. There are 37,513 patients in our state hospitals and homes this year. This average number will increase by 1,942 next year. In terms of new hospital capacity this adds $11,600,000 to our construction needs and $1,800,000 annually for care and treatment.
5. There are 4,500,000 motor vehicles on our highways compared with 3,026,000 at the end of the war. This 50 percent increase is not a mere statistic. It means more traffic congestion, more accidents, more four- and six-lane roads, costly freeways and controls, more work for our Highway Patrol.
6. The growth of 3,750,000 in our population since 1940 and our attack upon health problems have changed our concept of state responsibilities in the field of public health. Ten years ago, state expenditures for this purpose were $1,400,000 per year. The total required for 1950-51 is $18,400,000.

Budget Highlights

In terms of the average expenditure dollar, 31.5 cents will be spent for education and educational facilities; 20.5 cents is budgeted for highways, roads, streets, and the regulation of motor vehicles; 17 cents will be expended for social welfare; 9 cents will go for mental hospitals, prisons, and correctional facilities; 6 cents for the conservation and development of agriculture, water, and other natural resources; 2 cents for public health; and 14 cents will be used to provide for the scores of other governmental activities.

Almost two-thirds (63.5 percent) of the budget total represents expenditures fixed by the Constitution or existing statutes. Included in this group of costs are payments for the support of public schools; assistance to the needy aged, blind, and children; expenditures for highways; apportionments of revenues shared with local governments; and contributions to the employees', judges' and legislators' retirement funds.

Approximately 8.3 percent of the expenditure total represents controllable items for capital outlay. While these payments are controllable in the sense that they are not fixed by law, the overcrowded conditions of our hospitals and other institutions make them mandatory as a matter of moral responsibility.

The remaining 28.2 percent of the budget are the "controllable" costs of current operations and local assistance. As to this part of the budget, I have the responsibility for recommending each year the proper amount to spend for these activities. Most of these costs, however, are controllable in only a limited degree. In any one year, we can exercise little control over the number of patients in our hospitals, the number of inmates in our correctional institutions, or the number of students at the university or in our colleges. We make provision for whatever the number may be.

In presenting this budget to you, I am again making a distinction between the cost of operating State Government, expenditures for capital outlay, and payments of assistance to local governments. More than half the total budget (55.6 percent) will go to local governments for ultimate expenditure. Almost 17.4 percent represents investment in buildings, equipment, and highways. The remaining 27 percent represents the cost of running what most of us think of as State Government—the Legislature, courts, administrative offices, and the various departments. Amounts in each class of cost are:

Capital outlay	168,760,537
Local assistance	540,647,950
Total	$971,615,944

State Operations

As a result of improved methods, greater efficiency, and more accurate planning, the operating budgets of many of our state agencies for the coming year show a decrease from the authorized totals for the current period. In others, an expanding volume of work will be undertaken with no more than a nominal change in expenditure requirements. Where increases are recommended, they will be found to be the inescapable product of our growth.

Expenditures for state operations are $87,677,933 less than during the current year. Again gross figures must be explained. The transfer of the aged and blind assistance programs back to county administration, with counties again participating in the cost of these aids, makes this comparison misleading. In total, expenditure requirements for other state activities are $12,355,088 greater than during the current year, with virtually the entire change reflected in the fields of education, mental hygiene, corrections, and conservation of natural resources. Continued population growth is an element in the increase in each of these, but more important is the fact that next year we will begin full operation of several of the new facilities and additions started in earlier years to meet the needs of our greater population. Among these are new state colleges, correctional facilities, and enlarged capacities at the principal hospitals.

The principal changes in the State's expenditure program and the factors which cause these changes are summarized in the following paragraphs:

Education—Recommended $55,709,139; increase $5,595,139

A shifting enrollment toward upper classes and the graduate field at the University of California, increased attendance at state colleges, a decrease in payments from the Federal Government under the program of veterans' education, and additional work in vocational rehabilitation account for the increase in direct state expenditures for education.

Mental Hygiene—Recommended $37,002,406; increase $3,992,154

The largest percentage increase in all state operations is in the recommended expenditures for mental hygiene. Sound economy, in human lives as well as in money, demands speedier recovery for a larger number of our mental patients. To this end research will be intensified, treatment improved, and new methods inaugurated. Provision is made for more doctors and nurses, but only a portion of the annual step originally planned for next year toward the ultimate staff-patient ratio is proposed in this budget.

Corrections—Recommended $15,133,762; increase $705,219

I have previously stressed the need in our correctional system for an adequate medical center for the care and treatment of inmates who are suffering from mental and chronic illness. This year we plan, with your approval, to open a temporary medical facility on Terminal Island to be operated until the Vacaville institution is completed. Operation of this center, coupled with somewhat greater work by the Youth Authority, accounts for the added cost in this segment of our expenditure program.

Again let me say that the more we can accomplish in rehabilitating those convicted of law violations, the greater will be our real economies.

Natural Resources — Recommended $18,163,260; increase $547,265

During recent years the State has conducted a program of forest protection under direction of the Division of Forestry in which inmates of the Department of Corrections are employed. This joint enterprise has accomplished a great deal both in the conservation of natural resources and in the reclamation of youthful and adult law violators. Additional forestry camps designed to employ 761 inmates at a cost of $463,697 are recommended in this budget.

Highway Patrol — Recommended $10,312,373; increase $649,052

Provision is made for 87 new positions in the enforcement unit in order to afford additional hours of radio coverage, to provide better supervision and to permit uniformed personnel to devote more time to patrol work. Patrol cars will operate an average of 3,000 miles per month during the next year, in comparison with 2,700 under the current plan of operation.

I am still strongly of the opinion that we must expand our Highway Patrol force, if we are to reduce traffic violations and accidents. You did not approve a recommendation for 200 additional patrolmen in the current year's budget. In view of your budget committee's opposition to a repetition at this budget session of items previously disallowed, I have not repeated the request for this expansion. However, I am quite willing to approve it, if the Legislature has meanwhile changed its views.

Water Pollution — Recommended $860,117; increase $683,776

Pursuant to legislation adopted last year provision is made to expand the attack upon the problems of water pollution. The dangers and economic losses from this cause have been aggravated by population growth and industrial development. The situation demands the immediate attention of local, regional, and state authorities. The 1949 law establishing the state and regional water pollution boards became effective October 1, 1949. These new boards are still in the process of organizing their work and making specific plans for their operations. The Division of Water Resources has responsibility for technical engineering work relating to water pollution, particularly in respect to underground waters. The Department of Public Health has responsibility for dealing with the closely related problem of water contamination. So that there may be sound integration of the work of the three agencies as the details of the coordinated plan develop, provision is made for additional engineering services in lump sum amounts, subject to budgetary control so as to avoid overlapping or duplication.

Capital Outlay

At the last session of this Legislature you appropriated $65,681,896 from the Postwar Employment Reserve for construction projects. This action reduced the unappropriated balance in that fund to $50,726,534. I now recommend that $49,565,534 of this sum be appropriated for the top-priority projects remaining in the approved building program. The principal items are:

Corrections — $13,415,812

Construction of the new medical facility at Vacaville; completion of the vocational institution at Tracy; expansion of schools and completion of the reception centers and clinics operated by the Youth Authority, and construction at other institutions.

Education — $6,549,090

Necessary buildings at the new campus at San Francisco State College; additional buildings at San Jose and Fresno State Colleges, and improvements on the campuses at Chico, Humboldt, Sacramento, San Diego, the two colleges in Los Angeles County, and the University campus in Berkeley.

Mental Hygiene — $20,626,861

Construction of patient facilities where the need is most acute, with particularly large additions at the Norwalk, Pacific Colony, Camarillo, and Sonoma institutions, and improvements to physical plant at other state hospitals.

Agricultural Fairs and Exhibits — $4,950,000

Preparation of site and construction of buildings at the new location of the California State Fair; completion of an additional wing to existing building of the Sixth District Agricultural Association.

National Guard — $1,454,500

Construction and equipment of seven additional armories, a unit headquarters office, and preparation of plans and supervision of buildings to be constructed from federal funds.

Veterans' Affairs $882,970

Construction of additional barracks, recreation center, and improvements to the physical plant at the Veterans' Home in Yountville.

Other Projects $1,686,301

Alterations to the State Capitol; replacement and improvements at border quarantine stations; construction of water supply and sewage disposal systems at state parks, and other projects under direction of the Department of Natural Resources.

Final authorization of these projects and appropriation of the necessary funds is essential at this time in order to allow for preparation of detailed plans and the orderly scheduling of work within the unified construction program. In addition to these new appropriations, expenditures for capital outlays during 1950-1951 will include $31,349,765 for building construction out of prior year appropriations and special funds, $84,548,257 for the construction or reconstruction of highways, and $3,296,981 from the General Fund for minor construction primarily at state institutions, colleges, and correctional facilities.

This program will exhaust the Postwar Employment Reserve except for funds to provide for regional state office buildings, dormitories at the University and state colleges, and a new residence for the Governor. These projects have not developed to the point where construction can be undertaken during 1950-51, and therefore can be deferred for at least another year. Otherwise the unified postwar building program will have been completed with the accomplishment of the items budgeted. You will remember that we set as our goal in this program the elimination of prewar and wartime deficiencies in building construction at our state institutions. I cannot say that we will have met this goal by a full one hundred percent or that we reserved enough money to meet the increase in population or the full increase in building costs, but certainly our medical, custodial and educational institutions will be more nearly adequate to meet their expanding needs than they have been for many, many years when the projects now under construction and budgeted are completed. No one can seriously question the soundness of the program on which you and I cooperated to reserve a substantial part of our wartime income and put it to this good use when materials and manpower became available. Let me mention some of the more important accomplishments of this building program. We will have added 12,187 to the capacity of our state hospitals, not counting the 6,000 beds acquired from the Federal Government at DeWitt and Hammond hospitals and will have replaced hazardous and substandard facilities with a bed capacity of 3,634. Five new prisons to house 4,500 adult offenders will have been provided in addition to three correctional institutions with a capacity of 740 for youthful offenders. Badly needed classrooms and other facilities will have been built on the several campuses of the University and at the state colleges. A start will have been made in building three new state colleges and two additional campuses of the University. The State Capitol Annex and other buildings providing 650,000 square feet of office space will save many thousands of dollars in rent and relieve serious overcrowding. The National Guard will have 62 new armories to provide for its units throughout the State.

The highway construction program reached its peak during the 1948-49 Fiscal Year with an expenditure of almost one hundred four millions of dollars. During 1949-50 we are still spending some funds accumulated in the prior year and construction expenditures will total more than ninety-eight millions of dollars. The amount budgeted for 1950-51, about eighty-four and a half millions of dollars, is on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Local Assistance

The budget for assistance to local units of government is both the largest and the most rapidly growing segment of the State's expenditure program. At the same time it is the section least subject to executive control. During the last 10 years, payments to counties, districts, and cities have grown almost fourfold—from a total of $142,000,000 in 1940-41 to $540,000,000 projected for the coming year. The changes in principal types of support are summarized in the following table. Amounts are in millions of dollars.

Education	$79.4	$230.3	$150.9
Public Health	0.7	13.5	12.8
Social Welfare	22.6	153.4	130.8
Public Works	—	22.9	22.9
Other Subventions	2.4	4.0	1.6
Shared Revenues	37.3	116.6	79.3
Total	$142.4	$540.6	$398.2

Almost nine-tenths of these expenditures is fixed either by provisions of the State Constitution or by existing law. The voters have, by direct action in recent years, added more than $325,000,000 of this total. The remaining one-tenth is also fixed, as a practical matter, since the Governor can exercise no control over state contributions to the teachers' retirement funds, or subsidies for tuberculosis sanatoria, even though these are nominally controllable costs. The same is true of the appropriation for school textbooks, aid to local health departments, and payments for crippled children. In practice, requirements for local assistance are essentially fixed costs, to be computed upon the basis of formulas which cannot be changed by the budget maker.

Normal expenditures for support of public schools will be $18,000,000 greater next year as a result of growing enrollments and increased contributions for teachers' retirement. You will recall that the law was changed at the last session of the Legislature liberalizing the retirement program but deferring the effective date of these changes until July 1, 1950. Replacement of four textbook series which, by law, expire next year will add to the expenditure requirements for free textbooks.

The underlying upward trend in school costs is obscured in this budget by the termination of the subsidies for school construction and support of child care centers. In the future, funds for school buildings in distressed districts will be provided in the form of long-term loans from the proceeds of the bond issue authorized last November. Chapter 780, Statutes of 1949, discontinued state support of child care centers effective June 30, 1950. The elimination of these two nonrecurring items will produce a net decrease of $13,700,000 in the total requirements for public schools next year.

Public Health and Social Welfare

Annual appropriations of $2,000,000 have been provided for local hospital construction in each of the last three budgets. Under this jointly financed, federal-state-and-local program, 1,035 additional bed capacity will be provided. We are, however, far from the goal of adequate hospital facilities reasonably accessible to all persons in this State. Additional federal funds are available for further progress toward this objective, and I am, therefore, recommending an appropriation of $4,000,000 for this purpose.

I have already mentioned the large expansion in the program of security for the aged and blind and of aid to needy children. These welfare costs can be expected to increase in the immediate years ahead. I favor a liberalization of the schedule under which responsible sons and daughters are required to contribute to their aged parents. This schedule was last amended in 1943; increased costs of living and other changes in our economy since then make this schedule out of date and its continued use results in hardships to those in lower income brackets. I suggest that you review this entire situation.

A Balanced Program

The financial plan submitted to you in this Budget strikes a balance between expenditure requirements and available resources. In my management of state affairs, I have steadfastly refused to take any action which would involve the State in an expenditure program beyond its financial means. I have at all times insisted on a margin between our resources and our obligations. The Budget for 1950-51 has been prepared in this pattern.

Following the last legislative session, it was estimated the General Fund surplus at the close of this year would be approximately $5,000,000. State financial operations are never static. Changes occur both in the inflow of revenues and the outgo of expenditures. The business readjustment which occurred last year reduced the volume of General Fund revenue by a moderate degree. Expenditures, however, have been below the amounts estimated by an even greater degree. In many instances it has been possible to operate units with less than the authorized personnel. Salary and wage payments in the current year will be $2,400,000 less than the amount authorized in the Budget under which we are operating, and there will be a saving of $5,800,000 in other expenses. Fixed requirements for schools and aid to needy children have been greater than estimated, but there have been reductions in other items. As a result of these and other changes, the General Fund surplus on June 30th this year is estimated to be $14,729,492.

The recent improvement in business sentiment concerning the level of operations during the coming months justifies a reasonably optimistic view of revenues to be received by the State. Receipts to the General Fund are estimated to reach $568,722,374, and this sum, together with the accumulated surplus on June 30, 1950, will provide total resources of $583,451,866. This will finance all expenditure proposals and leave a $2,251,586 surplus at the close of the new year, June 30, 1951. Although this is not a wide margin of safety, it will be adequate in view of the additional protection provided by our $75,000,000 Revenue Deficiency Reserve.

In considering the State's financial operations we must frankly recognize three basic facts:

First, during recent years we have been reducing our General Fund revenue base, largely as a means of assisting local governments. Liquor license fees, which formerly were divided between the State and the local units, are now returned 100 percent to cities and counties. Except for administrative expense and highway bond charges, motor vehicle "in lieu" fees are now entirely apportioned to cities and counties. The State formerly had a one-fifth interest in this apportionment. Other sums have been diverted to highway activities. Almost $22,000,000 which would have been General Fund revenue under the laws of a few years ago will be devoted to other purposes next year. There have been no adjustments to offset this revenue reduction.

Second, fixed expenditure requirements and continuing appropriations from the State General Fund have been increasing more rapidly than revenues. On the present basis of school support, state contributions for education will continue to increase as the wave of children born since the war sweeps through the school system. Collateral increases will occur in expenditures for textbooks, teachers' retirement, and the repayment of school building bonds. The same factors will influence requirements for aid to needy children. These five items account for an increase of $25,900,000 in next year's budget. The change will not be materially less in the following year, or the next, or the next.

Third, it follows that any substantial addition to General Fund expenditures must be accompanied by a corresponding amount of additional General Fund revenues. We must not assume spending obligations beyond our available resources. If we continue to follow this sound governmental principle, I am confident we can solve any financial problems which may arise. I am equally certain that any departure from this principle will result in future difficulty.

I have repeatedly stated my opposition to any diversion of our revenue deficiency reserve to meet current operating costs. This fund was created to meet a sudden decline in revenues. It is our only cushion between uncertain revenues and relatively fixed expenditures. It is, in effect, the State's savings account. Like a family's savings account, it is earning a modest interest and is the fund to tide us over in an emergency. The $75,000,000 is not too large. It is less than 15 percent of our annual General Fund income. We cannot with prudence dissipate this fund now in increased spending when we may need it desperately some time in the future to help to pay for bare necessities.

Ten-Year Comparison

Under the budget I am presenting for State Government in the coming fiscal year, expenditures show a 10-year increase of $698,000,000. Many of the reasons for this growth are readily apparent to all of us; others, not as apparent, are nonetheless real.

In the first place, the State uses the same 60-cent dollar that has caused such an increase in our individual family budgets. There is no magic by which the State can escape price increases any more than other consumers. We are paying more for the food and clothing furnished to those in hospitals and other institutions. Equipment prices are higher, and there have been increases in traveling expenses, the cost of utility services, printing, and other operating items. The average state salary today is $280 per month, compared with $150 ten years ago, an increase of more than 85 percent. If today's dollar had its 1941 value, the budget total would be less than $600,000,000, and the increase since 1940-41 would be $320,000,000.

The State next year will spend $168,000,000 on capital outlay alone, in an effort to catch up with the building deficiencies of the prewar and war years. The corresponding total 10 years ago was $20,000,000.

Excluding amounts for building construction, the sum of $286,000,000 will be expended for education, compared with $92,750,000 a decade earlier. This one function accounts for $193,000,000, or more than one-fourth of the total expenditure increase. School enrollments have increased from approximately 1,100,000 just before the war to 1,700,000 this year. By vote of the people, state support for schools has been increased from $60 per unit of attendance in elementary grades and $90 for high schools and junior colleges to $120 for each unit of attendance in all grades, including kindergartens, which prior to 1947 were supported entirely from local district taxes. After 30 years of inadequate financing, the teachers' retirement program was placed on a sound basis in 1944. This revision, together with subsequent changes to a more realistic retirement allowance, raised state expenditures for this purpose from $526,000 in 1940-41 to $16,650,000 projected for next year. Enrollments at the University, state colleges, and special schools are 71 percent larger than 10 years ago, and here, too, the increase in numbers has been multiplied by higher cost of providing educational opportunities.

State expenditures for social welfare in 1940-41 amounted to $23,246,000. Next year the total will be $155,030,118. A part of this increase is a result of population growth. A part of it is due to the liberalized assistance payments, which for aged and blind has been established by the voters themselves. A part of the change grew out of the fact that state funds next year will be used to pay a share of the cost formerly carried by counties. Compared with 1940-41, assistance will be provided for almost twice as many needy aged, blind, and children, and the average payment from state funds will be more than three times the monthly grant of 10 years ago.

We will have 12,000 more patients in our state mental hospitals during 1950-51 than were there 10 years earlier, and expenditures for mental hygiene will be $28,000,000 greater. Salaries and hours of work for our doctors and institution attendants have been greatly improved. A parallel situation exists in the field of corrections, where new emphasis is placed on rehabilitation of adult offenders and the improved environment for the younger delinquents.

This pattern of growth and development, accompanied by a trend from local responsibility to state support, runs through almost all the varied activities of State Government. It can be seen in the programs of public health, industrial welfare, law enforcement, and the regulation of industry. It determines expenditure requirements for the conservation of natural resources, including our vital water supply. It is the factor which distinguishes today's street and highway problems from those of prewar years. And so great is the pressure of this growth in all fields of activity that we have no choice. We cannot postpone educating our children. We cannot turn away hospital patients or disregard health problems. We must discharge our responsibilities as they arise. We must do all these things and still keep our budget balanced.

The 10 years ahead, with continued growth and development, will bring us still greater financial problems. They will be solved only if we cooperate in long term planning. We must have a better coordination of state, county, city and district financing. We must have well developed plans for public works. We must use our talents to achieve greater efficiency at all levels of government. If we are to maintain a healthy economy we must keep our public finances in sound condition.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

March, 1950

President of the Senate
California State Legislature
Sacramento, California

DEAR SIR: Pursuant to Senate Resolution No. 162, read and adopted by the Senate on July 2, 1949, at the 1949 Regular Session of the Legislature, the Senate Interim Committee on Social Welfare herewith submits a preliminary report.

This report has been specifically designed to be brief in nature and restricted in scope. We have chosen to discuss at this time only three limited topics in the field of social welfare legislation, which, in our opinion, are of such timely nature and importance that they could not properly be deferred until the filing of the committee's final report to the 1951 Regular Session.

The entire field of social welfare in California has been in a state of confusion during the past two years. The committee recognizes that this unstable condition has, and will undoubtedly continue to give rise to many proposals designed to correct the situation. We feel, however, that great harm and additional confusion may result from legislation, which, although well meant, may be ill-advised and hastily considered.

We therefore submit to the Legislature that it is the intent of this committee to conduct additional research into all phases of social welfare legislation, including, but not limited to, the administration of the Department of Social Welfare, both prior to and during the operation of Article XXV of the Constitution. It is also our intention to more thoroughly examine the subjects contained in this report, as well as the subjects of Age Requirements, Residence Requirements, Amount of Benefit Payments, Lien Provisions and Non-Profit Corporations.

The new administration in the State Department of Social Welfare has been in existence only a few days. The committee feels that many of the problems that are currently present in the field of social welfare are ones which can be resolved by a wise and capable administrator. In many cases we feel that it would be unwise to legislate until such time as the administrator has demonstraaed either an inability or unwillingness to correct these problems.

It is the hope of this committee that the Legislature, after due consideration of these factors, will proceed with only the most urgent matters at this time, and that whenever possible, will defer action until the 1951 Regular Session of the Legislature.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED WEYBRET, Chairman
CLYDE A. WATSON, Vice Chairman
CHARLES BROWN
H. E. DILLINGER
W. P. RICH

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

SENATE CHAMBER, STATE CAPITOL
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, February 9, 1950

Hon. Goodwin J. Knight, President of the Senate
Senate Chamber, State Capitol
Sacramento, California

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Senate Interim Committee on Governmental Reorganization was established pursuant to and functions under authority of Senate Resolution No. 142 introduced June 21, 1949, and adopted July 2, 1949. The following members were appointed to serve on the committee:

HUGH P. DONNELLY, Chairman	22d District
THOMAS F. KEATING	13th District
GERALD J. O'GARA	14th District
W. P. RICH	10th District
JACK B. TENNEY	38th District

After considerable thought and study, the present committee decided to direct its attention to a survey of as many state functions as possible. This type of analysis will discover those placed where improvements in administrative structure or procedure would bring greater economy or efficiency, and will be more valuable than a limited study of one operation.

Because of the nature of such a broad analysis, the committee does and will continue to consider itself primarily a fact-finding body, and detailed reorganization plans will be developed after facts show a need for such programs. As funds are made available, specialists in various fields can be employed to suggest improved systems and methods where need for correction is found. For example, changes in a technical engineering operation would require advice from professional engineers, or improvements in accounting systems would necessitate consultation with accountants. Inevitably, fact-finding studies will suggest many improvements which can be effected without the advice of special consultants; and whenever possible, the committee's staff will develop recommendations of this nature.

It is not this committee's intention to develop reorganization plans just for the sake of reorganization. It must be shown that more than symmetrical organization charts are at stake when administrative structures are to be changed. Alterations must be justified on the basis of improved service or economy.

The present committee has determined that it should not attempt to evaluate the policy of particular government services; it is not within the province of a governmental reorganization committee to pass judgment upon type or variety of services which the Legislature has established. In the words of former President Hoover, describing the function of the Commission on the Organization of the Executive Branch of Government:

> "Our job is to make every government activity that now exists work efficiently. I take it that major functions of the government are determinable as needed by the Congress. It is not our function to say whether it should exist or not, but it is our function to see if we cannot make it work better."

In October, 1949, the committee employed an executive secretary to direct research and prepare committee reports. It has been the secretary's responsibility to discover and propose fields for the committee's inquiry, and to prepare materials for study in committee meetings.

Two series of public hearings have been held, one dealing with tax administration and one dealing with property management and publication distribution. At these meetings interested departments submitted reports and answered inquiries concerning their current operations in these three fields.

Fact-finding requires a considerable amount of investigation and research, and in this investigation administrative departments have been most helpful in supplying data and information. Because of a limited budget, it is impossible for the committee's present staff to compile all facts required for the committee's analysis; and it is gratifying that departments have been so cooperative in providing data about their operations. On every occasion departments have shown their desire to help improve efficiency and economy of State Government.

This progress report is designed as a first part of the committee's final report, and is divided into several sections dealing with various subjects which have come under the committee's study. Only those subjects on which some study has been made are included; and there is no attempt at this point to present final recommendations. Final reports will include more detail on these subjects, and will embrace other subjects not included here.

The report is designed as a factual presentation of present conditions without organizational recommendations, but it is believed that in many cases the facts themselves will suggest need for improvement. The purpose of present studies is to find those functions in which improvements are needed; detailed reorganization plans will follow as time and conditions permit.

The importance and value of administrative organization studies in good management has long been recognized. Periodic and continual appraisal is essential to all organizations and institutions—private or public.

Democratic government is designed to carry out the wishes of the people, and to effect this purpose government structure must be responsive to the will of the electorate. Studies of administrative organization in government are primarily concerned with this objective. To attain this goal, government must be efficient and economical, and citizens must receive fair value for money paid. It must be possible to locate accountability and fix responsibility; this can be done only by proper delegation of authority.

It is the responsibility of a reorganization study, then, to find those means whereby government can be made more efficient, can be run more economically, and can be made accountable to the people.

California's government structure has been reappraised on many occasions, and several general reorganizations have been effected since 1900. In Appendix I will be found a statement of earlier California reorganizations and plans for reorganization based on a report prepared for the committee by the Bureau of Public Administration at the University of California.

Appendix II contains a list of former California legislative committees on governmental reorganization and on governmental efficiency and economy.

The phenomenal growth of government functions in recent years has brought a recognition of the need for continuing administrative reorganization. At the present time some 22 other states and territories are employing committees and commissions to analyze their government structures. Some of these are permanent advisory groups to the legislature or governor and some are temporary and interim in nature. Appendix III enumerates and describes these reorganization programs of other states.

Respectfully submitted,

HUGH P. DONNELLY, Chairman

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

Preliminary and Partial Report of the Wildlife Conservation Committee to the Senate of the State of California

Your Committee on Wildlife Conservation begs leave to submit a preliminary report of its activities in carrying out the provisions of the Wildlife Conservation Act.

The 1947 Legislature diverted $9,000,000 due the State from horse racing operations, from the General Fund to the Wildlife Restoration Fund, and at that session adopted an act known as the Wildlife Conservation Act of 1947, creating a special board consisting of the President of the Fish and Game Commission, the executive officer or some other employee of the commission designated by it, and the Director of Finance, together with three Members of the Senate, appointed by the Committee on Rules thereof, and three Members of the Assembly, appointed by the Speaker thereof, to administer the fund and develop a program of conservation and recreation essential to the welfare of the State.

The problems confronting your committee and the board were intricate and tremendous in proportion, in that they extended to all parts of the State and involved all phases of wild life and recreation. Sportsmen's organizations throughout the State, sports writers of the various papers and many others interested in developing a well-rounded program voluntarily assisted the board in formulating a policy and developing a program and have been consistently faithful in aiding in its execution.

Under the proposed program, California was embarking upon an entirely new venture. Such a comprehensive program of wild life conservation and recreation had never before been attempted in this or any other state. We had no pattern to follow and no landmarks to guide us, and for that reason it was generally conceded that the success of the program depended upon the acquisition of competent and capable advisors on the various problems involved, wheresoever they could be found.

After much investigation, it was finally decided that of the available talent, Mr. Seth Gordon, the Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Game Commission was, because of his extensive experience and knowledge of wild life, best suited to planning and carrying into execution California's program. After some considerable urging, Mr. Gordon consented to undertake the task and become our master advisor and architect.

Upon embarking on his duties, he deemed it necessary to call to his assistance the leading and most competent experts conversant with the various questions involved in this intricate program. With the aid of these experts he brought to the Wildlife Conservation Board a program which we believe is the best and most comprehensive for the purposes sought to accomplish.

The report which we are now submitting, almost, but not quite, completes the work of planning and the allocation of funds necessary to carry it into execution. The acquisition of the lands, the construction of the projects, the operation of the plants after constructed are not within the province of the board. These things must be accomplished by other departments of government.

Actual construction, operation, management and maintenance of the projects authorized by the board must be done by the Fish and Game Commission. Unless this agency, however, carries out the program as authorized and recommended by the Wildlife Restoration Board, the work of that board will be for naught.

Not because of lack of confidence in the Fish and Game Commission, but rather because of the abided faith in our consultant, Mr. Seth Gordon, it is our purpose to recommend that he be continued as the general supervisor of the work of acquisition and construction until the program is carried into completion, believing as we do that his services in this respect are essential to the successful completion of our work, and that he will be invaluable to the Fish and Game Commission as well as to the entire State of California.

It is with considerable pleasure that we now present for your information and consideration this program as approved to date, and we ask that it be printed in the Appendix to the Journal, and that an adequate number of copies be printed in pamphlet form for use and for distribution among those interested in the furtherance thereof.

Respectfully,

RALPH E. SWING, Chairman
GEORGE J. HATFIELD
BEN HULSE

Letter of Transmittal ordered printed in the Journal, and the preliminary and partial report ordered printed in the Appendix to the Journal.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Senator Swing asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the Preliminary and Partial Report of the Wildlife Conservation Committee set in type and held in abeyance until the actual number of copies is determined.

Letter of Transmittal

THE RECLAMATION BOARD, STATE OF CALIFORNIA
SACRAMENTO 14, CALIFORNIA, March 8, 1950

Lieutenant Governor Goodwin J. Knight
President of the Senate
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR SIR: Pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 103 of the Resolutions of 1949 (S. J. R. 21), herewith second report to the Legislature of the State of California regarding the activities of The Reclamation Board in attempting to secure a reimbursement to the State for expenditures made for reconstruction of flood control works on the Sacramento River necessitated by the stoppage of the flow of water from Shasta Dam on May 14, 1948.

Report number one was made to the Legislature, addressed to both the Speaker of the Assembly and to the President of the Senate, on June 8, 1949. This first report was accompanied by Invoice No. 1 to the Commissioner of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation covering expenditures for the period July 1, 1948, to April 30, 1949, inclusive, in the amount of $14,064.56.

The receipt of Invoice No. 1 was acknowledged by the Bureau of Reclamation on June 6, 1949, with the statement that the letter and invoice were being forwarded to the Regional Director at Sacramento "for handling through proper channels." No further answer of any kind has been received from the bureau.

The Reclamation Board has placed the collection of this claim in the hands of the Attorney General, who is actively working on the matter.

Invoice No. 2 to the Bureau of Reclamation was completed on March 6, 1950, and is now being forwarded to the commissioner with the request to reimburse the State in the amount thereof. The invoice totals $225,688.86, being composed of administrative and operating items in the amount of $15,486.11; of the direct purchase of rights of way and attached cost $11,752.84, and of reports by the District Engineer of expenditures of state funds advanced to the United States for incidental right of way costs on construction work in repair of the damaged levees $184,385.35, and including therein unpaid Invoice No. 1.

The commissioner is being advised that the presently estimated final cost to the State would be in the neighborhood of $750,000. State advances to the U. S. Engineers including the above mentioned $184,385.35, amounts to approximately $400,000 to this date. Federal laws require that the District Engineer have on hand local participation funds as covered in the plans and specifications before he may advertise a contract for bids. Since a large amount of the work, the cost of which must be borne by local interest (here the State), must be carried out or performed by the contractor who is doing the main construction work, it is necessary to include the cost of much incidental right of way work in the main contract let by the District Engineer. This is the reason for advance to the District Engineer of state funds.

The current budget submitted to the Legislature by the Governor includes funds for The Reclamation Board to proceed during the current fiscal year with the responsibility placed on the board by Chapter 103 of the Resolutions of 1949.

Yours very truly,

THE RECLAMATION BOARD

CALIFORNIA MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION
SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, March 6, 1950

Lt. Governor Goodwin J. Knight
President, California Senate
State Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. KNIGHT: As the California Legislature convenes in its 1950 Budget and Special Sessions, the California Manufacturers Association fully recognizes the importance of the task before you. We appreciate the vital responsibility which you have to encourage in this State a healthy industrial climate through enactment of sound and constructive legislation.

It is obvious that an important factor in maintaining a sound economy is an equitable tax system.

Significant is the fact that the all-inclusive tax burden on the average California wage earner today is $450 per year. Of this amount a substantial proportion consists of state and local taxes. The California Manufacturers Association has for the past several years maintained that a minimum tax burden is necessary to attract industry, create jobs, and stimulate production.

The California Manufacturers Association will continue to assert this position. This association supports this program by results of a recent state-wide survey of manufacturing executives in California. A majority responding to the poll overwhelmingly emphasized the need for a balanced budget, lower taxes and greater government efficiency as "the greatest stimulant to business at this time."

The recent Conference on Employment in Sacramento called by the Governor stressed the need for creating 125,000 new jobs in California per year. California manufacturers, comprising the State's largest economic force, have been called upon to play an important role in providing these additional employment opportunities. California manufacturers have and will continue to assume this responsibility. In your capacity as President of the Senate, California Manufacturers Association reposes the utmost confidence in you, and your colleagues, to effectively continue a level of prosperity and full employment for California industry and workers.

The Board of Directors of the California Manufacturers Association recommends the following program for your careful consideration:

(1) Support of "austerity" budget for the State of California for the fiscal year 1950-51, through curtailment of all unnecessary functions and exercise of rigid economy.
(2) Maximum cut in controllable items. (House Resolution 277.)
(3) Because California taxes are already among the highest in the Nation, the committee feels that there should be no further increases in taxes or any imposition of new taxes during the coming fiscal year.
(4) Careful analysis of all proposals to increase school appropriations and curtailment thereof without limiting fundamental functions.
(5) California leads in old age assistance and for that reason the committee believes the aged and blind are being adequately cared for and there is no need for further liberalization of the old age pension laws nor for increased payments from the State.

Industry believes that such a program is essential if California is to maintain a favorable competitive position with other industrial states who are equally interested in attracting new industry.

Sincerely yours,

WM. B. TYLER, President

CITY OF LONG BEACH

The Honorable Goodwin J. Knight
Lieutenant Governor and President of the Senate
Sacramento, California

HONORABLE SIR: We are transmitting a certified copy of Resolution No. C-12207, adopted by the City Council of the City of Long Beach on March 7, 1950, entitled:

"A resolution of the City Council of the City of Long Beach memorializing and urging the Legislature of the State of California to refuse to enact any amendment to the 'Air Pollution Control Districts Act' which would delete therefrom, or in any way render less effective, the requirement of obtaining a permit from the Air Pollution Control Officer for the construction or maintenance of any contrivance which may cause the issuance of air contaminants."

Very truly yours,

C. G. ROSEBERRY, City Clerk

RESOLUTION NO. C-12207

A resolution of the City Council of the City of Long Beach memorializing and urging the Legislature of the State of California to refuse to enact any amendment to the "Air Pollution Control Districts Act" which would delete therefrom, or in any way render less effective, the requirement of obtaining a permit from the Air Pollution Control Officer for the construction or maintenance of any contrivance which may cause the issuance of air contaminants

WHEREAS, The procedure contained in that portion of the Health and Safety Code of the State of California, commonly known as the "Air Pollution Control Districts Act," has, in the opinion of responsible public officials, proved to be an effective means in helping to reduce the amount of air contaminants which are seriously injurious to the health and well-being of the people; and,

WHEREAS, One of the most essential provisions of said act is that an Air Pollution Control Board may require that, before any person builds, erects, alters, replaces, operates or uses any article, equipment, or other contrivance, the use of which may cause the issuance of air contaminants, such person shall obtain a permit to do so from the Air Pollution Control Officer; and,

WHEREAS, It has come to the attention of this City Council that an attempt will be made at the current session of the Legislature to secure the enactment of an amendment to said act which will result in the deletion therefrom of such provision, or which will render that requirement less effective; and,

WHEREAS, It is strongly felt that any such amendment would adversely affect the program of reducing the amount of air contaminants and would materially retard the work of preventing air pollution, the necessity for the continuance of which work is strongly recognized by all as a public health measure;

NOW, THEREFORE, the City Council of the City of Long Beach resolves as follows:

SECTION 1. That the City Council of the City of Long Beach hereby memorializes and strongly urges the Legislature of the State of California to refuse to enact any amendment to the "Air Pollution Control Districts Act" which would delete therefrom, or in any way render less effective, the requirement of obtaining a permit from the Air Pollution Control Officer for the construction or maintenance of any contrivance which may cause the issuance of air contaminants.

SEC. 2. That the City Clerk be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to transmit, without delay, a certified copy of this resolution to the following: The Honorable Earl Warren, Governor of the State of California; the Honorable Goodwin J. Knight, Lieutenant Governor and President of the Senate; the Honorable Sam L. Collins, Speaker of the Assembly; the Honorable William S. Grant, Assemblyman representing the 70th District; the Honorable Carl Fletcher, Assemblyman representing the 71st District; and the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles.

SEC. 3. The City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this resolution by the City Council of the City of Long Beach and cause the same to be posted in three (3) conspicuous places in the City of Long Beach, and it shall thereupon take effect.

I hereby certify that the foregoing resolution was adopted by the City Council of the City of Long Beach, at its meeting of March 7, 1950, by the following vote:

AYES: Councilmen: Ramsey, Kealer, Wagner, Jackson, Klocksiem, Carleson, and Parmley.
NOES: Councilmen: None.
ABSENT: Councilmen: Seaton, Chace.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Senator Dorsey:

Senate Resolution No. 21

WHEREAS, After months and years pass, we often pause to refresh our memory of past events, and the events that were the most pleasant are like engravings on tablets of stone, we can on this day recall an event that should not, nor will it ever escape our memory. It was on March 13, 1925, just 25 years ago yesterday that our esteemed colleague Honorable Nathan F. Coombs appeared before the Members of the Senate and the Assembly, meeting in joint session, to hear an address delivered by him who was then representing the American Legion as State Commander, Department of California.

Also, it is noteworthy to recall, that at the same time our esteemed colleague, Honorable George J. Hatfield, was then a member of the National Executive Committee of the American Legion.

So, today, 25 years later, we are fortunate to have with us these two distinguished statesmen seated in the Senate Chamber, both members of this legislative body; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That on this 25th anniversary of that occasion, the Members of this Senate do hereby heartily commend Senator Nathan F. Coombs and Senator George J. Hatfield for their former contributions of time and service to the American Legion as officers of that organization, and the part each played in the events of this State a quarter of a century ago, and presently to the State of California as Members of the State Senate and that the Secretary of the Senate present to each of said Senators a suitable copy of this resolution.

Resolution read, and on motion of Senator Dorsey, unanimously adopted.

MOTION TO PRINT IN JOURNAL

Senator Collier moved that the following current status of operations under the Federal Aid Highway Acts of 1944 and 1948 be printed in the Journal.

Motion carried.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
SACRAMENTO, February 21, 1950
Please refer to File No. 100.57

Hon. Randolph Collier, Chairman
Senate Interim Committee on Highways, Streets, and Bridges
State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR SIR: In accordance with your request, there follows herewith the current status of our operations under the Federal-Aid Highway Acts of 1944 and 1948, and the County Highway Aid Act of 1945, all in relation to the Federal-Aid Secondary Highway program as it affects the counties.

The following tabulation shows the status of funds as of February 1, 1950:

Column 1—Represents balance of funds under the County Highway Aid Act of 1945 not expended, obligated by contract, or advertised. Original act appropriated $12,000,000 to provide counties' share of cost, as applying to funds under the Federal-Aid Act of 1944. Chapter 1266, Statutes of 1949 authorized expenditure of unused balance to apply to funds under the Federal-Aid Act of 1948. Obligation of current balance is now foreseen except for the counties of Lake, Sacramento, and Inyo.

Column 2—Represents balance of secondary funds under the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1944 (3 years) not expended, obligated by contract, or advertised. The fiscal years under the 1944 act ended June 30, 1946, June 30, 1947, and June 30, 1948. Authorized extensions of three years terminate these funds on June 30, 1951. Even though some of the counties have balances which aggregate $606,885, the obligation of funds under the Federal-Aid Act of 1948 by other counties more than offsets this figure. The Bureau of Public Roads does not keep books by counties, and therefore, the offset by federal accounts is shown against the 1944 act. Therefore, California has completed the obligation of Federal-Aid Secondary funds under the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1944. Obligation of county balances can be foreseen except for Lake and Sacramento counties.

Column 3—This is the allocation of 87½ percent of Federal-Aid Secondary funds (two years) under the Federal-Aid Act of 1948 according to Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 62, 1949 Session of the Legislature. The federal fiscal years terminate June 30, 1950, and June 30, 1951, with a grace period allowed. Our interpretation of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 62 and our operational instructions indicate that the county projects must be advertised by June 30, 1951; thereafter, the unused balances will revert to the California Highway Commission for allocation on State Federal-Aid Secondary routes.

Column 4—Represents projects submitted (or programmed) to the Bureau of Public Roads (1948 Act) nearly all of which stand approved. The funds shown represent the federal share of the cost only and may be compared with the allocations shown in Column 3. Some of these funds are now obligated, as shown in Column 5. The counties have agreed to match the federal funds programmed. It is anticipated that at least the sum represented by this column will be advertised during the calendar year 1949.

Column 5—Represents the 1948 federal fund portion of projects obligated by contract or advertised.

NOTE: The tabulation does not show apportionments of County Highway Aid Act and 1944 Federal Aid Act funds. However, this information is supplied as an attachment.

The construction work completed, under way, or advertised for bids since the program became operative in October 1945 involves the following funds:

Chapter 20, Statutes of 1946	$3,872,387
County Funds	407,303
Joint Highway District Funds	180,197
1944 Federal-Aid Highway Act, Secondary Funds	12,882,394
1945 County Highway Aid Act Funds	10,772,735
1948 Federal-Aid Highway Act, Secondary Funds	657,656
	$28,772,672

San Francisco County is not eligible for this program. Nevada County has not placed a project under way. All other counties have placed one or more projects under construction.

The $28,772,672 above represents, when all going projects are completed, 188 contracts covering 673 miles of roads and 62 bridges. The road work cost is $20,738,564, averaging $30,815 per mile. The bridges cost $8,034,108, averaging $129,582.

Cost per mile of roads ranged from $9,777 per mile to $184,365 per mile, and the cost of bridges ranged from $10,600 to $645,000.

Traffic flowing over these projects ranges from less than 100 to over 15,000 vehicles per day. About 13 percent of the projects carry less than 100 vehicles per day; 26 percent carry 100 to 400; 30 percent carry 400 to 1,000, and 31 percent carry more than 1,000 vehicles per day.

The design of bridges with few exceptions contemplates loading equal to any load permitted by California statutes and in nearly all cases provide for 24 ft. or 26 ft. clearance between curbs. The counties seldom have considered design standards materially below state highway practice for bridges.

The federal minimum design standards for secondary roads as applied to geometric design are so low that ordinary county practice in California is well above requirements. On structural design of roads the same yardstick is used as for state highways, that is—the design is based upon traffic requirements in terms of the effects of truck wheel load repetition upon the character of soils in place and materials available. This practice is acceptable in counties having men of sufficient technical ability to understand the test data and their application.

At the present time, there are 5,503.7 miles of county highways in the California Federal-Aid Secondary System. This is 8.4 percent of the 65,826 mile county system, and three years of the Federal-Aid Secondary Program has constructed 12.2 percent of the county Federal-Aid Secondary System. However, these percentages do not include construction projects under complete county control on the Federal-Aid Secondary System, many of which are of similar standards. Cognizance should also be taken of the mileage of county roads which of economic necessity should meet the Federal-Aid Secondary standards. This mileage would probably not exceed 9,000 miles if the facts were known.

I believe that this report furnishes the information which you require. If additional or more detailed data are needed, we will be glad to furnish them to you.

Yours very truly,

Distribution of Federal-Aid Secondary Funds and State Funds Among Counties

Distribution based on ratio of the average of Rural Population + Area + Mileage Rural Post and Star Routes in a county to similar factors in whole State. San Francisco City and County has been eliminated from consideration. Alpine, Amador, Del Norte, and Sierra Counties have been allocated the minimum of one-half of 1 percent.

In accordance with provisions of "County Highway Aid Act of 1945" 87½ percent of Federal-Aid Secondary Funds has been allocated to counties.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Senator Parkman asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following Opinion of the Legislative Counsel regarding Local Taxation of Admissions to Horse Races printed in the Journal.

OPINION OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, March 10, 1950

Hon. Harry L. Parkman, Chairman
Senate Interim Committee on Horse Racing
171 Second St., San Francisco, California

Local Taxation of Admissions to Horse Races—No. 18

DEAR SENATOR PARKMAN:

Question

You have requested our opinion on whether a city ordinance which levies a tax to each admission to a race track whether by ticket or a pass, which the operator of the track is required to collect and transmit to the local tax collector, is valid where a license tax of $100 per day is also imposed by the city on the track operator.

Opinion

It is our opinion that an admission tax imposed on the purchaser or user of a ticket or pass to the race track by a chartered city would be valid if not repugnant to any provision of the charter of such city. It is our further opinion that a similar tax imposed by a fifth or sixth class city would be invalid.

Analysis

In considering this question it is important to note the distinction between the powers vested by the Constitution in cities organized under freeholder's charters as distinguished from cities organized under general laws.

Article XI, Section 6 of the Constitution vests in chartered cities the power to make and enforce all laws and regulations in respect to municipal affairs subject only to the restrictions and limitations provided in the charter. Cities organized under general laws, however, are subject to general enactments of the Legislature.

It is well settled that the power of a municipal corporation operating under a freeholder's charter to impose taxes for revenue purposes including license taxes is strictly a municipal affair pursuant to the direct constitutional grant contained in Section 6 of Article XI of the Constitution, and that the restrictions on the exercise of that power are only the limitations and restrictions appearing in the Constitution and in the charter itself (West Coast Advertising Co. v. San Francisco, 14 Cal. 2d 516, 524, 526).

The Horse Racing Act, Statutes 1933, Chapter 769 (now codified as Chapter 4, Division 8, Part 3 of the Business and Professions Code) was authorized and ratified by Section 25a of Article IV of the Constitution. Section 16 of the act as codified in Section 19488 of the Business and Professions Code provides:

> "No license or excise tax or fee in excess of one hundred dollars ($100) for each racing day, except as provided in this chapter, shall be assessed or collected from any licensee by the State or by any town, district, city, township, village, or any other body having the power to assess or collect the tax, license or fee." (Emphasis added.)

To the extent that there is a conflict between the provisions of Section 6 of Article XI of the Constitution and Section 19488 of the Business and Professions Code, the latter provisions would prevail as Section 25a of Article IV and the act which it ratified (including the provisions of B. & P. C. Sec. 19488) were enacted subsequent to Section 6 of Article XI. In the case of irreconcilable repugnancy between two constitutional provisions, the one last in point of time prevails (Application of Mascola, 25 Cal. App. 92).

By its terms Section 19488 prohibits taxes in excess of $100 for each racing day from being assessed against any licensee. If the city ordinance which imposes a tax on admissions to race tracks does not purport to impose the tax on the licensee but rather to impose the tax on the purchaser or user of the ticket or pass for the privilege of attending the race, the tax would not be levied on the licensee, and thus it would not violate the above quoted section of the Business and Professions Code even though the licensee is required to collect the tax from the purchaser or user.

Conversely if the tax was imposed on the race track licensee and was made the direct obligation of the licensee as distinguished from a tax imposed on the user of the ticket or pass, the tax would violate Section 19488 where such tax, together with all other taxes or fees exacted from the licensee by the city, would exceed $100 a day.

The imposition on the licensee of the burden of collecting the tax levied on the purchaser or user of a ticket or pass would not invalidate the tax. Tax statutes imposing such burdens have been uniformly upheld (Ainsworth v. Bryant, 34 A.C. 533, 544; Felt and Tarrant Mfg. Co. v. Gallagher et al, (1933), 306 U. S. 62).

Whether a tax may validly be levied by a city on the purchaser or user of tickets and passes as distinguished from a tax on the licensee would depend upon the power of the city to tax for revenue purposes.

Since the imposition of a revenue tax is a municipal affair which a chartered city may validly impose subject only to the restrictions of its charter (West Coast Advertising Co. v. San Francisco, supra), there would seem to be little question of the validity of a tax levied by a chartered city on the user of an admission ticket or pass if such tax was not repugnant to any provision of the charter itself.

As to cities incorporated under general laws, however, no such constitutional grant of power exists. Such cities are therefore limited to the power conferred upon them by general laws enacted by the Legislature. The only statutory provision providing for the exercise of such powers is contained in Government Code, Section 37101, which provides that in fifth and sixth class cities:

> "The legislative body may license, for revenue and regulation, and fix the license tax upon, every kind of lawful business transacted in the city, including shows, exhibitions, and games. It may provide for collection of the license tax by suit or otherwise."

This provision authorizes the fifth or sixth class city to license for revenue and regulation but does not purport to extend such authority to include the power to tax for revenue. The fact that the word "license" only was used in the above quoted provision evidences a legislative intent to limit the power granted to the power to license as distinguished from the power to tax. The power to license does not include the power to tax, the distinction between regulation and taxation having been uniformly maintained by the courts (Ainsworth v. Bryant, 34 A.C. 533, and cases cited therein).

A license tax or fee is associated with the exercise of regulatory measures under the police power even though revenue is derived from such exaction. A license enactment is a tax only when revenue is the main purpose for which it was imposed. A license imposition upon a business or occupation which is not one calling for police regulaton is a revenue tax (San Francisco v. Insurance Co., 74 Cal. 113). In upholding the validity of the California Use Tax, the Supreme Court, in Douglas Aircraft Co. v. Johnson, 13 Cal. 2d 545, stated (page 550):

> "A privilege tax, although also passed to raise revenue, and as such it is to be distinguished from the license tax on (or) regulatory charge imposed under the state's police powers, is imposed upon the right to exercise a privilege, and its payment is invariably made a condition precedent to the exercise of the privilege involved. (37 Cor. Jur., p. 171, sec. 9, and cases cited.)"

A tax on the user of a ticket or pass to a race track does not appear to involve any element of inspection, supervision or regulation incident to an exercise of the police power, nor does it appear that such tax is levied upon a business or occupation calling for police regulation. Such tax would therefore fall within that class of excise taxes imposed, as a condition to the exercise of the privilege of admission to a race track, solely for revenue.

In view of the absence of any express statutory provision authorizing a fifth or sixth class city to tax for revenue purposes, it is our opinion that an admission tax levied by such a city on the purchaser or user of tickets or passes to race track meetings would be invalid.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Senator Hatfield asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following Opinion of the Legislative Counsel regarding the California Institution for Women, printed in the Journal:

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, March 7, 1950

Hon. George J. Hatfield
Senate Chamber

California Institution for Women—No. 1031

DEAR SENATOR HATFIELD:

Facts

You have stated that upon occasion paroled prisoners of the California Institution for Women are arrested by parole officers or by county or city officials who then inquire of the Board of Trustees of the California Institution for Women what disposition shall be made of the arrested person. Since the board meets only once a month for a period of six or seven days, it is frequently not in session when these problems arise. It has been the practice for the secretary of the board to call the various members upon the telephone and secure their vote as to the disposition to be made of the arrested person. Then, at the next meeting of the board the action is ratified as to the detention or release of the arrested person, and, if necessary, further action is taken as to the revocation of the parole.

Question

You have asked us if the vote taken by telephone is valid and if the ratification cures any possible defects in procedure. In the event that such procedure is invalid, you have asked us if any procedure can be devised, by telephone vote or authorization to the secretary, which would be valid.

Opinion

It is our opinion that the vote taken by telephone is not valid and that the purported ratification does not cure the defect.

In the absence of an express statutory authorization therefor, we know of no unquestionably valid procedure, other than by action taken by the board at a meeting at which a quorum is present, by means of which the board may exercise its power to suspend, cancel, or revoke paroles.

Analysis

The board has such powers and may perform such duties and exercise such functions respecting female prisoners as the Adult Authority exercises over male prisoners (Pen. C., Sec. 3325). The board may allow prisoners in the California Institution for Women to go on parole outside the prison walls and enclosures (Pen. C., Sec. 3040). The board has full power to suspend, cancel or revoke any parole without notice, and to order returned to prison any prisoner on parole (Pen. C., Sec. 3060), but no parole shall be suspended or revoked without cause, which cause must be stated in the order suspending or revoking the parole (Pen. C., Sec. 3063).

Although Section 3060 of the Penal Code provides that the written order of any member of the board is a sufficient warrant for any peace or prison officer to return any paroled prisoner to custody, we do not interpret this section as giving individual members of the board any authority to detain parolees. Such an interpretation would, we think, be unjustified in the face of the express language in the section which provides that the board has the power to suspend, cancel, or revoke a parole.

The authority thus given to the board to suspend, cancel, or revoke any parole may be exercised by a majority of the board (Pen. C., Sec. 7, subd. 17). However, the powers of the board must be exercised at a meeting of the board with at least a quorum present (People v. Hecht, 105 Cal. 621; State v. Kelly, 27 N.M. 412, 21 A.L.R. 156; 42 Am. Jur. 389. See also 37 Am. Jur. 666 and 13 Am. Jur. 909). We therefore conclude that the board may not suspend, cancel or revoke any parole by means of a vote taken by the secretary over the telephone. It does not appear that the board has any power to detain a parolee by means other than a suspension, cancellation or revocation of parole.

We do not think that the board's lack of power to proceed in this manner would be remedied by Section 1404 of the Penal Code which provides that errors and mistakes in a proceeding will not render the proceeding invalid unless the error or mistake has actually prejudiced the defendant, or tended to his prejudice, in respect to a substantial right. We think the courts would hold that such action does not constitute a proceeding by the board, and that any person on parole who has been subjected to detention by such a procedure has been prejudiced in respect to a substantial right.

As far as the attempted ratification by the board of the previous action is concerned, we are of the opinion that any attempted ratification of such action would be held completely ineffective. If the board has no power in the first place to suspend, cancel, or revoke any parole by means of a vote taken over the telephone, it has no power to legalize such action by any subsequent action. (City of Orange v. Clement, 41 Cal. App. 497).

We have also considered the question of whether or not parole officers have the power to order such person detained until such time as the board meets and have arrived at the conclusion that they do not. While parole officers are peace officers (Pen. C., Sec. 817) and hence have the powers of peace officers in making arrests, they have no other power in the absence of an order from the board to detain any person on parole.

You have asked us whether or not any procedure can be devised, by telephone vote or authorization to the secretary, which would be valid.

As we have previously pointed out, the board must exercise its power in a meeting attended by at least a quorum, and as far as any authorization to the secretary is concerned, the power to suspend, cancel or revoke a parole appears to be of a discretionary nature which cannot be delegated by the board (Holley v. County of Orange, 106 Cal. 420).

Since it has been held that a charge of violation of parole conditions based on an official accusation of a violation of a provision of the Penal Code is a proper ground for suspending parole pending determination of the charges (In re Etie (1946) 27 Cal. 2d 753; In re Payton (1946) 28 Cal. 2d 194) we have considered the question of whether or not the board has power to make an order which provides that in the future the paroles of all parolees who are arrested for the violation of a penal law are automatically suspended pending determination of the charges. If the board has power to order such automatic suspensions, it could then, if necessary, delegate to its secretary the power to determine when such an arrest has been made since such a determination would not require the exercise of discretion. Any member of the board could then sign the necessary order directing the return of the parolee to prison (Pen. C. Sec. 3060).

We have, however, arrived at the conclusion that such a procedure would be of very questionable validity for the reason that such an order would appear to be beyond the authority conferred by the Legislature on the board. As such it would seem that the board in making such an order is not exercising the type of discretion which is contemplated by Section 3060. We think it only reasonable to assume that the Legislature in granting the board discretion to suspend, cancel, or revoke a parole intended that the board should exercise its discretion in each particular case after the occurrence of the event which constitutes cause for suspension, cancellation, or revocation.

A somewhat similar situation was considered by our Supreme Court in Bank of Italy v. Johnson, 200 Cal. 1, which involved an order issued by the Superintendent of Banks. In that case the court stated on page 15 that:

> "It is also clear that the superintendent of banks may not by the adoption of any rule of policy or procedure so circumscribe or curtail the exercise of his discretion under the statute as to prevent the free and untrameled exercise thereof in every case, for an attempt to do so would be for him to arrogate to himself a legislative function."

While the board does have power to establish rules and regulations under which prisoners may be allowed to go on parole (Pen. C., Sec. 3052) and power to impose such conditions on any parole as it thinks proper (Pen. C., Sec. 3053), we very much doubt that the board has power to prescribe any rule or regulation or impose any condition of parole which in effect would constitute an automatic order of suspension upon a parolee's arrest for violation of a penal law. Any such rule, regulation or condition would be open to precisely the same objections as the automatic order of suspension which we have just considered.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Senator Crittenden asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following opinion of the Legislative Counsel regarding bill amending Seed Law and amendments to Budget Bill, printed in the Journal:

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

COPY

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, March 13, 1950

Hon. A. A. Brock, Director of Agriculture
State Office Building No. 1
Sacramento, California

Attention: Mr. W. C. Jacobsen, Assistant to the Director
Bill Amending Seed Law and Amendments to Budget Bill—No. 1205

DEAR MR. BROCK: Pursuant to your request we have prepared for use at the current Budget Session:

1. A bill amending Sections 916.1 and 917.3 of the Agricultural Code, relating to fees collected for examining, testing and other services in connection with the certification of agricultural and vegetable seeds and providing that such fees shall be paid into the Department of Agriculture Fund, rather than General Fund. The bill limits the appropriation from the special fund to that made in the Budget Bill.

2. Amendments to the Budget Bill (S. B. No. 1) which will reduce the General Fund appropriation to the Department of Agriculture by $6,500, add a new item appropriating $13,530 from the Department of Agriculture Fund for the seed testing and certification service, and provide that all or any of that $13,530 may be used as a revolving fund for the service during the 1950-1951 Fiscal Year.

The purpose of the foregoing is to put the seed testing and certification service on a "self-supporting" basis. You have informed us that as a result of eliminating a number of free tests and examinations which are now permitted it is estimated that the revenue under the Agricultural Code provisions will increase from the presently estimated $6,500 to an estimated $15,000 for the 1950-1951 Fiscal Year. This is $1,470 in excess of the $13,530 budgeted. Since the amount budgeted includes $880 for equipment the estimated $15,000 in revenue will exceed by $2,350 the actual cost of operations (salaries and wages plus operating expenses).

You have also informed us that the work of the seed testing and certification service is subject to wide seasonal variations in volume. The seeds are harvested and warehoused in the autumn and their marketing becomes active some time about December. The certification work rapidly builds up to its maximum volume and, as the marketing is completed, tapers off during the spring and summer months. Because of this it is necessary to have a revolving fund so that preparations may be made for handling the work prior to the time the revenue for the work is actually received.

Question

You have requested our opinion as to the constitutionality, operation and effect of the proposed legislation in general and have also asked a series of specific questions.

Opinion

In our opinion, while the proposed legislation presents a number of constitutional questions, all such questions should be answered in favor of the validity of the proposed legislation.

Analysis

The basis for our opinion will appear in our discussion of your specific questions which we will answer in series.

Question: May the bill amending the Agricultural Code sections be considered at the Budget Session?

Opinion: In our opinion it can be considered.

Analysis: Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution provides that at a Budget Session the Legislature may consider only the Budget Bill for the ensuing fiscal year, revenue acts necessary therefor, the approval or rejection of charters and charter amendments, and acts necessary to provide for the expenses of the session.

The bill amends Section 916.1 and 917.3 of the Agricultural Code. In the amendment to Section 916.1 the Director of Agriculture is required to fix the fees referred to in that section, wherein it is now permissive that he fix such fees. In the amendment to Section 917.3 the provision that the director may designate the classes of tests and services that shall be performed without charge, and fix a schedule of fees for tests and services other than the free ones, is deleted. Provision is added that the director shall fix a schedule of fees for all tests, examinations, and services, excepting only those required for enforcement and quarantine services and examinations for the purpose of identifying seeds. In both sections the amendments provide for the deposit of the fees in the Department of Agriculture Fund, instead of the General Fund. Section 3 of the bill provides that the revenue under both sections shall be made available for expenditure in 1950-1951 only as provided in the Budget Act.

We think that the bill is obviously a "revenue act" because it affects only the fees collected by the State and the handling thereof. The question is whether or not it is "necessary for the budget for the ensuing fiscal year." We think the bill is "necessary" within the meaning of the constitutional provision involved. There is a direct connection between the bill and the budget bill amendments and the latter would not be workable without the bill.

Question: May the Agricultural Code sections be amended permanently at the Budget Session or should the change be made operative only for the ensuing fiscal year?

Opinion: In our opinion the amendments may be made to the permanent sections and the changes so made will continue in effect after the 1950-1951 Fiscal Year.

Analysis: Under Section 2 or Article IV the Legislature at a Budget Session may consider "the Budget Bill for the ensuing fiscal year" and "revenue acts necessary therefor." The latter phrase is descriptive of the nature of the measures that may be considered. Unless the measure meets the description, the Legislature may not consider the measure at all. If it does meet the description, the power to legislate upon the subject matter is not restricted. In other words, the limitation is upon what the Legislature may consider, and not upon the extent of the power to legislate upon matters eligible for consideration.

Question: The bill does not show on its face that it will produce more revenue, less revenue, or the same amount of revenue. Is it necessary that the bill show the actual amount of revenue involved?

Opinion: In our opinion the amount of revenue affected does not have to be specified in the bill.

Analysis: We think that it is immaterial that the bill disclose the actual effect on the revenue. Even in the absence of any anticipated change in the receipts we believe that the Legislature could change the basis on which the revenue is collected and the handling of it. For example, the bill would relieve the Director of Agriculture of the task of establishing the "free list" and of determining what services should be rendered free and what ones should be charged for. Thus, even if the collections remained the same the administrative expenses involved would be different and the net revenue would be affected.

Question: Is it necessary to restrict the availability of this revenue for the 1950-1951 Fiscal Year to the amounts appropriated by the Budget Bill, as is done in Section 3 of the bill?

Opinion: This may not be strictly necessary but it will avoid a question upon which we are not prepared to give an unqualified answer at this time.

Analysis: Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution provides that the Legislature may consider only the Budget Bill for the ensuing fiscal year, revenue acts necessary therefor, charters, and acts providing for session expenses.

This apparently excludes ordinary appropriation bills, other than the Budget Bill and acts providing for session expenses.

The effect of placing the revenue provided by the bill in the Department of Agriculture Fund would be that, by virtue of Section 26 of the Agricultural Code, it would be continuously appropriated to carry out the article of the code in which the sections amended by the bill appear. Thus the bill, considered with Section 26, would operate to appropriate the money to carry out the article.

It is uncertain whether the use of the term "the Budget Bill" restricts the Legislature to only one single Budget Bill, or would permit a series of "Budget Bills," or would permit any number of appropriations by separate bills if the appropriation could have been included in the Budget Bill. Even assuming the most liberal interpretation, there would be a question whether or not a continuing appropriation properly could be made a part of the Budget Bill.

While we do not believe that the appropriations made by the Budget Bill necessarily have to be expended in the budget year, the situation here is somewhat different. A continuing appropriation "speaks" continuously. Thus we would have in 1960 or 1970 a budget item of 1950 appropriating money in those years.

To avoid this we have qualified the disposition of the revenue for the 1950-1951 Fiscal Year so that it will be "appropriated" by the Budget Bill, not by virtue of the revenue bill, or Section 26 of the code. This will change the effect of the proposed budget item. Ordinarily when all of the money in a special fund is appropriated by a continuing appropriation and an item in the Budget Bill appropriates a specified amount, the budget item operates as a limitation on the continuing appropriation by restricting the amount available during the budget year. (See Board of Fish and Game Commissioners v. Riley (1924), 194 Cal. 37).

The revenue under the bill will not, during the 1950-1951 Fiscal Year, be appropriated except by the Budget Bill. This, we think, eliminates the question of what, if any, appropriations may be made outside of the Budget Bill.

Question: May a revolving fund be established in the Budget Bill as provided in the proposed item, and, if so, may the money in the Department of Agriculture Fund be used for this purpose?

Opinion: In our opinion the answers to both parts of the question are "Yes."

Analysis: The Budget Bill is subject to the same requirement as to singleness of subject as any other bill. The Constitution provides that every act shall relate to but one subject (Sec. 24, Art. IV). The subject of the Budget Bill is the appropriation of money for the support of the State Government. However, the subject of a bill includes matters that are relevant and germane to the general subject expressed in the title. We think that the establishing of a revolving fund is germane to making an appropriation for the purpose for which the revolving fund is to be used.

The other part of the question involves the nature of the Department of Agriculture Fund. This fund consists of a number of "accounts" into which the revenue derived under various "acts, articles, or laws" are placed. The revenues are then continuously appropriated for carrying out the particular "acts, articles or laws" under which the revenues are derived (Sec. 26, Ag. C.). The effect is the same as if each separate account was in itself a special fund earmarked to carry out the particular law under which the revenue is derived.

Such special funds have been said to be in the nature of trust funds which may not be permanently diverted from the purpose for which they are collected (Daugherty v. Riley (1934), 1 Cal. 2d 298). The creation of the revolving fund in the proposed item presupposes the existence in one or more of the accounts in the fund of a surplus over the amounts which will be required in the budget year for the functions for which the money is collected. You have informed us that there is a quite substantial surplus available in the fund for the purpose.

In Daugherty v. Riley (cited above) the court, after holding that special fund money could not properly be permanently diverted to general fund purposes, said:

> "What has been said is not to deny power upon the part of the Legislature to transfer a special fund reserve temporarily from one purpose to another under the authority of Section 444 of the Political Code or other authority to like effect. But when those diversions are made the transfers under the section are deemed a loan from the special fund to be returned to that fund as soon as funds are available." (P. 309, 1 Cal. 2d.)

Political Code Section 444 is now Section 16310, Government Code, and authorizes temporary transfers from special funds to the General Fund or Interest and Sinking Fund when the latter are exhausted. Section 16350 of the Government Code provides for transfers from the General Fund to a special fund when the latter is exhausted.

While the General Fund is probably not exhausted as a matter of fact that factor does not seem essential. If the Legislature may constitutionally transfer a special fund surplus to the General Fund when the General Fund is exhausted it could make such transfer when the latter was only partially exhausted or not exhausted at all. The account in the Department of Agriculture Fund for the seed inspection and certification service is "exhausted" in the sense that there is no money in it. The account is not in existence and when created will not have any money in it until some revenue comes in.

Thus the Government Code sections would, under appropriate circumstances, permit the special fund surplus to be temporarily loaned to the General Fund and in turn loaned back to the exhausted account in the special fund. We do not think that the court, in Daugherty v. Riley, meant that the transfers provided in the code sections referred to are the only ones permissible. The court was talking about transfers that could be made by administrative action without further legislation, not transfers which the Legislature itself could make or authorize.

The Legislature is free to make any transfers of money in the General Fund or in special funds that are not prohibited by the Constitution. We think that under Daugherty v. Riley any transfer of a special fund surplus that is temporary in nature and which does not amount to a permanent diversion to a purpose foreign to that for which the money was collected is permissible.

Question: In order that a reserve may be accumulated for the seed inspection and certification service and to provide for payment for certain equipment necessary for such service it is contemplated that the fees will be fixed so as to return an amount somewhat higher than the actual cost of the services. Is that legal?

Opinion: In our opinion this is constitutional.

Analysis: Both in Daugherty v. Riley (above cited) and in Urban v. Riley (1942), 21 Cal. 2d 232, the court recognized that a surplus could properly be accumulated in a special fund. In Urban v. Riley the court said that

"The taxing authority may fix the license fees at a sum sufficient to cover all expenses which may be reasonably anticipated and 'is not limited to the exact amount of the expense as it may subsequently develop' (County of Plumas v. Wheeler, 149 Cal. 758, 765 [87 P. 909])." (p. 236, 21 Cal. 2d.)

The court further stated that

"In any event, it has been held that even where the power to license for revenue is not present, the mere fact that an enactment providing for regulatory fees may incidentally produce some revenue does not render such enactment unconstitutional." (p. 237, 21 Cal. 2d.)

The exact amount of the flexibility which the courts would permit is unpredictable. If the courts felt that the regulatory fees were so utterly disproportionate to the cost of the services as to amount to a tax on a special group or an arbitrary expropriation of the individuals' money they might take some corrective action. Until that point is reached, that is, so long as there is some relationship between the fees and the services, the courts would hesitate to substitute their idea as to the reasonableness of the fees for the determination in that respect of the legislative or executive branches of the government.

In the present instance the estimated revenue for the fiscal year is $15,000 and the estimated expense is $13,530, including a capital outlay of $880. Wherever the courts may draw the line between regulatory revenues and regulatory expenses we think the proposed legislation is well within it.

Hon. Joseph A. Beek
Secretary of the Senate
Sacramento, California

MY DEAR MR. BEEK: On behalf of the University of Santa Clara, I wish to thank the Senate, and you, most heartily for the copies of the resolution pertaining to our football team; especially for the framed copy which I think is very handsome indeed.

That Santa Clara should be so honored by the Senate of the California Legislature makes us very proud, and we are happy that we were able, by our victory in the Orange Bowl game in Florida, to enhance in some small way the prestige of our great State.

Again with many thanks, I am

Sincerely yours,

W. C. GIANERA, S.J., President

THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA
March 17, 1950

Mr. Joseph A. Beek
Sacramento, California

DEAR SECRETARY BEEK: Thank you for your letters of January 19, and March 6, informing me that the congratulatory resolution from the Senate to the University of California and University of Santa Clara football teams was being sent to me.

The resolution has now arrived and has been duly admired by me and by members of my staff. First, I should like to express my appreciation of the honor the Senate has done the University and the football team in drafting so friendly an expression of good will. Second, may I offer my personal thanks, through you, to the Senate for their kindness in authorizing the preparation of the handsomely framed and illuminated copy of the resolution for my office. You may be sure that I shall treasure it, and that it will find an honored place on our walls.

The thoughtfulness of the Senate in this matter is deeply appreciated.

Yours sincerely,

ROBERT GORDON SPROUL

SENATE CHAMBER, STATE CAPITOL
Sacramento, California, March 20, 1950

Hon. Goodwin J. Knight, President of the Senate
Senate Chamber, State Capitol, Sacramento, California

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Senate Investigating Committee on Education was created by Senate Resolution No. 163, of the 1949 Regular Session of the Legislature. The following members were appointed to serve thereon:

Nelson S. Dilworth, Chairman	37th District
Hugh P. Donnelly	22d District
Fred Weybret	25th District
J. Howard Williams	32d District
Arthur H. Breed, Jr.	16th District

There is transmitted herewith a partial report which was prepared by the State Department of Education under the direction of James C. Stone, Consultant in Teacher Education and Herschel S. Morgan, Credential Technician, in answer to our question, Who Is Training California's Teachers?

From this hasty survey we find that 23 percent of the new teachers in California are being trained outside of this State. Twelve percent are being trained in private colleges of this State. Eight percent received their training in the University of California at its various branches and 7 percent in our 10 state colleges. Forty-nine percent had not completed formal training. Thus our tax-supported state institutions for teacher training are supplying only 15 percent of the new teachers entering our State School System.

This startling, certainly undesirable situation obviously calls for immediate further study by our committee and, in fact, all agencies concerned in the education of our youth.

Respectfully submitted,

NELSON S. DILWORTH, Chairman
HUGH P. DONNELLY
FRED WEYBRET
J. HOWARD WILLIAMS
ARTHUR H. BREED, Jr.

Original was signed by each.—N. S. D.

Letter of Transmittal ordered printed in the Journal, and report ordered printed in the Appendix to the Journal.

Motion to Print Copies

Senator Dilworth moved that 1,500 copies of the partial report of the Senate Investigating Committee on Education be printed for distribution.

Motion carried.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Senators Gibson and Johnson:

Senate Resolution No. 25

Relative to the creation of the Senate Interim Committee on Financing Plans for Highway and Grade Crossing Construction and the correlation therewith of programs for the reduction of unemployment

WHEREAS, Due to the unprecedented and ever-increasing growth in the population of this State there is, and probably will continue to be, an ever larger need for new jobs and for new highways; and

WHEREAS, It appears that the welfare and safety of the citizens of this State require that the roads and highways of the State be constantly improved and expanded in order that they may adequately carry increased traffic loads; and

WHEREAS, If such work is properly coordinated and planned it will at the same time provide adequate highways and provide employment, thus relieving the hardship and misery attendant upon both traffic accidents and loss of income due to continued unemployment; and

WHEREAS, In order to accomplish this it is necessary that a complete survey of all aspects of the problem be made and a comprehensive financing plan for such purposes be drafted; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, As follows:

1. That the Senate Interim Committee on Financing Plans for Highway and Grade Crossings Construction and the correlation therewith of programs for the reduction of employment is hereby created and authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to and in any way connected with the subjects expressed in the recitals of this resolution and to prepare and present to the Legislature a comprehensive financing plan providing for unemployment stabilization through correlation and utilization of the total funds now or hereafter available for roads, highways, and grade crossings throughout the State for the next decade, giving due consideration to anticipated population increases and increased registration of automobiles, busses and trucks. The committee is directed to include in such plan recommendations as to the methods of financing local necessary roadway and grade crossing projects in impoverished municipalities or counties, or in municipalities or counties where the need is a matter of state-wide concern, or where the magnitude of the project is beyond the financing ability of the community. The committee is directed to report to the Senate, including in its report its recommendations for appropriate legislation.

5. The committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To select a chairman and a vice chairman from its membership.

(b) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purpose for which it is created.

(c) To cooperate with and secure the cooperation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

OPINION OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, March 20, 1950

Hon. George J. Hatfield
Senate Chamber

Teachers' Oaths—No. 1040

DEAR SENATOR HATFIELD: You have asked our opinion on several questions relating to the oaths that are or may be required of the faculty members of the University of California and of the state colleges. These questions are separately considered below.

You have indicated that you are reserving the question whether "tenure" under a particular "contract of employment" might or might not preclude the exercise of the power to require a supplemental oath with respect to a faculty member under contract.

Question No. 1. What form of oath, if any, have, until recently, the members of the faculty of the University of California been taking?

Governor Warren issued a statement to the press that the faculty by requirement of the regents now takes the same oath as is required of officers of the State Government (San Francisco Chronicle, March 1, 1950, page 6).

Apparently this is the oath required of "Members of the Legislature, and all officers, executive and judicial, except such inferior officers as may be required by law exempt," by Section 3, Article XX of the Constitution of California.

Section 3, Article XX prescribes the following oath:

> "I do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be,) that I will support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of California, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of _____, according to the best of my ability."

Question No. 2. What kind of oath is required of teachers on the faculties of the state colleges?

We are informed that the Department of Education requires that teachers on the faculties of the state colleges file a "Statement of Professional Preparation and Experience" with the following oath of allegiance:

"I solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the Constitution of the United States of America, the Constitution of the State of California, and all the laws of the United States and the State of California and will by precept and example promote respect for the Flag and the statutes of the United States and of the State of California, reverence for law and order, and undivided allegiance to the Government of the United States of America."

Question No. 3. Does a faculty member of the University of California or a teacher on the faculty of a state college hold an "office" or "public trust" within the meaning of the limitation expressed in Section 3 of Article XX of the State Constitution?

We are of the opinion that the question is to be answered in the negative.

Section 3, Article XX of the Constitution reads:

"Members of the Legislature, and all officers, executive and judicial, except such inferior officers as may be by law exempted, shall, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation:

" 'I do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be,) that I will support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of California, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of _____, according to the best of my ability.'

"And no other oath, declaration, or test, shall be required as a qualification for any office or public trust."

We are not aware of any decision directly on the point of whether a teacher holds an "office" or "public trust" within the meaning of this section.

The Supreme Court in Ex Parte Gregory Yale (1864), 24 Cal. 241, in holding that an attorney at law does not hold an "office" in the constitutional sense of the term, stated:

"The term 'office' and 'public trust,' as used in Section 3, Article XI, of the State Constitution, are nearly synonymous—at least the term 'public trust' is included in the more comprehensive term 'office.' Those duties and responsibilities of a public character that are temporarily or specially devolved upon persons, may be more appropriately denominated public trusts than offices; yet the persons discharging such duties or assuming those responsibilities are officers. The form of the oath prescribed by the Constitution, as the only oath to be taken by officers and persons executing public trusts, the last part of which is: 'That I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of_____according to the best of my ability,' clearly indicates, that the person who executes a public trust, was deemed by the Constitution to be an officer.

"The terms 'office,' 'office and public trust,' as employed in the Constitution, have relation only to those persons and duties that are of a public nature." (P. 243.)

In Lomyl v. Johnson (1930), 105 Cal. App. 694, the court declaring that a high school teacher does not hold "office under this State" within the meaning of Section 19 of Article IV of the Constitution (which prohibits a Senator or Members of the Assembly from holding any office in this State during his term of office), stated:

> "It would seem, therefore, that one of the necessary characteristics of a public officer is that he perform a public function for the public benefit and that in so doing he be invested with the exercise of some of the sovereign powers of the state. No matter how highly we regard the profession of teaching, we cannot conclude that the teacher is exercising some of the sovereign powers of the state in performing the arduous duties of his profession." (P. 699.)

In view of the language of the above two cases, we are of the opinion that the court would hold that a faculty member of the University of California or of a state college does not hold an "office" or "public trust" within the meaning of the limitation expressed in Section 3, Article XX.

Question No. 4. May the Regents of the University of California or the State Legislature, require a supplemental oath of faculty members of the University of California, bearing in mind Section 9 of Article IX of the State Constitution?

We are of the opinion that as to the Regents of the University of California, the question is to be answered in the affirmative, but as to the State Legislature, the question is to be answered in the negative.

As indicated in question 3, we are of the opinion that the faculty members of the University of California do not hold an "office" or "public trust" within the meaning of the limitation expressed in Section 3, Article XX. It follows then that this constitutional limitation does not limit the power of the Legislature or of the Regents of the University of California to require a supplemental oath of faculty members.

However, it is to be noted that Section 9 of Article IX provides in part:

> "The University of California shall constitute a public trust, to be administered by the existing corporation known as 'the Regents of the University of California,' with full powers of organization and government, subject only to such legislative control as may be necessary to insure compliance with the terms of the endowments of the university and the security of its funds." (Emphasis added.)

While the term "public trust" appears in both Section 9 of Article IX and Section 3 of Article XX, it seems clear from the context of Section 9 of Article IX that the term as there used, refers to the University of California as an entity as distinguished from a teaching position in that university. By the same token, it is equally clear from the context of Section 3 of Article XX that the term "public trust" as there used is analogous to "office" in the nature of a position.

We know of no constitutional or statutory limitation on the power of the Regents of the University of California to require a supplemental oath, and therefore conclude such power exists.

On the other hand, it is to be noted that Section 9 of Article IX provides that the University of California is to be administered by the regents, with full power of organization and government, "subject only to such legislative control as may be necessary to insure compliance with the terms of the endowments of the university and the security of its funds."

There is some authority that Section 9, Article IX, does not preclude the Legislature from enacting general laws under the police power of the State which might incidentally affect the University of California (Wallace v. Regents of the University of California (1925), 75 Cal. App. 274.) However, even assuming that the Legislature could impose regulations by general law, the provisions of which would incidentally affect the faculty of the University of California, it seems clear that the limitation of Section 9, Article IX, would preclude the Legislature from enacting a law to require a supplemental oath of the members of the faculty of the University of California. Such a statute would be applicable, not generally, but only to the University of California and this would be directly in conflict with the expressed limitation of Section 9, Article IX.

Question No. 5. May the Legislature or the State Department of Education require a supplemental oath of faculty members of the state colleges?

We are of the opinion that the question is to be answered in the affirmative.

As indicated in question 3, we are of the opinion that the faculty members of the state colleges do not hold an "office" or "public trust" within the meaning of the limitation expressed in Section 3, Article XX. It follows then that this constitutional limitation does not limit the power of the Legislature or the State Department of Education to require a supplemental oath of faculty members of the state colleges.

We are aware of no other constitutional or statutory provisions which would limit the power of the Legislature or the State Department of Education to require a supplemental oath.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

SEC. 4. Wherever herein an appropriation is made for construction, improvements, repairs, and equipment, any construction or improvement project exceeding ten thousand dollars ($10,000) in cost shall be subject to the provisions of Sections 3, and 12 of Chapter 145, Statutes of 1946 (First Extraordinary Session).

SEC. 5. In providing that certain appropriations in Section 2 of this act are to be expended in accordance with a schedule set forth after each such appropriation item, it is the intent of the Legislature, except as specifically provided in other sections of this act relating to the category "salaries and wages," to limit thereby the amount of money to be expended from each such appropriation item for certain specified object categories, such as "salaries and wages," "operating expenses," or "equipment," using in that connection the same terms as used in the detailed budget of the officer, department, division, bureau or other agency to whom the appropriation is made, as contained in that document entitled "State of California Budget for the Fiscal Year July 1, 1950, to June 30, 1951," submitted by the Governor to the Legislature at the 1950 Budget Session. Each such schedule in this act is a restriction or limitation upon the expenditure of the respective appropriation made by this act, does not itself appropriate any money, and is not itself an item of appropriation.

As used in such schedules:

"Salaries and wages" shall include all expenditures for payment of officers and employees of the State but does not include compensation of independent contractors rendering personal services to the State under contract.

"Operating expenses" shall include all expenditures for purchase of materials, supplies (including expendable equipment), services (other than services of state officers and employees), and all other proper expenses (other than the acquisition of unexpendable tangible property).

"Equipment" shall include all expenditures for the acquisition or replacement of nonexpendable tangible property.

For the purpose of further interpreting the meaning of the words, terms, and phrases used in such schedules, reference is hereby made to the aforementioned budget document, the uniform accounting system prescribed by the Department of Finance under the provisions of Section 13290 of the Government Code, and the appropriate portions thereof. The State Board of Control shall establish such interpretations as are necessary to carry out the provisions of this section and shall furnish the same to the State Controller and to every state agency to whom appropriations are made under this act.

SEC. 5.1. In providing that certain appropriations made heretofore or made herein, in Section 2 of this act are to be expended in accordance with the projects set forth after each appropriation item for construction, improvements, repairs, and equipment, the unexpended amounts for each such project shall revert to the fund from which the appropriation for such project was made.

SEC. 6. The Director of Finance may, pursuant to a request by the officer, department, division, bureau, board, commission, or other agency to whom an appropriation is made herein, authorize the augmentation of the amount available for expenditure for an object category designated in any schedule set forth for such appropriation in Section 2 by transfer from any of the other designated object categories within the same schedule. The Director of Finance shall present to the Joint Legislative Budget Committee assembled in meeting a report on all authorizations given pursuant to this section during the preceding quarter.

SEC. 7. The Director of Finance may authorize the augmentation of the amount available for expenditure for any object category under the schedules set forth for any appropriation in Section 2 hereof or any additional category in the amount of any funds which he estimates will be received by an officer, department, division, bureau or other agency during the 1950-51 Fiscal Year from any other state agency, from any agency of local government or the Federal Government, from any appropriation made by the Legislature or from any other source which he determines has not been taken into consideration in said schedule, or is in excess of the amount so taken into consideration.

The Director of Finance may also reduce any object category whenever he determines that funds to be received will be less than the amount taken into consideration in the schedule.

SEC. 8. Premiums for official bonds may be paid out of appropriations contained in this act, notwithstanding the period covered by such bonds.

SEC. 9. The sums that are herein appropriated for expenses of the Senate and Assembly shall be disbursed under the direction of the bodies to which they respectively belong, and shall not be subject to any of the provisions of Sections 16003 and 13320 of the Government Code; provided, that the State Controller shall not be required to draw such warrants until the original claims and vouchers, itemized and properly sworn to, are filed with him.

SEC. 10. The allocations made by Items 463, 464, 495, 496, and 497 of Section 2 of this act are subject to Section 11 of the Flood Control Fund Act of 1946 in the same manner as the allocations made by Sections 13 and 14 of that act are subject to Section 11, are made pursuant to the State Water Resources Act of 1945, and are, to the extent of such allocations, in fulfillment of the policy set forth in said act that the State will participate in the prosecution of the projects approved and authorized in said act by paying for the cooperation which is required by the acts of Congress approving and authorizing the projects. The State Water Resources Board shall determine the amounts in which each of such reallocations shall be made. The allocations made by said items shall remain available for reallocation and expenditure until June 30, 1954.

SEC. 11. The State Controller is hereby expressly prohibited from allowing any demands payable out of any appropriation herein contained, unless the same are presented in accordance with the provisions of Section 16003 of the Government Code; provided, that in instances where the duties of any state officers or board make necessary the use of moneys for purposes of a confidential nature, the State Controller may audit claims for such expense without requiring itemization or vouchers; but such claims must be accompanied by a statement of the fact surrounding the expenditure, which statement must be filed in the office of the State Controller; provided further, that the total amount so allowed for such confidential purposes from the moneys herein appropriated shall not exceed the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000), except in the case of the Attorney General's office, whose expenditures for such confidential purposes shall be governed by Sections 12572 and 12573 of the Government Code. All bills and vouchers, which shall be presented for supplies furnished or services rendered, shall be original bills and vouchers of the parties furnishing supplies and rendering services. No officer shall use or appropriate any money, appropriated by this act, for any purpose whatever, unless authorized thereto by law.

SEC. 12. Any officer, board, commission, or department for whom any appropriation is made herein, may, without at the time furnishing vouchers and itemized statements, draw from such appropriations a sum not to exceed 3 percent of the total amount appropriated for any such officer, board, commission or department. Any officer, board, commission or department for whom any appropriation is made herein, may with the permission and the approval of the Department of Finance, and without at the time furnishing vouchers or itemized statements, draw from such appropriation a sum in excess of 3 percent, but not to exceed 10 percent of the total amount appropriated for any such officer, board, commission or department. Any officer, board, commission or department for whom any appropriation is made herein, may with the permission and approval of the State Board of Control, and without at the time furnishing vouchers or itemized statements, draw from such appropriation a sum in excess of 10 percent of the total appropriated to such officer, board, commission or department.

In lieu of withdrawing from the State Treasury a revolving fund authorized under this section an officer, board, commission or department may request the State Controller to apply such amount, or any portion thereof, as repayment and return of any existing revolving fund to the appropriation from which it was withdrawn. Upon receipt of such request the State Controller shall credit the amount designated to the appropriation from which such revolving fund previously was withdrawn.

Any sums drawn under the provisions of this section without at the time furnishing vouchers and itemized statements, shall be used as a revolving fund where payment of compensation earned, traveling expense advances, traveling expense incurred or other cash payments are necessary. Any state agency that withdraws a revolving fund shall remain fully accountable therefor. All disbursements must be substantiated by vouchers filed with and audited by the Controller. Disbursements may be reported, substantiated by vouchers, from time to time to the Controller in connection with claims for reimbursement of the revolving fund. At the close of each fiscal year, and at any time upon the demand of the Department of Finance every revolving fund must be accounted for and substantiated by vouchers and itemized statements submitted to and audited by the Controller.

SEC. 13. Whenever an expenditure is authorized from the Emergency Fund, from the Salary Increase Funds, or from a special fund pursuant to Section 11006 of the Government Code, in addition to an appropriation made by this act, such authorized expenditures shall, for accounting purposes, be deemed to be an augmentation and increase of the appropriation made by this act.

SEC. 14. The appropriations under this act, unless otherwise provided, shall be subject to the provisions of Section 13320 of the Government Code requiring expenditures to be made in accordance with the allotments and other provisions of fiscal year budgets approved by the Department of Finance.

The fiscal year budget shall authorize in such manner as the Department of Finance shall prescribe all established positions whose continuance for the year is approved and all new postions. No new position shall be established unless authorized by the Department of Finance.

Each fiscal year budget shall provide for a Salary Savings Reserve to which shall be transferred on a document initiated by the agency and approved by the Department of Finance the unencumbered balance remaining in each allotment for salaries and wages at the close of each quarter or other period of time covered by the allotment. The unencumbered balance remaining in each budget allotment for salaries and wages shall be computed by deducting from the amount of the allotment the expenditures and accrued obligations for salaries and wages chargeable to such allotment for the period covered thereby. The amount in the Salary Savings Reserve shall not be available for expenditure except upon transfer to allotments for salaries and wages approved by the Department of Finance. Such transfers shall be approved only after it has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of the Department of Finance that the allotment to be augmented is insufficient to meet necessary expenditures for salaries and wages.

No money in any Salary Savings Reserve may be expended to pay increases in salary ranges established after July 1, 1950, unless the Department of Finance certifies to the State Personnel Board prior to the adoption of such increased salary range that funds will be made available to pay the increased salaries resulting therefrom.

A certification on a pay roll claim that expenditures therein are in accordance with current budgetary provisions as approved by the Department of Finance shall be sufficient evidence to the Controller that such expenditures comply with the provisions of this section.

SEC. 15. No purchase order for acquisition or replacement of motor vehicles shall be issued against any appropriation made herein until the Department of Finance has investigated and established the necessity therefor.

All passenger type motor vehicles purchased from any appropriation made by this act for the use of state employees and officers, except constitutional officers, heads of departments, and the California Highway Patrol, shall be of the light class, for example: Chevrolet; Ford 6 or 8 cylinder; Nash 600; Plymouth; and Studebaker Champion.

SEC. 15.5. All passenger type motor vehicles purchased either from any appropriation made by this act or from any other appropriation available therefor for the use of the Department of Public Works, except the head of the department, shall be of the light class, for example: Chevrolet; Ford 6 or 8 cylinder; Nash 600; Plymouth; and Studebaker Champion.

SEC. 16. The officers of the various departments, boards, commissions and institutions, for whose benefit and support appropriations are made in this act, are expressly forbidden to make any expenditure in excess of such appropriations, except the consent of the State Department of Finance be first obtained, and a certificate, in writing, duly signed by the director of said department, of the unavoidable necessity of such expenditure; and any indebtedness attempted to be created against the State in violation of the provisions of this section shall be absolutely null and void; and shall not be allowed by the State Controller nor paid out of any state appropriation. Any member of any such department, board, commission or institution, who shall vote for any expenditure, or create any indebtedness against the State in excess of the respective appropriations made by this act, except by the consent of the State Department of Finance and the certificate in this section provided to be first obtained, shall be liable on his official bond for the amount of such indebtedness, to be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction by the person or persons, firm or corporation to whom such indebtedness is owing.

SEC. 17. No money appropriated by this act shall be used to renew, or to pay for the renewal of any fire insurance on any public building or property, nor to effect or pay for any new fire insurance on any public building or property, except the property of San Francisco Harbor, the University of California, and the property referred to in Section 6 of Chapter 264, Statutes of 1933.

SEC. 17.1. None of the money appropriated by this act or for an expenditure which is supplemented from money appropriated by this act shall be used to purchase furnishings for any house or apartment of three or more rooms other than a dormitory which is rented to a state employee except for a superintendent of an institution, warden of a prison, or physicians. This provision shall not apply to the purchase of refrigerators, heaters, air conditioning equipment, stoves, linoleum, or equipment normally furnished in construction of the house as may be determined by the Board of Control. Any such funds that are appropriated by this act for this purpose shall be held intact and be reverted to the fund from which they were appropriated. It is the intent of the Legislature that no money shall be appropriated henceforth for the purpose of house furnishings. Such furnishings are not to be provided by the State nor shall any money be paid from this appropriation for their replacement, repair or otherwise except in connection with the disposal of the same.

SEC. 17.2. None of the money appropriated by this act or for an expenditure which is supplemented for money appropriated by this act shall be used to furnish rugs or carpets for any state office except those provided for the constitutional officers or the heads of departments. Any funds that are appropriated by this act for this purpose as is shown in the document entitled "State of California Budget for the Fiscal Year July 1, 1950 to June 30, 1951" submitted by the Governor to the Legislature at the 1950 Regular Session for such purchases, shall be held intact by the Director of Finance for the reversion to funds from which appropriated. Report shall be made to the Legislature of the 1951 Session as to the amount of savings that have been accumulated from this source.

SEC. 17.3. No money appropriated by this act shall be used to pay the salary of any authorized state position, which position was vacant and had been vacant or continuously unfilled during the period between October 15, 1949 and July 1, 1950, except with the specific approval of the Director of Finance subsequent to July 1, 1950.

The Director of Finance shall present to the Joint Legislative Budget Committee, assembled in meeting, a report of all authorizations to fill vacant positions pursuant to this section during the proceeding quarter and all positions abolished.

SEC. 17.5. Every appropriation made by this act that is available for expenditure for maintenance and operation of state-owned motor vehicles is subject to the limitations, restrictions and conditions set forth in this section. No money appropriated by this act shall be expended for the maintenance or operation of any motor vehicle unless the state department or agency and its employees who maintain or operate such vehicle shall have complied with the following limitations, conditions and restrictions regarding the use and operation of such vehicle:

(a) The Director of Finance shall certify monthly to each state department or agency which operates state-owned motor vehicles, the number of spaces in state garage facilities allocated to each such department or agency, and the location thereof.

Each state department or agency so notified shall assign the garage storage spaces allocated to their use to the state-owned motor vehicles under their control to make maximum use of such facilities.

(b) Within the first 10 days of each month every state employee who during the preceding month has operated a state automobile shall file a sworn statement with the Director of Finance as provided in this article.

The statement of the operator shall certify:

1. To the proper identification of each automobile operated during the preceding month.

2. That each trip made during such period was necessary in the performance of the operator's specific assignment of state duties.

3. As to each automobile which was not placed in overnight storage in a state garage facility each night while under his custody.

(i) That the vehicle was en route on an official trip, or

(ii) That the operator was leaving upon or returning from a trip away from his headquarters before or after usual office hours, or

(iii) That the duties of the operator involve the operation of a car outside of regular office hours as evidenced by a permit issued by the Director of Finance, or

(iv) That the head of the department or agency has determined that no state garage facility is available for such automobile.

(c) The Director of Finance may issue permits to state officers and employees whose duties outside of regular office hours require the use of state automobiles.

(d) Statements filed by operators of state-owned motor vehicles pursuant to this article shall be retained by the Director of Finance for one year from the date of filing.

(e) The wilful certification to any false statement or knowingly to fail to disclose any fact in a statement filed pursuant to this article shall constitute an act incompatible and inimical to the public service under Section 19572 of the Government Code, and shall constitute cause for disciplinary action pursuant to the provisions of the State Civil Service Act.

(f) The provisions of this section shall not apply to the use by elected state officers of state-owned automobiles.

SEC. 17.6. There is hereby appropriated from the General Fund the sum of thirty-two thousand three hundred eighty dollars ($32,380) to the Department of Finance to carry out the provisions of Section 17.5 of this act, relating to the use of state-owned motor vehicles. The Director of Finance may transfer any portion of this appropriation to any other state agency upon executive order in augmentation of the appropriation for support of such agency, and the State Controller shall make such transfer when the Director of Finance so authorizes.

SEC. 18. The State Board of Control upon the recommendation of the Director of Finance, may authorize the transfer of unneeded funds from an appropriation for support, for an institution, school or college within any of the following agencies to a similar appropriation for another institution, school or college within the same agency:

(a) Department of Corrections, exclusive of the Youth Authority, upon request of the Director of Corrections;

(b) California Youth Authority, upon request of the Director of the Youth Authority;

(c) Department of Education, upon request of the Director of Education;

(d) Department of Mental Hygiene, upon request of the Director of Mental Hygiene.

SEC. 19. Upon submission of claims by a state agency, with the approval of the Department of Finance, the Controller may pay, from appropriations herein made available therefor, money to the United States for costs of a project undertaken by the United States for and in behalf of, or in cooperation with, the State of California, prior to the commencement or completion of the project.

SEC. 20. If any item of appropriation in this act is vetoed, eliminated or reduced by the Governor under Sections 16 and 34 of Article IV of the Constitution while approving portions of this act, such veto, elimination or reduction shall not affect the other portions of this act and these other portions of this act, so approved, shall have the same effect in law as if any vetoed or eliminated items of appropriation had not been present in this act and as if any reduced item of appropriation had not been reduced.

SEC. 21. Whenever any of the duties, powers, purposes, responsibilities, or jurisdiction of any office, officer, board, commission, bureau or other agency of the State are transferred by law to any other office, officer, board, commission, bureau or other agency of the State, that portion of any appropriation herein made for such office, officer, board, commission, bureau or other agency of the State, intended to be used and available for the performance of such duties, powers, purposes, responsibilities or jurisdiction, upon certification by the Department of Finance as to the amount shall, by the State Controller, be transferred to, and the same shall become a part of, the funds available for the office, officer, board, commission, bureau or other agency of the State, to which the duties, powers, purposes, responsibilities, or jurisdiction of such office, officer, board, commission or other state agency have been transferred.

SEC. 22. Whenever the duties, powers, purposes, responsibilities and jurisdiction of any office, board, commission or other state agency are abolished by law the appropriation herein made for the support of such office, board, commission, or other state agency shall upon the effective date of the act abolishing such office, board, commission or other state agency revert to and become a part of the unexpended balance of the fund from which such appropriation was made.

SEC. 23. Whenever by law a change is made in the fund from which the support of any office, board, commission or other state agency is properly payable, any appropriation made herein for the support of such office, commission or other state agency, or the applicable portion thereof, shall become payable from the fund designated in that law. The State Board of Control shall determine the adjustments to be made in the appropriations provided for herein as a result of any such change in law and shall certify the same to the State Controller, who shall thereupon make the necessary entries upon his records.

SEC. 24. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act, and each section, subsection, sentence, clause, and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional.

SEC. 25. This act, inasmuch as it provides for an appropriation for the usual current expenses of the State, shall, under the provisions of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, take effect immediately."

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Senator Collier:

Senate Resolution No. 32

Relating to the allocation of federal-aid highway funds to counties

WHEREAS, The Legislature of this State after the enactment of the Federal-aid Highway Acts of 1944 and 1948 provided that 87½ percent of the funds allocated to this State under that act for secondary roads be made available to counties; and

WHEREAS, An investigation by the Senate Interim Investigating Committee on Highways, Streets and Bridges disclosed that a substantial number of counties failed to provide for the expeditious expenditure of the federal-aid funds available to them; and

WHEREAS, It appears that the failure to make use of such funds was due to a lack of advance financial and engineering planning for the improvement of the federal-aid secondary systems of county roads; and

WHEREAS, The Congress of the United States is now considering an extension of the federal-aid highway program; and

WHEREAS, If that program is extended the Legislature of this State will be called upon in 1951 to establish a basic policy with respect to the allocation and expenditure of federal-aid funds; and

WHEREAS, Although highly satisfactory progress has been made in recent years in the improvement of county roads, particularly by the expenditure for construction thereof of federal-aid funds and matching funds, many critical deficiencies remain in every county of the State and an accelerated improvement program should be undertaken at once; and

WHEREAS, The Legislature should be supplied with all the information necessary to determine the proper distribution of funds which may be made available by the proposed extension of the Federal-aid Highway Act so that an acceleration in such improvement program may be facilitated; and

WHEREAS, In the interests of such program it is necessary that the Legislature ascertain whether or not the counties are prepared to proceed expeditiously and economically with sound construction projects if the proposed federal-aid funds are made available to them; and

WHEREAS, Funds are needed for the construction and improvement of state highways, many of which are in a badly deteriorated condition; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the board of supervisors and the road commissioner of each county in the State are respectfully urged and requested to take the necessary and proper steps to select projects, establish priorities, program matching funds, and commence preliminary engineering on projects for the construction on the federal-aid secondary system of county roads for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1951; and be it further

Resolved, So that the Legislature may be properly informed, that the road commissioner and the board of supervisors of each county is each directed and requested to report to the Senate Interim Committee on Highways, Streets, and Bridges not later than November 1, 1950, the following information:

(a) Specific projects on the federal-aid secondary system which have been selected for construction;

(b) The priorities which have been designated by the board of supervisors;

(c) Preliminary estimates of the cost of each selected project;

(d) Provisions proposed to be made for matching anticipated federal-aid funds if the formula specified in the Statutes of 1949 Resolution Chapter 171 are reenacted;

(e) The stage of completion of the preliminary engineering of each project;

(f) The earliest date for which invitations to bid on the construction of each project could be advertised after funds for the construction thereof become available and approval is secured from the Bureau of Public Roads and the State Highway Engineer; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is hereby directed to send a copy of this resolution to the board of supervisors and to the road commissioner of each county in the State.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules.

SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, March 15, 1950

Hon. George J. Hatfield
Senate Chamber

Constitutional Limitation on Length of Legislative Sessions—No. 369

DEAR SENATOR HATFIELD:

Question

You have asked us whether (1) the provisions of Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution (as amended by Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 84, Proposition No. 3 of the November, 1949, Special State Election) which limit the duration of general sessions to 120 calendar days, exclusive of the constitutional recess, and the duration of budget sessions to 30 calendar days render it improper for the houses of the Legislature to "stop the clock" so as to extend the actual duration of the sessions beyond the maximum periods so specified; and (2) in the event that legislation should be passed during the period by which the duration of a session was so extended, the "enrolled bill rule" would protect such legislation from judicial inquiry into its due enactment in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution.

Opinion

We believe that

(1) Under the present provisions of Section 2 of Article IV governing the maximum duration of general and budget sessions it would be improper and violative of those provisions of the Constitution for the houses of the Legislature, or either of them, to "stop the clock" so as to extend the actual duration of a session beyond the maximum applicable period specified in the Constitution; and that

(2) While the "enrolled bill rule," to the extent that it may be applicable and may be applied by the courts, might in many instances preclude judicial inquiry into the due enactment of legislation passed during such extended period, there could readily arise instances to which that rule would not be applicable and in which it might not be applied, so that judicial inquiry into the validity and the due enactment of such legislation would not necessarily be precluded by that rule.

Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution, as amended at the Special State Election on November 8, 1949, includes the following provisions:

> "All regular sessions in odd-numbered years shall be known as general sessions and no general session shall exceed one hundred twenty calendar days, exclusive of the recess required to be taken in pursuance of this section, in duration.
> "All budget sessions shall commence at 12 m. on the first Monday in March and no budget session shall exceed thirty calendar days in duration." (Emphasis added)

These constitutional provisions have not yet been construed by the California courts. Nor have we found any cases construing the similar provision of Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution of 1849 in effect from September 3, 1862, until July 4, 1879, that "No session shall continue longer than one hundred and twenty days."

An examination of the journals of the Senate and Assembly for the legislative sessions from 1863 to 1878, inclusive, discloses that each of those sessions, except that of 1863 which continued for 113 calendar days, adjourned at midnight of the 120th calendar day. The journals further reveal that although concurrent resolutions fixing the time for adjournment sine die were adopted at the first four of those sessions, at the remaining five sessions each house adjourned sine die without any such resolution having been adopted. Thus, for example, the Assembly Journal for April 3, 1876 states (p. 705) "The hour of twelve o'clock having arrived, the Assembly of the twenty-first session adjourned sine die," and the Senate Journal for that day recites (p. 639) "At twelve o'clock midnight, the President announced that the hour had arrived, fixed by the Constitution for final adjournment, and declared the Senate adjourned sine die."

Nowhere in the journals for this period did we find any report, ruling, or reported discussion concerning the constitutional limitation on the length of the session. The practice, especially at those sessions at which no adjournment resolution was adopted, appears to indicate a recognition that it was the duty of each house to adjourn, and of the presiding officer to declare the house adjourned, at the close of the 120th calendar day.

Constitutional provisions limiting the duration of legislative sessions such as the provisions of Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution of California are not uncommon. In the state constitutions compiled by the New York State Constitutional Convention Committee in 1938, in Constitutions of the States and the United States, we find such limitations in the constitutions of Alabama (IV, 48), Arkansas (V, 17), Connecticut (XXXV), Florida (III, 2), Georgia (III, IV, par. III), Indiana (IV, 29), Kentucky (42), Louisiana (III, 8, V, 14), Maryland (III, 15, 52(D)), Minnesota (IV), Montana (V, 5), Nevada (IV, 29), New Hampshire (II, 3), New Mexico (IV, 5), North Dakota (II, 56), South Dakota (III, 6), Utah (VI, 16), Virginia (IV, 46), Washington (II, 12), West Virginia (VI, 22), and Wyoming (III, 6). Significant differences between the California limitations and those of some of the other states, apparent from the text of the provisions, are that the California provision does not purport to limit the duration of special sessions (Florida, Indiana, Louisiana, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, and Utah), does not expressly provide for the continuation of the session of one or both houses when impeachments are pending (Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Utah), and does not empower the Legislature to extend the session beyond the time limited (Arkansas [vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house], Virginia [concurrence of three-fifths of the members elected to each house], and West Virginia [concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected to each house]).

The practice of stopping the clock by legislative bodies was discussed by the Supreme Court of New Mexico in Earnest v. Sargeant (1915), 150 Pac. 1018. In that case an alternative writ of mandamus was issued to compel the state auditor to pay the salary of the relator as state traveling auditor and bank examiner. The state auditor answered, denying that the relator held such office, upon the ground that the office had been abolished by an act of the legislature passed over the Governor's veto, in reply to which the relator offered to show by evidence aliunde the journal of the Senate that the bill was passed over the Governor's veto after 12 o'clock noon of the sixtieth day of the session. He argued that the action of the Senate in so passing the bill after the expiration of the 60-day period prescribed by the constitution was illegal and void, and that hence the office had not been abolished. The court took judicial notice of the Senate journal, and found that it showed that all the proceedings, including the passage of the bill, were concluded before the close of the sixtieth day of the session, saying:

> "Even if it be admitted, for the sake of argument, that House Bill No. 294 did not pass over the Governor's veto until afternoon on the sixtieth day of the session, the consequences of allowing proof of that fact to contradict the journal would be so far-reaching and so disastrous as not to be countenanced or tolerated. It is a matter of common knowledge that legislatures almost universally do continue their sessions beyond the time fixed for their adjournment. In the stress of business during the close of a session it is impossible for any legislative body to always conclude all of its affairs. A universal practice has grown up both in the national and state legislatures to make the record speak what is not the exact truth in all cases. This is necessary in order that the will of the legislature shall not be overturned and defeated and the rights of the people embarrassed by a mere failure to conclude the important business of the legislature within an arbitrary, set time. It is a matter of common information that legislatures resort to subterfuges, and for the sake of regularity and form only often stop the clock shortly before the hour has arrived for adjournment, so that in form the adjournment actually takes place at the proper moment of time. Out of these considerations, and many others, it has come to be recognized that a legislative body has the power and the right to determine for itself when the moment of time has arrived for adjournment, and it has the power to make its journal conform to what it determines to be that moment of time. The doctrine is sound, and must not be departed from. If the journal can be contradicted about matters of this kind, then no legislation passed on the last day of the session will be of any validity whatever. A controversy might arise in time as to whether the time for adjournment had arrived before the conclusion of the business of the session, and as many differences of opinion might arise as there are members of the houses. Watches and clocks would be the criterion, and one member might claim that the hour of 12 had arrived by his watch, and another member might claim that the hour of 12 had not arrived by his watch. Therefore, when the legislature writes its journal, and states, as this journal states, that all of the business involved in this discussion had been completed before the moment of time for adjournment had arrived, the rule of law and the rule of common sense is that it shall not be contradicted by the evidence of witnesses. It may be that an exception to this rule might be founded upon a gross and flagrant violation of the constitutional restriction as to the length of the legislative session, but we have no such case before us here. No claim was made on the argument that House Bill No. 294 was passed later than shortly after 12.40 p.m. on the twelfth day of March last. The argument is that the sixtieth day of the session expired at noon on March 12th. Therefore the charge made against the validity of this bill would be that it was passed something more than 40 minutes after the noon hour had arrived. This shows, even if true, that the legislature was endeavoring to finish its business within a few minutes after 12 o'clock noon of March 12th, and shows no willful or fraudulent purpose on its part to unduly extend the session beyond the constitutional restriction." (p. 1019, 1020)

The alternative writ theretofore issued was discharged.

It does not appear that the court actually held, even though it apparently conceded for the sake of argument, that the constitutional period for the session did end at 12 o'clock noon on the sixtieth day of the session, but rather only that the bill was passed after 12 o'clock noon on the last day of the session (which day did not actually terminate until midnight). Further, while the court stated that passage of the bill more than 40 minutes after 12 o'clock noon was not a case of "gross and flagrant violation of the constitutional restriction as to the length of the legislative session," it also indicated the possibility that an exception might be made to the rule against contradiction of the journal by the evidence of witnesses in such a case, without indicating what prolongation of the session might amount to such gross and flagrant violation.

In Capito v. Topping (1909), 64 S.E. 845, the practice of stopping the clock was considered in connection with determination of the time of adjournment of the legislature of West Virginia, the issue being whether certain bills had become law without the signature of the Governor because not filed with the Secretary of State, with the objections of the Governor, within five days after adjournment of the legislature. The legislative journals showed that the legislature adjourned on February 26, 1909, but did not show the hour of adjournment. Affidavits tendered showed adjournment on February 27, 1909, at 6.40 a.m. The bills, with the Governor's objections, were filed with the Secretary of State within five days after February 27th, but not within five days after February 26th. The court held that the bills had become law, on the ground that the vetoes were not filed within five days after adjournment, refusing to admit extraneous evidence to impeach the date of adjournment shown by the journals. As to stopping the clock, the court said:

"The common practice of staying the hands of the clock to enable the legislature to effect an adjournment apparently within the time fixed by the constitution for the expiration of the term is dwelt upon in the argument as a serious trespass upon the rights of the executive in respect to the time allowed him for examination of, and action upon, bills undisposed of by him at the time of adjournment; it being pointed out that he might thus be deprived of the entire period of five days. In point of fact no serious curtailment of this period has ever occurred in the history of the state, and the assumption that it will ever occur would be a violent and highly improbable one. If it should, the resultant evil might be slight as compared with that of altering the probative force and character of legislative records, and making the proof of legislative action depend upon uncertain oral evidence, liable to loss by death or absence, and so imperfect on account of the treachery of memory. Long, long centuries ago, these considerations of public policy led to the adoption of the rule, giving verity and unimpeachability to legislative records. If that character is to be taken away for one purpose, it must be taken away for all, and the evidence of the laws of the state must rest upon a foundation less certain and durable than that afforded by the law to many contracts between private individuals concerning comparatively trifling matters. The constitution was adopted by the people, with full knowledge of the existence of this rule of evidence, and no provision was inserted to protect the Governor or any person else from its operation and effect. How can we say they did not think it better for the public to take the risk of slight, or even great, abuse or perversion of it, than to innovate upon the rule, or that they did not rightly and safely assume that no substantial encroachment would ever be made by the legislature upon the time of the executive in this way? In more than 45 years it has never yet occurred. The few hours so taken is in a practical sense no encroachment at all, since the Governor and legislature may both work at the same time. If the evil should grow and become serious, the power of remedy is in the hands of the people rather than those of the courts." (p. 847, 848)

Although the arguments here adduced would seem equally applicable in the instance of a session continued beyond the constitutional limit, the court pointed out that the date of adjournment and the date of expiration of the constitutional period of the session are different things, and the period of five days allowed to the Governor for veto purposes was expressly made to run from the date of adjournment, not the expiration of the constitutional legislative period. The case, while persuasive, is therefore not authority as to the propriety of extension of the constitutional period through the device of stopping the clock.

The only other judicial consideration of the propriety of stopping the clock which we have found is in a series of related Florida cases arising out of a single factual situation.

In State ex rel. Landis v. Thompson (Sept. 18, 1935), 163 S. 270, an information in quo warranto was filed against the respondent, requiring him to show by what authority he continued to exercise the powers and duties of a circuit judge, notwithstanding the taking effect of Senate Bill No. 4 (Chapter 17085, Acts of 1935), which abolished his office by redistricting the state into judicial circuits, providing for the appointment of circuit judges, and repealing all laws in conflict therewith. The respondent answered, averring the invalidity of the act in question on the ground (among others) that it was passed in the State Senate after 12 o'clock noon May 31, 1935 (the sixtieth day of the session) had arrived, contrary to Section 2, Article 3, of the constitution (providing "* * *

Regular sessions of the Legislature * * * may extend to sixty days * * *''), and that it was common knowledge, of which the courts would take judicial notice, that the 1935 Legislature of Florida had remained in session approximately 40 hours after the constitutional 60-day limitation had expired, for the purpose of passing legislation, and that Senate Bill No. 4 had been passed during that 40-hour period. (In this case there is no express statement that the session was prolonged under stopped clocks.) The court sustained the state's demurrer to the respondent's return, with leave to amend, saying on this point (p. 281):

> "In this connection it is pointed out that by concurrent resolution agreed to by both House and Senate, and recorded in the journals, the legislature formally resolved to terminate its regular session at noon on Friday, May 31, 1935, from which circumstance it is argued that whatever the legislature may have attempted to do in the way of passing legislation after the fixed time of adjournment at noon on May 31, 1935, was beyond its jurisdiction as a legislature and consequently void.
> "But assuming that the legislature did by a formal resolve agree on sine die adjournment at noon on the sixtieth day of its regular session, non constat the legislature, by a subsequent unrecorded resolution, or by common consent of its members, later determined to remain in session during the entire legislative day of May 31, 1935, which action on its part it undoubtedly had the constitutional right to take. Failure of a legislative body to adjourn promptly at the hour fixed in a mere legislative resolution of adjournment which fixes an agreed hour of adjournment short of the constitutional limitation of a full 60 days' session, is at most a breach of parliamentary law, and with mere violations of parliamentary rules in legislative proceedings, the courts have nothing to do, since under section 6 of articles 3 of the constitution the legislature determines upon and enforces the rules of its own proceedings that are of a purely parliamentary character. In this case no allegation is made that Senate Bill No. 4 was not in fact passed and its enactment fully completed before the legislative day of May 31, 1935, had run its course and before the legislature had thereby become functus officio under the limitation of section 2 of article 3 of the constitution. We therefore grant the state's motion to strike that part of the respondent's return which avers the alleged unconstitutional enactment of chapter 17085, supra, after the legislature had constitutionally come to an end."

From State ex rel. Landis v. Thompson (Nov. 14, 1935), 164 So. 192, it appears that the respondent thereupon filed an amended return pursuant to the leave granted, alleging, among other things (p. 195):

> "* * * that the members in attendance upon the legislature of the State of Florida upon the thirty-first day of May, 1935, illegally designing to extend the session of the legislature of the State of Florida beyond the limit of 60 days as provided by the constitution, knowingly refrained from moving for the adjournment of the session of said legislature on the said date, and, thereafter, without protest, knowingly continue to participate in the conduct of supposed legislative business pending before such legislative body for a period of approximately 28 hours after 12 o'clock midnight of May 31, 1935; that said legislators in pursuance of such illegal acts, and as a means of carrying the same into effect, adopted the subterfuge of stopping the clocks of the house and senate at the hour of 12 o'clock noon on May 31, 1935, or shortly before that time, and caused the journals of the house and senate to be falsified by showing the adjournment of both house and senate at 12 o'clock noon on said date, while in truth and in fact said legislature attempted to remain in session trying to conduct legislative business as if legally in session until approximately 4 o'clock Sunday morning, June 2, 1935, which is approximately 28 hours after midnight of May 31, 1935; that said facts are matters of general knowledge, of which this court should take cognizance; that the journals of the house and senate were so falsified in pursuance of said acts of said members of the legislature in an effort to extend the session of the legislature beyond the time limit fixed by the constitution; that on and after the hour of 12 o'clock midnight of the thirty-first day of May, 1935, the said legislature was not legally in session, and the purported records of the house and senate of proceedings had after such time are not the records of the legislature of the State of Florida but are only the purported records of an aggregation of individuals, and are without force and effect in law."

The court held that the contents of what appeared on its face to be the legislative journal could not be collaterally attacked, but that whether or not a document purporting to be the record of legislative proceedings is in truth and fact a record of such proceedings might be inquired into in a proper suit directly seeking to expunge entries alleged to be false, if it were shown that at the time the members of the legislature took the action assaulted, they had ceased to be a legislative body by operation of the constitution, or otherwise, and that there was neither legislative nor constitutional authority for including in the record items which transpired outside of legislative authority. The state's demurrer was sustained without prejudice to the respondent to institute proper proceedings to correct the legislative records, should they be shown not to speak the truth. Judgment on the state's application for writ of ouster was withheld until the further order of the court. In an opinion concurring in the reasoning of the court, Justice Davis included the following remarks:

"Now the fact is that either the 1935 Legislature was a dead legislative body on June 1, 1935, or section 2 of article 3 of the constitution was dead on that date. This is so because the constitution either means that no regular legislative session must extend beyond 60 days by the calendar, or it does not. The limited 60 days duration of the regular sessions of the legislature is thus a matter wholly beyond the jurisdiction of the legislature to enlarge, as it is a matter not controlled by any mechanically actuated scheme for the admeasurement of time, such as are the legislature's daily sittings. On the contrary, the number of days a legislature may sit is controlled entirely by the calendar and the constitution itself as much so as the calendar and the constitution operate to fix the date of the beginning of each and every regular session of the legislature as being inevitably and in every instance the first Tuesday after the first Monday in April of each odd numbered year.

To put it another way, and more succinctly, the power of the legislature to stop its clocks does not amount to a right to stop the calendar." (p. 196)

In State ex rel. Thompson v. Davis (January 25, 1936), 165 So. 379, an alternative writ of mandamus issued (upon application of Thompson) to the chief clerk of the house of representatives directing him to expunge from the journal (1) the statement that the house adjourned at 12 o'clock in the daytime on May 31, 1935, and (2) all recitals that Senate Bill No. 4 was engrossed, enrolled, authenticated and presented to the Governor before midnight on May 31, 1935, and to the secretary of the Senate directing him to expunge from the journal similar statements and recitals, and also (3) all recitals that the attempted confirmation of appointments of persons as circuit judges (pursuant to Senate Bill No. 4) occurred on May 31, 1935, was quashed as too broad, in that it undertook to embrace in the same proceeding matters concerning the records of the Senate as a participant in the executive function of making appointments and matters relating solely to the function of the Senate as a part of the legislative department of the government.

In State ex rel. Thompson v. Davis (June 9, 1936), 169 So. 199, an amended alternative writ of mandate was quashed. This writ included allegations reciting the duty of the chief clerk of the House and the secretary of the Senate to correct the journals so as to present truthfully and accurately the proceedings of the legislature; that the journals as so prepared and corrected were false in that the legislature did not adjourn sine die at 12 o'clock in the daytime on May 31, 1935, but was adjourned sine die by operation of law at 12 o'clock midnight on May 31, 1935; that Senate Bill No. 4 was not in fact engrossed, enrolled, signed, presented, and approved, as it purported to be, on May 31, 1935, but signed and presented after 9 o'clock a.m. on Saturday, June 1, 1935. The writ was quashed on the ground that it was not alleged that the bill was not passed by the legislative houses prior to the end of the constitutional 60 day period of the session, but only that it was not enrolled, signed by the proper officers, and presented to the Governor within that period; that the constitution of Florida did not require that these acts be done during the period of the session, but only within a reasonable period thereafter; that the executive record of approval of the bill and of its filing in the office of the Secretary of State on May 31, 1935, imported verity, and was sufficient to show that the bill was signed by the legislative officers and was presented to the Governor on May 31, 1935. (A vigorous dissenting opinion held that enrollment, signature, and presentation were required to be completed within the period of the session, and that the executive record was irrelevent, since the entries in the legislative journals, when correctly and not falsely made, would constitute a legislative record of equal dignity. [For an opinion of the Legislative Counsel of California concluding that, under the California Constitution, a legislative bill must be enrolled, signed, and presented to the Governor prior to final adjournment of the legislative session, see the Senate Journal for April 11, 1949, p. 1136, and the Assembly Journal for April 12, 1949, p. 1930.])

The quo warranto action of State ex rel. Landis v. Thompson considered on September 18, 1935, 163 So. 270, and November 14, 1935, 164 So. 192, appears to have been terminated on October 16, 1936, 170 So. 464. There, where the respondent's second amended return included allegations that Senate Bill No. 4 was not in fact passed by the House and Senate and its enactment fully completed before the legislative day of May 31, 1935, had ended, that Senate Bill No. 4 was not in fact passed, enrolled, and signed while the legislature was legally in session, but

> "that said legislators, in pursuance of such illegal acts and as a means of carrying same into effect, adopted the subterfuge of stopping the clocks of the House and Senate at the hour of 12 o'clock noon of May 31, 1935, or shortly before that time, and thereby extend the legislative day of May 31, 1935, indefinitely and causing the said journals of the House and Senate to omit to show the adjournment of said House and Senate shortly after midnight of May 31, 1935, while in fact and in truth said legislature attempted to remain in session trying to conduct legislative business as if legally in session until approximately 4 o'clock Sunday morning, June 2, 1935, which is approximately 28 hours after midnight of May 31, 1935; that said facts are matters of general knowledge, of which this court should take cognizance; that the journals of the House and Senate were so falsified in pursuance of said acts of said members of the legislature in an effort to extend the session of the legislature beyond the time limit fixed by the constitution; that on and after the hour of 12 o'clock noon said joint resolution aforesaid became effective, and after midnight of the 31st day of May, 1935, or a few minutes thereafter, by reason of said adjournment, the said legislature was not in session legally for any purpose, and the purported records of the House and Senate of proceedings had after such time are not the records of the legislature of the State of Florida, but are only the purported records of an aggregation of individuals, and are without force and effect in law."

the court again held that the allegations did not show that the bill had not been passed by the legislature during its 60-day regular session, but only that it was not enrolled, signed, and presented to the Governor within that period, which was insufficient to demonstrate the invalidity of the bill.

Likewise, the proceedings in State ex rel. Thompson v. Davis (mandamus for correction of the journals) which were considered January 25, 1936, 165 So. 379, and June 9, 1936, 169 So. 199, were concluded on October 16, 1936, 170 So. 122, by judgment denying the writ on the ground that the pleadings had failed to show that Senate Bill 4 was not constitutionally passed during the 60-day session of the legislature, even though it was enrolled and signed by the Governor after that time, and that the relator had therefore failed to show that the correction sought, if ordered, would be of any benefit to him.

Even though invalidity of the act considered in this series of cases was not established, nowhere in the cases did the court hold that the constitutional period for the legislative session could be properly extended through the device of stopping the clock. Rather, it would seem that if it had been shown that the bill had been voted upon on its final passage after that period, or if the court had concluded that, under the constitution of Florida, enrollment, signature, and presentation to the Governor were required to be completed prior to the expiration of the constitutional period, the court would have held the act invalid because enacted after the authority of the legislature to legislate had expired—i.e., after the legislature had become functus officio.

In view of the fact that the provisions of Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution of California limiting the duration of general and budget sessions do not empower the Legislature to extend its sessions beyond the constitutional limit, by vote of an extraordinary majority or otherwise (as do the corresponding provisions of the constitutions of Arkansas, Virginia, and West Virginia), there would seem no room for doubt that if the Legislature should attempt to extend the length of its session by formal act or concurrent resolution, such act or resolution would be held unconstitutional as in violation of the provisions of Section 2 of Article IV. Is it reasonable to suppose that, if the matter were properly brought before them in a legal controversy, the courts would permit the Legislature to accomplish by device or "subterfuge" what it could not do by formal act? We cannot persuade ourselves that they would do so. Despite the great respect with which the courts regard the coordinate executive and legislative branches of the State Government, and reluctant as are the courts to exercise any control over the legislative process, we believe that in the exercise of their duty to give effect to the provisions of the Constitution the courts would not permit the Legislature to do indirectly what it could not do directly, but would hold invalid and unconstitutional any procedure whereby the Legislature might attempt to prolong a legislative session beyond the applicable period of calendar days prescribed in the Constitution.

The "enrolled bill rule" is explicitly stated in Spaulding v. Desmond (1922), 188 Cal. 783, 790, where the court said:

> "It has long been the law of this State that, where an act has been passed by the Legislature, signed by the proper officers of the Senate and Assembly, approved by the Governor and properly enrolled and authenticated, and filed in the office of the Secretary of State, it constitutes a record which is conclusive evidence of its passage and of its terms and provisions, and that neither the journals of either house, nor the bill as originally introduced, nor any of the amendments thereof, nor parol evidence, can be received in order to show that it did not become a law in accordance with the prescribed forms or as so enrolled. (Sherman v. Story, 30 Cal. 253 [89 Am. Dec. 93]; County of Yolo v. Colgan, 132 Cal. 265 [84 Am. St. Rep. 41, 64 Pac. 403].)"

In respect to validity of enactment, as distinguished from the contents of the act, the rule is even more succinctly stated in People v. Peete (1921), 54 Cal. App. 333, 369, where, with reference to the contention that the act adding Section 1089 to the Penal Code was unconstitutional because the bill was not read on three several days in each house as required by Section 15 of Article IV of the Constitution, the court said:

> "The validity of a statute that has been duly verified, enrolled, approved and deposited in the office of the Secretary of State cannot be impeached by a resort to the journals of the Legislature or by extrinsic evidence of any character whatever."

The earliest case in which that doctrine was considered in this State seems to be Fowler v. Pierce (1852), 2 Cal. 165. In that case, application was made by a Member of the Legislature for writ of mandate to the State Comptroller requiring the Comptroller to audit and allow his claim for compensation for 37 days' services at the rate of $16 per day. The Comptroller answered that under an act of May 1, 1851, the member was entitled only to compensation at the lesser rate of $10 per day, which he was and always had been willing to audit and allow. Thereafter evidence was offered to show that the act was submitted to the Governor on May 1st, but that it was in fact approved by him on May 2d, after the adjournment of the Legislature, and the approval never reported to either house. Such evidence was held inadmissible in the lower court, and the petitioner appealed. The Supreme Court stated the question before it as follows (p. 168):

> "The question presented for our determination is different; and we are called upon to decide whether the courts of the land, to whom belong the guardianship and exposition of the laws and Constitution, have power to go behind the act itself to inquire whether the Legislature, or the executive as a component part of the legislative power, have, in passing or approving such act, violated or disregarded the mode pointed out by the organic law of the land."

The court then held "the authority to inquire beyond the record of a legislative act for the purpose of ascertaining whether the same has a constitutional existence to be incident to all courts of general jurisdiction, and necessary for the protection of public rights and liberties." (p. 170.) In explanation of its holding, the court said:

> "Courts are bound to know the law, both statute and common. It is their province to determine whether a statute be law or not. Nul tiel record cannot be pleaded; but it must be tried by the judges, who must inform themselves in any way they can; from history, general observation, the examination of parties, or such other means as are at their command. It is true that the record of the legislative act might, in the first instance, be prima facie evidence of its correctness and the court might, in doubtful cases, give the benefit of the doubt in favor of the record; but where the court was satisfied that a law had never passed according to constitutional provisions, and that it was no law in fact, what apology or excuse would be offered for enforcing its provisions? If the courts are to be stopped by the record from this inquiry, they might, as in the present instance, be compelled to administer as law that which never was law, merely because it purported to be a legislative record, when inquiry would show that it wanted one of the essential requisites of a record, viz., that it was not signed by the proper officers within the constitutional time for its approval, and was therefore wholly worthless and void.

It is said that parties would, in every case, dispute the existence of the law; and that such practice would lead to confusion and perjury. I have already said that this is a question for the court; and why should not the citizen whose life, property, or liberty is made forfeit by the operation of a particular law, be allowed to show to the court, if it is not advised of the fact, that the same was passed in violation of his constitutional rights, or that it has been placed among the archives of government by fraud or mistake, and never had a legal existence? Is there no way of ascertaining whether the approval of the executive was forged, or whether officers have acted contrary to their constitutional obligations? It is no sufficient answer that we must rely on the integrity of the executive, or other officers, and that the record of acts is conclusive evidence of the truth of such acts. Our notions of free institutions, revolt at the idea of placing so much power in the hands of one man, with no guard upon it but his integrity; and our Constitution has wisely so distributed the powers of government, as to make one a check upon the other, thereby preventing one branch from strengthening itself both at the expense of the co-ordinate branches, and of the public. Such evidence should be of the most satisfactory character; and there is less to be apprehended from the subornation of witnesses, subject to the tests which the law imposes, than from the exercise of so great power without restraint or accountability."

It further held that under the constitutional provision then in effect it was necessary that the Governor's approval be given prior to adjournment of the Legislature, reversed the judgment of the lower court, and directed it to issue the writ applied for.

This conclusion that a court has authority to look beyond the record of a legislative act (i.e., the enrolled bill on file in the office of the Secretary of State) was, however, rejected in the leading case of Sherman v. Story (1866), 30 Cal. 253, where the California Supreme Court first enunciated and applied the "enrolled bill rule," holding that where the enrolled bill, the record of the statute, exists, the court should not look behind it, and certainly not beyond the record, aided by the journals. In that case it was alleged that the bill enrolled, certified, signed by the Governor, and deposited with the Secretary of State was not the bill passed by the Legislature, in that it included several amendments proposed in the Assembly and there rejected. After a comprehensive review of cases in England and in other American jurisdictions, the court summarized them as follows (p. 276):

"The result of the authorities in England and in the other states clearly is, that, at common law, whenever a general statute is misrecited, or its existence denied, the question is to be tried and determined by the court as a question of law—that is to say, the court is bound to take notice of it, and inform itself the best way it can; that there is no plea by which its existence can be put in issue and tried as a question of fact; that, if the enrollment of the statute is in existence, the enrollment itself is the record, which is conclusive as to what the statute is, and cannot be impeached, destroyed or weakened by the Journals of Parliament or any other less authentic or less satisfactory memorials; and that there has been no departure from the principles of common law in this respect in the United States, except in instances where a departure has been grounded on, or taken in pursuance of some express constitutional or statutory provision requiring some relaxation of the rule, in order that full effect might be given to such provisions; and in such instances the rule has been relaxed by judges with great caution and hesitation, and the departure has never been extended beyond an inspection of the journals of both branches of the Legislature."

It then concluded that there was nothing in the Constitution or laws of California requiring a departure from the common-law rule.

Reasons for the rule set forth in the cases cited in Sherman v. Story (1866), 30 Cal. 253, and in the opinion of the court itself include the necessity of a stable rule by which the rights, interests, property, and peace of the citizenry may be governed, the respect due from the judiciary to the Legislature and the impropriety of questioning its acts in a collateral proceeding to which the Legislature is not a party, the fact that the officers of the legislative houses, in certifying to the enactment of a measure have the benefit of the official journals (which are prepared under their direction), the uncertainty and inaccuracy often found in the journals as a result of the haste in which they must be prepared, and the unsatisfactory nature of parole evidence, itself subject to the doubtful and conflicting recollection of witnesses, as a means of contradicting the official authentication. The enrolled bill rule is, therefore, based upon considerations of certainty, convenience, and reliability of evidence.

With reference to the decision in Fowler v. Pierce (1852), 2 Cal. 165, the court in Sherman v. Story (1866), 30 Cal. 253, stated that unless it could be distinguished, possibly on the ground that the record there involved never became a record, having been made at a time when there was nobody in existence having power to perform the act, it must be overruled.

Although the rule of Sherman v. Story (1866), 30 Cal. 253, was thereafter cited and followed in Oroville & Va. R. R. v. Supervisors (1869), 37 Cal. 354, 363, and in People v. Burt (1872), 43 Cal. 560, 564, there followed a period during which the California courts decided cases without mention of it, on the basis of facts alleged in the pleadings and disclosed by the legislative journals. Such cases, decided without mention of the enrolled bill rule, are Weill v. Kenfield (1880), 54 Cal. 111, People ex rel. Leverson v. Thompson (1885), 67 Cal. 627, Oakland Paving Co. v. Hilton (1886), 69 Cal. 479 (overruled by Oakland Paving Co. v. Tompkins (1887), 72 Cal. 5, Thomason v. Ashworth (1887), 73 Cal. 73; see also Sacramento Paving Co. v. Anderson (1905), 1 Cal. App. 672), People v. Dunn (1889), 80 Cal. 211, and People v. County of Glenn (1893), 100 Cal. 419. However, the rule of Sherman v. Story, the enrolled bill rule, was again cited in Hale v. McGettigan (1896), 114 Cal. 112, 114 (in which the court found it unnecessary to determine whether the legislative journals might be examined to impeach the validity of an act duly enrolled and deposited with the Secretary of State, since it found that in that instance it did not appear from the journals that the act in question had not been constitutionally passed), and has subsequently been consistently recognized and applied by the courts of California. (County of Yolo v. Colgan (1901), 132 Cal. 265; People v. Harlan (1901), 133 16; Parkinson v. Johnson (1911), 160 Cal. 756 (enrolled bill inapplicable because bill not filed by Governor with Secretary of State); Spaulding v. Desmond (1922), 188 Cal. 783 (resolution approving city charter); Taylor v. Cole (1927), 201 Cal. 327 (resolution approving city charter amendments); Sacramento Paving Co. v. Anderson (1905), 1 Cal. App. 672; People v. Camp (1919), 42 Cal. App. 411; and People v. Peete (1921), 54 Cal. App. 333, 369.)

In connection with the period from 1872 to 1896 during which the California courts apparently disregarded the enrolled bill rule, it is interesting to note a similar, but more pronounced, temporary reversal of judicial opinion by the Supreme Court of Iowa. That court, having for some time applied the enrolled bill rule (Davidson Bldg. Co. v. Mulock (1931), 212 Iowa 730, 235 N.W. 45), expressly rejected it in the case of Smith v. Thompson (1934), 219 Iowa 888, 258 N.W. 190, holding that the validity of an act duly enrolled may be attacked either when it appears on the face of the act that it is violative of constitutional provisions or by proof of extrinsic facts showing that some mandatory constitutional requirement has not been complied with. Twelve years later the Iowa court again reversed itself and reinstated the enrolled bill, after full and lengthy consideration (Carlton v. Grimes (1946), 237 Iowa 912, 23 N.W. 2d 883, 900).

From the California cases cited, we may conclude that in the event that the California Legislature should pass a measure after the maximum period specified by Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution for the duration of the session, and that measure should be signed by the presiding officers of both houses and the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly, presented to the Governor, and approved by him and deposited in the office of the Secretary of State, the courts of this State probably would apply the enrolled bill, and refuse to look beyond the enrolled bill on file in the office of the Secretary of State to ascertain that it was duly enacted in accordance with the requirements of the Constitution.

However, in the event that a measure were so passed during a period by which the permissible constitutional duration of the session has been extended by means of stopping the clocks, there would be no assurance that all of the conditions would exist which are necessary to make the enrolled bill applicable. The presiding officers of the houses of the Legislature, the Chief Clerk of the Assembly and the Secretary of the Senate are sworn to support the Constitution of the State of California as well as that of the United States. Should a bill be passed under circumstances which create a doubt in the mind of any of those officers that it was passed in accordance with the requirements of the Constitution, it would seem to be the duty of the officer to refrain from giving it unqualified authentication by his signature, and either to refuse to sign it, or to endorse upon it the facts and circumstances giving rise to the doubt. In such a case, there would either be no enrolled bill on file in the office of the Secretary of State (as was the factual situation in Parkinson v. Johnson (1911), 160 Cal. 756, in which mandamus was sought to compel the Governor to file with the Secretary of State a bill alleged to have become law without his signature), or the enrolled bill on file would carry on its face evidence opening the question of its due enactment to judicial consideration—i.e., "carry its death's wound in itself" (King v.

Arundel, Hobart, 249 [110, 111], quoted in Sherman v. Story (1866), 30 Cal. 253, at pp. 257 and 268).

It is equally possible that the Governor, likewise sworn to support the State Constitution, would refuse to act upon such a bill, as not having been constitutionally passed by the Legislature.

Even should all of the officers charged with authentication of bills and the Governor have no doubt as to the due passage of a measure, conceivably the question of its due passage might be raised in the courts before the enrolled bill has been deposited in the office of the Secretary of State, as by an application for an injunction to prohibit such an officer from signing the bill (though it is difficult to postulate facts which would sustain such an application).

If the question of the constitutional passage of such a bill should be presented to the courts under circumstances under which the enrolled bill rule is not applicable, it would seem that any evidence which would be competent legal evidence in a court of law in any other legal action or proceeding, including parol evidence, would be admissible to impeach its due enactment. Doubtless resort would be made to the legislative journals. It is not essential to the validity of an act that the journals should affirmatively show that every constitutional requirement for the enactment of a law has been complied with, and if the journals are silent as to the observance of any constitutional requirement, it cannot be assumed that that requirement was omitted by the Legislature (Hale v. McGettigan (1896), 114 Cal. 112, 116; People v. Dunn (1889), 80 Cal. 211). On the other hand, even affirmative entries in the journals are not conclusive as to the matters recited therein unless they are required to be made by some provision of law (Parkinson v. Johnson (1911), 160 Cal. 756, 762). We know of no provision of the Constitution or of statute which requires entry to be made in the journals either of the time of passage of particular bills or of the time of adjournment sine die. Hence, even if these matters, which relate directly to the question of the passage of a bill within the maximum periods permitted by the Constitution for the duration of general and budget sessions, should be affirmatively set forth in the legislative journals, they would not be conclusive evidence of the facts because they are not required by law to be so entered, but the facts could be shown by any other competent evidence.

We conclude, therefore, that in the event that a bill should be passed by the Legislature after the expiration of the maximum period specified by Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution for the duration of the session, the enrolled bill rule would not in every instance preclude judicial inquiry into its validity and constitutionality of enactment, and that the enrolled bill itself is not necessarily fixed, permanent, and unchanging, as demonstrated by its history in California and Iowa.

Yours very truly,

SACRAMENTO CHAPTER, AMERICAN RED CROSS
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, March 21, 1950

The Honorable Earl Desmond, State Senator
Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. DESMOND: March is American Red Cross Campaign month throughout the entire United States.

Through the permission of the State Division of Buildings and Grounds, the Sacramento Chapter has placed a small booth on the Assembly side of the Capitol Building on the second floor where donations will be accepted for this very important national service.

May I take the liberty of offering this facility for the use of Members of the State Legislature, as well as legislative representatives, in Sacramento for the current sessions of the State Legislature.

May I ask your assistance in encouraging donations from the above mentioned "part-time citizens" of your community by presenting the text of this letter on the floor of your house.

Very truly yours,

RODNEY C. RICHARDSON, Chairman

PROPERTY OWNERS ASSOCIATION OF CALIFORNIA, INC.
LOS ANGELES 15, March 17, 1950

Hon. Goodwin J. Knight
President of the Senate
Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. KNIGHT: Will you please deliver the following message to the Members of the Senate:

THAT NO NEW OR ADDITIONAL TAXES OF ANY KIND OR ANY AMOUNT ON ANYTHING BE IMPOSED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

The Legislature increased various taxes in 1949 to meet the additional cost of aid to the needy aged and blind, occasioned by the passage of Proposition 4. By the subsequent passage of Proposition 2, the State has been relieved of a substantial amount of that additional cost of which some was wiped out entirely and some transferred to the counties.

The Legislature should now pass laws to reduce the increased taxes by an amount equivalent to that which the State is relieved by Proposition 2. If it is not disposed to pass laws making such reduction, and insists on continuing to collect the increased taxes, it should at least pass a law to subvent to the counties a sum sufficient to cover the additional cost to which they will be put in carrying out the provisions of Proposition 2.

This is the demand of the thousands of home-owning members of the Property Owners Association of California, as well as that of additional thousands of home-owning followers and supporters. There has been much publicity given to the fact that the State Budget for 1950-51 has been considerably reduced, but nothing is said about reducing taxes, even by the amount of the reduction shown in the budget.

It is also stated that the budget requires no additional taxes, but as a matter of fact, due to the relief the State will get under Proposition 2, through a transfer of a portion of this cost to the counties, every property-owning taxpayer in every county in the State will have his tax bill substantially increased this fall unless the Legislature takes appropriate action.

In order that our position may be known to all Members of the Legislature it is requested that this letter be printed in the Journal.

Respectfully yours,

WM. A. PIXLEY, Chairman
Board of Directors

MOTION TO PRINT PRELIMINARY REPORT

Senator Judah moved that the following Preliminary Report of the Senate Interim Committee on Traffic and Motor Vehicle Violations be printed in the Journal.

Motion carried.

PRELIMINARY REPORT OF THE WORK ACCOMPLISHED BY THE SENATE INTERIM COMMITTEE ON TRAFFIC AND MOTOR VEHICLE VIOLATIONS UNDER S.R. 143 OF THE 1949 REGULAR SESSION

March 24, 1950

Hon. Goodwin J. Knight

DEAR SIR: On account of the interest that has been shown in the work of this committee from the very start of our activities, we are pleased to report considerable advance already in the objectives. We have had excellent cooperation from the very first from the Department of Motor Vehicles, Mr. A. H. Henderson, Director, and the Department of California Highway Patrol, Commissioner Clifford E. Peterson.

Two concrete results may be announced in this report, together worth, in the opinion of the committee, all of the money already expended out of the original appropriation of $10,000. We refer to the plan adopted at our suggestion by the Department of Motor Vehicles in filling two new positions in the department for the purpose of bringing up to date thousands of abstracts filed by the various justices of the peace, municipal judges and police court judges in the State. The importance of these abstracts lies in the information they contain and the speed with which they are filed at Sacramento, giving as they do the complete history of arrests, citations, prosecutions and final disposal of all motor vehicle cases in the State.

It can be announced now that when the committee first investigated this condition at department headquarters, it was found that the abstracts were a year and a half behind in filing. Today these abstracts as of December 31, 1949, are up to date and those now arriving are kept current in the process at the department. If the abstracts had continued to pile up, the value, particularly in the matter of information concerning repetitious offenses on the highways by certain drivers would have been of no avail and the money spent by the department in processing would have been wasted.

In addition, the committee is proud of the action of the same department in resuming a practice that was formerly utilized in the appointment of two field men who are now going through the State and helping inferior courts who need assistance in the preparation of the abstracts. These positions were vacancies.

Following three months research and preliminary gathering of data having to do with highway patrol operations and the work of the lower courts in handling the violations, the first hearing of the committee was held in Los Angeles on January 20th and 21st, 1950, at which time there were present 28 witnesses embracing eight inspectors of the California Highway Patrol Department from southern counties; Judge Roger A. Pfaff of Los Angeles, who handles probably the largest number of motor vehicle cases in the State; Superior Court Judge Mildred Lillie, herself a former municipal court judge handling motor vehicle violations, and several justices of the peace and officials of the Los Angeles Police Department. The hearing, which lasted two days, resulted in a tremendous amount of valuable information and opinions from the talented witnesses on this subject and covered information concerning present day motor vehicle problems in the way of speeding, drunken driving and methods of prosecutions in the various courts, opinions on possible code changes to improve service on the highways to guard against death and injury; evidence on permanent compulsory insurance laws, testimony concerning present day methods used in California thus far in making sobriety tests of those persons arrested for drunken driving and several other related matters. Mr. Allen Davis, representing the Southern California Automobile Club, offered suggestions on code changes. Present as witnesses were Commissioner Clifford Peterson of the California Highway Patrol and Chief E. Raymond Cato of the same department. Mr. Peterson emphasized the tremendous change in traffic density in the State and the growth in the automobile registration and the difficulty of handling highway problems without addition to his present force of patrolmen in the State.

The committee intends to recommend some type of checking on the history of motor vehicle violations to be found in the case of some persons who are arrested for violations of the code.

It should also be reported here that as a result of a huge job of correspondence with county auditors and city clerks and city managers of California, the committee has compiled the definite figures showing the amount of fines collected for the last two fiscal years as a result of motor vehicle violations. The two totals for the fiscal years 1947-1948 and 1948-1949 are as follows respectively: 1947-1948, $13,081,960.09; 1948-1949, $13,567,077.16. The committee now has a complete record of fines and forfeitures turned in throughout the State from the lower courts growing out of exclusive violations of the Motor Vehicle Code. The committee finds a prevalent practice with very few exceptions of the use of the fining system as punishment for these violations as against imprisonment for flagrant violations. The testimony of the judges at the Los Angeles hearing showed great variance regarding the attitude of the courts in utilizing jail terms instead of fines as punishment for drunken driving.

The committee proposes to hold its next hearing in the central and southern section of the San Joaquin Valley at Fresno on April 29th where the line of questioning will be dissimilar to the questions asked at the Los Angeles hearing with specific emphasis on truck offenses, including overloads and the attitudes of the courts on these offenses.

The committee is engaged at the present time through its secretary and investigator, Winnie I. Howell in a research through the National Safety Council and other outlets of the entire subject of sobriety tests for drunken drivers with the idea in mind of recommending to the Legislature in 1951 a sobriety test, which in the opinion of the committee has successfully held up under court attack in various states and which has proved effective in the case of this type of arrest. Twelve states now have several sobriety tests which are proving more or less satisfactory. In some parts of California tests are used to determine a drunken driver's condition but there is no accepted plan in the way of a sobriety test in the State for universal use by the enforcement officers in the cities or on the highways.

At the Los Angeles hearing a basic list of 13 questions was used in getting information on repeater offenses on highways; the practice of reduction of charges after arrests in the courts; the attitude of district attorneys handling motor vehicle violations; a series of opinions from all witnesses on the question of drunken drivers and the punishment; and opinions of the 90-day suspension law; and whether or not it should be restored and made part of the code; and whether or not short jail sentences should be substituted for fines in the more serious type of offenses; the use of fine money by the various cities and counties in the State and other questions along lines already discussed in this report.

Upon request of the committee, Director Henderson is now providing a monthly report beginning January 1, 1950 in which is shown a disposition of cases in every court in the State in the categories of driving when licenses are suspended or revoked; arrests where property damage only exists in the vehicles; violations of the code provision requiring drivers to give information and render aid; the offense of failing to stop and notify owner and police on striking an unattended vehicle, (Drunken Driving, Sections 502, 505 A & B of the code, Reckless Driving).

The committee feels that this specific information, when compiled for a series of months, will reveal strength or weakness in the customs of the various courts as regards types of sentences imposed for these offenses, and will give a background for changes in the code.

The committee is hopeful of receiving additional sufficient funds to conduct hearings after the present hearing at San Francisco, Sacramento, and Redding in the north.

Respectfully submitted,

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

OPINION OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

Hon. George J. Hatfield
Senate Chamber

Availability of 1949 Budget Bill appropriation for contingent expenses of Senate for purchase of rugs or carpets for Senate offices—No. 1235

DEAR SENATOR HATFIELD:

Question

Item No. 4 of the Budget Act of 1949 made an appropriation of $300,000 for contingent expenses of the Senate. You ask whether Section

16.2 of that act limits the expenditure of this item. This section provides in part that "None of the money appropriated by this act or for an expenditure which is supplemented for money appropriated by this act shall be used to furnish rugs or carpets for any state office except those provided for the constitutional officers or the heads of departments."

Opinion

It is our opinion that the expenditure by the Senate of the money appropriated by Item 4 of the Budget Act for contingent expenses is not limited by the provisions of Section 16.2 of that act, and hence may be expended to furnish rugs or carpets for offices for Members of the Senate.

Analysis

By its terms Section 16.2 of the Budget Act is not applicable to expenditures for rugs or carpets for the offices of "constitutional officers." We have no hesitancy in concluding that Members of the Senate are constitutional officers within the meaning of that term as used in this section.

Members of the Legislature are officers of the State. Rich v. I. A. C., 36 Cal. App. 2d 628. Article IV of the Constitution provides for their election, specifies their terms and duties, and fixes their salaries.

The courts of this State have on several occasions considered the meaning of the term "constitutional officer." While the exact scope of the phrase has not been specified, in Wilson v. Walters, 19 Cal. 2d 111, at page 118 the Supreme Court of this State declared that the term includes "the incumbent of an office created by the Constitution * * *." The office of Member of the Senate meets this test.

Very truly yours,

OPINION OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, March 24, 1950

Hon. George J. Hatfield
Senate Chamber

Budget appropriation for Senate contingent expenses—No. 1277

DEAR SENATOR HATFIELD:

Question

You have called our attention to the provisions of Section 4 of the Budget Bill (Senate Bill No. 1) as introduced. This section provides that whenever an appropriation in the bill is made for construction, improvements, repairs, and equipment, any construction or improvement project exceeding $10,000 in cost is subject to the provisions of Sections 3 and 12 of Chapter 145 of the Statutes of the 1946 First Extra Session (Deering Act. No. 6466). That act provides for a unified state public works construction plan. The particular sections cited authorize the State Public Works Board to determine when and whether the proposed projects shall be commenced and require annual reports to the Governor and the Legislature of progress in carrying out the building program. You ask whether this provision would be applicable to expenditures from the appropriation made by the bill for Senate contingent expenses.

Opinion

It is our opinion that the provisions of Section 4 of Senate Bill No. 1 are not applicable to the expenditure of the appropriation for Senate contingent expenses.

Analysis

Item 4 of the Budget Bill appropriates $400,000 for contingent expenses of the Senate and legislative committees thereof. This money is available for such purposes as the Senate may determine. While those purposes may properly include expenditures for what constitute construction, improvements, repairs, and equipment, the item is not limited to these purposes nor is it expressly made for those purposes.

It is our opinion that Section 4 of Senate Bill No. 1 (the provisions of which are the same as Section 3 of the Budget Act of 1949) applies only to items in the Budget Bill that are made specifically for construction, improvements, repairs, or equipment. This conclusion is substantiated by the use in Section 4 of the term construction or improvement "project." The term "project" is used in the State Postwar Construction Act of 1946, to which reference is made in Section 4, and specifically with reference to projects or buildings included in the building program submitted by the Director of Finance to the Legislature prior to the time this law was enacted. The inclusion of Section 4 in the Budget Bill appears intended to coordinate current appropriations for construction, improvements, repairs, and equipment with the unified building program established by the 1946 act. It does not appear that expenditures from the Senate contingent fund have been or are considered a part of that program.

Very truly yours,

Senate Resolution No. 32

Relating to the allocation of federal-aid highway funds to counties

WHEREAS, The Legislature of this State after the enactment of the Federal-aid Highway Acts of 1944 and 1948 provided that 87½ percent of the funds allocated to this State under that act for secondary roads be made available to counties; and

WHEREAS, An investigation by the Senate Interim Investigating Committee on Highways, Streets and Bridges disclosed that a substantial number of counties failed to provide for the expeditious expenditure of the federal-aid funds available to them; and

WHEREAS, It appears that the failure to make use of such funds was due to a lack of advance financial and engineering planning for the improvement of the federal-aid secondary systems of county roads; and

WHEREAS, The Congress of the United States is now considering an extension of the federal-aid highway program; and

WHEREAS, If that program is extended the Legislature of this State will be called upon in 1951 to establish a basic policy with respect to the allocation and expenditure of federal-aid funds; and

WHEREAS, Although highly satisfactory progress has been made in recent years in the improvement of county roads, particularly by the expenditure for construction thereof of federal-aid funds and matching funds, many critical deficiencies remain in every county of the State and an accelerated improvement program should be undertaken at once; and

WHEREAS, The Legislature should be supplied with all the information necessary to determine the proper distribution of funds which may be made available by the proposed extension of the Federal-aid Highway Act so that an acceleration in such improvement program may be facilitated; and

WHEREAS, In the interests of such program it is necesary that the Legislature ascertain whether or not the counties are prepared to proceed expeditiously and economically with sound construction projects if the proposed federal-aid funds are made available to them; and

WHEREAS, Funds are needed for the construction and improvement of state highways, many of which are in a badly deteriorated condition; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the board of supervisors and the road commissioner of each county in the State are respectfully urged and requested to take the necessary and proper steps to select projects, establish priorities, program matching funds, and commence preliminary engineering on projects for the construction on the federal-aid secondary system of county roads for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1951; and be it further

Resolved, So that the Legislature may be properly informed, that the road commissioner and the board of supervisors of each county is each directed and requested to report to the Senate Interim Committee on Highways, Streets, and Bridges not later than November 1, 1950, the following information:

(a) Specific projects on the federal-aid secondary system which have been selected for construction;

(b) The priorities which have been designated by the board of supervisors;

(c) Preliminary estimates of the cost of each selected project;

(d) Provisions proposed to be made for matching anticipated federal-aid funds if the formula specified in the Statutes of 1949 Resolution Chapter 171 are reenacted;

(e) The stage of completion of the preliminary engineering of each project;

(f) The earliest date for which invitations to bid on the construction of each project could be advertised after funds for the construction thereof become available and approval is secured from the Bureau of Public Roads and the State Highway Engineer; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is hereby directed to send a copy of this resolution to the board of supervisors and to the road commissioner of each county in the State.

Resolution read, and on motion of Senator Collier, adopted.

Request for Unanimous Consent

Senator O'Gara asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following explanation of his vote against Senate Joint Resolution No. 1 printed in the Journal:

Explanation of Vote of Senator O'Gara Against Senate Joint Resolution No. 1

I feel certain that most of the individuals and organizations who are supporting this repealer are motivated by the greatest sincerity and a genuine desire to do what is best for our Country.

On the other hand, I insist that we give equal credit for good faith and patriotism to those who are opposed to this rescinding resolution, and who believe that world federation is well worth investigating.

Seven men who are leading this movement in San Francisco are: Allard A. Calkins, a Republican, and President of the Anglo-California National Bank; James K. Moffitt, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Crocker First National Bank; Frank W. Fuller, Jr., a Republican, Director of W. P. Fuller Company; Adrien J. Falk, a Republican, President of S. & W. Fine Foods, Inc., and a past president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce; Thomas Coakley, an attorney who specializes in representing employers in labor relations matters, and a past president of the San Francisco Bar Association; Walter S. Johnson, a Republican, President of American Box Corporation; Garret McEnerney, II, a noted corporation lawyer and past president of the Board of Education of San Francisco under the administration of Mayor Roger D. Lapham.

All these men, bankers, corporation lawyers, and industrialists, are practical, successful men. They are men of means with a great stake in the preservation of capitalism and our American way of life.

My own position is this: I am not committed to any specific plan of world government. I favor exploring the entire question as provided by Assembly Joint Resolution No. 26. The whole issue in this matter has been very well stated by one of California's finest Republican newspapers, the San Francisco Chronicle, in an editorial March 21st. I quote:

> "We don't believe any of the several groups advocating one kind of world government and another has all the answers, or even a substantial part of them. On principle, we would register a flat 'No' vote against any plan we have seen, if it were put up to us now on a take it or leave it basis.
> "But that isn't what is being proposed at Sacramento. The effort at Sacramento is to get the whole Nation to thinking earnestly about this matter—to considering whether the world situation demands that we do something about it now, and if so what; or whether we ought to take a good deal more time to the problem.
> "We find nothing 'iniquitous' or 'nefarious' about this. In fact, we can find no basis in common sense for refusing to face up to the fact that we are saddled with a problem that has to be solved, one way or another, if we are to survive.
> "We do not favor 'peace at any price,' but we are earnestly in favor of discovering the least price we must pay for a kind of peace consistent with American freedom."

That expresses my views.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Senator Swing:

Senate Resolution No. 35

Relative to the creation of an Interim Committee on State Pensions to study and report upon the proposed constitutional amendment concerning the pensions for the aged and blind, the purpose and effect of such constitutional amendment, the method of financing such pensions, including licensing, wagering and campaigning; and such campaign as may be conducted with reference to such constitutional amendment

WHEREAS, There will appear upon the ballot at the next general election an initiative constitutional amendment relating to pensions for aged and blind and legalizing and providing for licensing and taxing wagering and gambling as a means of raising money to support such pensions; and

WHEREAS, The State of California is deeply concerned with providing proper pensions for its aged and blind citizens and it is also concerned with the proper means of raising funds to pay such pensions, and with the proposals to license wagering and gambling; and

WHEREAS, It appears that the election to be held upon such initiative constitutional amendment will be enthusiastically advocated and bitterly contested, that there is danger that illegal and improper campaign methods may be used both for and against such proposal; and

WHEREAS, It is important that accurate information concerning the said amendment and of and concerning pensions for aged and blind and the licensing of wagering and gambling and the effect it may have on sources of revenue be made available to the people of the State in order that they may be able to vote intelligently upon the proposed initiative constitutional amendment and to the Legislature in order that it may provide adequate pensions for the aged and blind, that it can make provision for paying such pensions, and also in order that it may legislate intelligently upon all questions relating to licensing wagering or gambling or any other method of raising funds if and when authorized by said amendment, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of California, as follows:

1. That a Senate Interim Committee on Initiative Legislation for Legalizing Gambling for Support of Pensions for the Blind and Aged is hereby created.

2. The committee is authorized and directed to study, ascertain, analyze and report upon all facts relating to the proposed initiative constitutional amendment relating to pensions for aged and blind and the support of such pensions by licensing and taxing wagering and gambling. The committee is also authorized and directed to study, ascertain, analyze and report upon state pensions of any or all kinds and means of supporting them, and to the regulation, licensing and taxing of wagering and gambling of all kinds, and to any question deemed by the committee to be pertinent thereto.

3. The committee is authorized and directed to study, analyze and report upon the need of the proposed initiative constitutional amendment and what its effect will be.

4. In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Assembly Bill No. 3:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, March 30, 1950

To the Honorable Members of the Senate
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN:

Assembly Bill No. 3 of the 1950 Budget Session, "An act to amend Sections 916.1 and 917.3 of the Agricultural Code, relating to fees for testing, examining, and certifying seeds", in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

This bill is approved by the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Finance as a means of making the testing and certifying of seeds a self-supporting function, and it is desirable that it be enacted at the present Budget Session.

I therefore recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 3 of the 1950 Budget Session as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted,

EARL WARREN, Governor

Manufacturing Milk—No. 2

DEAR SENATOR HATFIELD: You have asked us the following three questions regarding milk used for manufacturing purposes:

I. What states, if any, have statutes which provide for the fixing of floor prices for manufacturing milk?

II. What are the comparative requirements of the various states governing the production of manufacturing milk?

III. Would the constitutional basis for sustaining the validity of the fixing of floor prices for milk for human consumption (Nebbia v.

New York, 291 U. S. 502) be the same in all respects as for the fixing of such prices for manufacturing, or would there be different factors to consider, and, if so, what factors?

I.

We have examined the laws of all of the states and have found that 18 of them, not including California, have laws which provide for the fixing of milk prices. Those states are: Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Montana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont, and Virginia.

Of those 18 states only four specifically refer to manufacturing milk; three including such milk within the price fixing provisions, and one excluding it.

Of the three states which specifically include manufacturing milk within the price fixing provisions, Pennsylvania provides that the fixing of prices to be paid by milk dealers or handlers to producers for milk to be used solely in manufacturing shall be discretionary with the Milk Control Commission. Of the remaining two states, Maine provides that the Milk Control Board shall have power to establish and change, after public hearing, minimum prices to be paid to producers by dealers for milk received, purchased, stored, manufactured, processed, sold, distributed, or otherwise handled within the state, and Massachusetts provides that the Milk Control Board shall fix the minimum prices to be paid by dealers to other dealers, and to producers and consumers for milk received, purchased, stored, manufactured, processed, sold, distributed, or otherwise handled within the commonwealth.

Utah, in defining what milk and cream is subject to price regulation, specifically excludes milk and cream which is used for manufacturing purposes.

Of the remaining 14 states, 10, Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, and Vermont, have laws which are broad enough to permit the designated price fixing agency to fix the price of manufacturing milk. The law of each of these states, except Louisiana, is characterized by a definition of milk which is broad enough to include manufacturing milk and a power given to a designated board or official to fix prices for milk according to its various grades and classes, or according to its various grades, classes, or usages. The tenth state, Louisiana, provides for the fixing of milk prices to producers on the basis of the amount of butterfat contained therein. (Since no power is given to grade or classify milk it would seem that all milk containing the same amount of butterfat is to receive an equal price regardless of usage.)

The remaining states, Michigan, Montana, Oregon, and Virginia all define that milk which is subject to price regulation in such a manner that manufacturing milk is excluded.

We enclose a memorandum of citations to, and extracts from, the various state laws which provide for regulating the price of milk.

II.

Our search of the various state laws relating to the production of milk has revealed that only a few states have statutes which provide express standards applicable only to manufacturing milk. In most instances the statutes specify certain minimum requirements for the production of milk. These requirements are ordinarily made applicable to manufacturing milk by a statutory definition of "milk" which is broad enough to cover such milk as well as that which is used for fluid consumption.

Beyond these minimum requirements, however, manufacturing milk is not subject to the same requirements as milk used for fluid consumption inasmuch as milk for fluid consumption is ordinarily classified and graded to meet additional statutory standards governing production, handling, cooling, bacterial count, pasteurization, bottling, etc. Typical of such classes and grades of milk are grades A, B, C, and D milk, certified milk, sterilized milk, pasteurized milk, homogenized milk, modified or blended milk, and vitamin D milk.

In addition to the minimum requirements established for milk, many states provide additional standards for milk which is to be manufactured into a particular product. Such standards are most commonly provided for milk which is to be manufactured into butter or cheese. Examples of such statutes are those which provide that milk and cream used in the manufacture of butter (or cheese) must be pasteurized, and those which provide that such milk and cream must come from disease-free cows.

We are enclosing a memorandum which contains the laws of the various states, excluding California, which provide standards for manufacturing milk generally.

III.

It is our opinion that the constitutional basis for sustaining the validity of the fixing of minimum prices for manufacturing milk would be the same as the constitutional basis for sustaining the validity of the fixing of prices for milk consumed in fluid form.

The power of a state to regulate the milk industry in general, and to fix prices for milk in particular, rests upon the power of a state to legislate to protect and foster public health and welfare. As far as the exercise of this power (the police power) by a state is concerned, we see no difference in principle between a law fixing the price of milk to be used for fluid consumption and one fixing the price of milk to be used for manufacturing purposes.

In each particular case, however, a state must exercise its police power in a constitutional manner. Thus state statutes providing for the fixing of milk prices have been assailed as violating the equal protection and due process clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution and as being an unconstitutional delegation of the legislative power.

The first case which upheld a state statute which provided for the fixing of milk prices was Nebbia v. New York, 291 U. S. 502. In that case the court, on page 525, states:

> "The Fifth Amendment, in the field of federal activity, and the Fourteenth, as respects state action, do not prohibit governmental regulation for the public welfare. They merely condition the exertion of the admitted power, by securing that the end shall be accomplished by methods consistent with due process. And the guaranty of due process, as has often been held, demands only that the law shall not be unreasonable, arbitrary, or capricious, and that the means selected shall have a real and substantial relation to the object sought to be attained. It results that a regulation valid for one sort of business, or in given circumstances, may be invalid for another sort, or for the same business under other circumstances, because the reasonableness of each regulation depends upon the relevant facts."

In determining whether or not any given state statute is reasonable in nature and reasonably calculated to attain the desired result the great variety of complex economic factors which govern supply and demand must be considered. These factors may vary from one state to another or in a particular state as between milk which is used for fluid consumption and milk which is used for manufacturing purposes, but the over-all constitutional question remains the same.

As far as constitutional questions other than due process are concerned, an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power is avoided in this case, as in others, when the Legislature sets out sufficient guides and standards for administrative action, and objections based on the equal protection clause are met by avoiding unreasonable distinctions and arbitrary classifications.

In this connection it is interesting to note that in the case of Rock-McJunkin Dairy Company v. Milk Control Commission, 18 A. 2d 868, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court upheld the provisions of the Pennsylvania statute which gave the Milk Control Commission discretion as to whether or not they should fix prices to be paid for milk to be used solely in manufacturing. The attack on this statute was made only on the discretionary nature of the grant of power, both counsel and court apparently assuming that there were no other constitutional objections to the statute.

With particular reference to the provisions of the California Constitution, the California Supreme Court in Jersey Maid Milk Products Co. v. Brock, 13 Cal. 2d 620, held that the provisions in the Agricultural Code dividing the milk industry into two categories, the market or fluid milk industry and the manufacturing milk industry, did not violate the constitutional provisions, Sections 11 and 21 of Article I, prohibiting special legislation and lack of uniformity in the operation of the law.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

II. That state which specifically excludes manufacturing milk from the price regulation.

1. Utah. Utah Code Annotated, Volume 1, Title 3, Chapter 10a.

A. Milk Control Act, Sections 3-10a-1 to 3-10a-12.

Section 3-10a-4 provides that the Board of Agriculture shall have power to provide, fix, and regulate a minimum market price for market milk. Market milk as defined in Section 3-10a-3 means fluid milk and cream sold for consumption as such and shall not include milk used for manufacturing purposes.

B. Milk and Cream Marketing Act, Sections 3-10a-13 to 3-10a-41, inclusive.

Section 3-10a-23 authorizes the local control board to establish minimum prices to be paid for fluid milk and fluid cream. Fluid milk and fluid cream as defined in Section 3-10a-14 specifically excludes milk and cream which is to be used for manufacturing purposes.

III. Those states with laws which are broad enough to include manufacturing milk within the price fixing provisions.

1. Alabama. Code of Alabama, 1940, Title 22, Chapter 7, Sections 205 to 231, inclusive.

Section 206 defines milk as "the lacteal secretion of a dairy animal or animals which includes such secretions when cultured, standardized, or otherwise processed for the purpose of sale as milk, cream, buttermilk, skimmed milk, and flavored milk drinks."

Section 223 authorizes the Milk Control Board to fix the minimum price or prices within the milk shed to be paid by milk dealers, producers, distributors, and producer-distributors to producers and others for milk in its various grades and uses as the board may determine.

Section 223 further provides that the board may, when it deems necessary, fix a lesser price for milk which is produced in excess of what is needed for fluid milk consumption.

2. Connecticut. General Statutes of Connecticut, Revision of 1949, Volume 2, Title 21, Chapter 143, Sections 3112 to 3174, inclusive.

Section 3118 provides that the milk administrator shall have power to investigate and regulate all phases of the milk industry, including the production, handling, transportation, manufacture, storage, distribution, purchase, and sale of milk and milk products.

Section 3120 authorizes the administrator to fix minimum prices paid to producers.

Section 3128 which specifies the terms of price orders provides that a price order may classify milk in accordance with or purpose for which it is used; and fix minimum prices for each such use classification which all dealers (the term "dealer" includes a manufacturer, Section 3113) shall pay for milk received or purchased from producers.

3. Florida. Florida Statutes, 1941, Chapter 501, Sections 501.01 to 501.23, inclusive.

Section 501.02 provides that milk means "liquid milk or cream, fresh, sour, or storage, and condensed or concentrated whole milk, except when contained in hermetically-sealed cans, originally obtained from the complete milking of one or more healthy cows."

It further provides that each order may classify milk by forms, classes, grades, or uses as the commission may deem advisable and may specify the price therefor.

Section 2 provides that milk includes "raw milk, pasteurized milk, cream, buttermilk, flavored milk, ice-cream mix and reconstituted milk."

Section 19 provides that the Milk Control Board may fix the minimum and maximum prices for milk, which prices may vary according to the kind, grades or classes of milk; the uses thereof, and the type of sales thereof.

5. Louisiana. Acts, State of Louisiana, Regular Session 1946—Extra Session, 1945, p. 528.

Section 2 authorizes the Milk Commission to regulate the purchasing, buying or receiving of milk and cream on the basis of its butter fat content.

Section 12 provides that the Milk Commission shall ascertain after a hearing the logical and reasonable price to be paid the producer for his milk in any marketing area in the state covered by a federal milk marketing agreement or order, and shall ascertain and maintain such prices for milk in the respective federal marketing areas as will be most beneficial to the public interest, etc. (Since no power is given to grade or classify milk according to its uses, it would seem that all milk containing the same amount of butter fat is to receive an equal price regardless of its use.)

6. New Hampshire. Revised Laws of New Hampshire, 1942, Volume 1, Chapter 196.

Section 1 defines milk as "fluid milk, cream, skim milk, or buttermilk, fresh, sour, or storage, irrespective of whether or not such milk is flavored."

8. New York. Baldwin's New York Consolidated Laws, 1938, Agriculture and Markets Law, Article 21, Sections 252 to 258-n; Baldwin's Consolidated Laws, Decennial Supplement, 1948, Volume 1, page 134 or page 36 of Article 21 on milk control.

Section 254 gives the Department of Agriculture power to supervise and regulate the entire milk industry of the state, including the production, transportation, manufacture, storage, distribution, delivery and sale of milk and milk products.

Section 258-m provides for fixing minimum prices to producers.

Section 258 m, Subdivision 3, provides that the commissioner shall fix prices to producers on the basis of the use thereof in the various classes, grades and forms.

9. Rhode Island. General Laws of Rhode Island, 1938, Chapter 215; Public Laws of Rhode Island, 1939-40, page 1154.

Section 4(c) authorizes the Milk Control Board to establish minimum wholesale and retail prices to be charged for milk purchased, received, processed, or sold within the state. This section prior to being amended in 1940 authorized the board to establish minimum wholesale and retail prices to be charged for milk distributed within the state for fluid consumption. The 1940 amendment thus indicates that the legislature does not intend to limit the price fixing provisions to milk distributed for fluid consumption only).

10. Vermont. Vermont Statutes, Revision of 1947, Chapter 230, Sections 4823 to 4843, inclusive.

Section 4824 defines milk as "fluid milk, cream, skim milk, or buttermilk, fresh, sour, or storage, irrespective of whether or not such milk is flavored."

Section 4827 authorizes the Milk Control Board to fix a just and reasonable minimum or maximum price, or both, which shall be paid producers by distributors, and the prices charged consumers and others by distributors.

Section 4828 provides that the board may accept established and defined classes and grades or may establish such classes and grades, and specify to what classes or grades the prices fixed pursuant to Section 4827 shall apply.

IV. Those states which, by implication, exclude manufacturing milk from price regulation.

1. Michigan. Compiled Laws of Michigan, 1929, Mason's 1943 Supplement, Volume 6, Chapter 89, Sections 5394.111 to 5394.156, inclusive.

Section 5394.114 defines milk as "the lacteal secretion of dairy animals, whether such secretion be raw, cultured, pasteurized, standardized, or otherwise processed to render the same fit for human consumption in fluid form, including cream, buttermilk, skimmed milk, flavored milk and cottage cheese, processed or manufactured from the surplus thereof."

Section 5394.121 a provides that the Milk Marketing Board shall supervise and regulate the entire milk industry of the State, exclusive of the manufacture of milk products not sold or intended to be offered for sale as "milk." This power extends to the supervision and regulation of the pricing and sale of the entire product of dairy animals to the extent that the same is offered for sale or is available in the form of "milk."

2. Montana. Laws of Montana, 1939, Chapter 204, page 512.

Section 3 provides that milk means "fluid milk and cream sold for consumption as such."

3. Oregon. Oregon Compiled Laws Annotated, Volume 4, Title 34, Chapter 10.

Section 34-1001 defines milk as "fluid milk and sweet cream sold for human consumption in fluid form."

Section 34-1012 provides that the milk control board shall fix the minimum wholesale and retail prices to be charged for milk handled and sold within the State for human consumption in fluid form.

4. Virginia. Virginia Code of 1942, Annotated, Sections 1211w to 1211mm, inclusive.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

OPINION OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, March 8, 1950

Hon. George J. Hatfield
Senate Chamber

Insurance of Veterans' Farms and Homes—No. 1090

DEAR SENATOR HATFIELD:

Question

We have your request of March 2, 1950, asking whether insurance purchased by or through the Department of Veterans Affairs on property being purchased from the department for veterans' farms and homes may be exempted from the provisions of Chapter 9, Part 2, Division 1 of the Insurance Code (Sections 1850 to 1860.3, inclusive), relating to rates and rating.

Opinion

In our opinion the Legislature may determine that such insurance is of a distinct class which would justify its exemption from the general law upon the subject.

Analysis

The purposes of the chapter are stated in Section 1850.

"1850. The purpose of this chapter is to promote the public welfare by regulating insurance rates as herein provided to the end that they shall not be excessive, inadequate or unfairly discriminatory, to authorize the existence and operation of qualified rating organizations and advisory organizations and require that specified rating services of such rating organizations be generally available to all admitted insurers, and to authorize cooperation between insurers in rate making and other related matters * * *"

The question of exempting insurance upon property being purchased from the Department of Veterans Affairs arises out of Article I, Section 11, and Article IV, Section 25, of the Constitution.

Article I, Section 11, reads "All laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation."

Article IV, Section 25, reads in part:

"The Legislature shall not pass local or special laws in any of the following enumerated cases, that is to say: * * *

"Thirty-third—In all other cases where a general law can be made applicable."

The courts have frequently declared that the distinction between a general and special law is that a law is general when it applies equally to all persons embraced in a class founded upon some natural, intrinsic, or constitutional distinction, or is special legislation if it confers particular privileges, or imposes peculiar disabilities or burdensome conditions, in the exercise of a common right, upon a class of persons arbitrarily selected from the general body who stand in precisely the same relation to the subject of the law (City of Pasadena v. Stimson (1891), 91 Cal. 238; Matter of Miller (1912), 162 Cal. 687).

Under this rule, it is apparent that the constitutional prohibitions of special legislation do not preclude legislative classification but only require that the classification be reasonable (In re Welling (1939), 12 Cal. 2d 591; Barker Bros., Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (1938), 10 Cal. 2d 603).

In any attack upon a classification made by the Legislature there is a presumption that the enactment is valid, and the burden of showing arbitrary action rests upon the one who assails the classification. If any state of facts reasonably can be conceived that would sustain the classification, it is presumed that such facts exist (People v. Western Fruit Growers (1943), 22 Cal. 2d 494).

It appears to us that many such facts can be found in the case of insurance upon property being purchased from the Department of Veterans Affairs for farms and homes for veterans.

Veterans have been held to constitute a distinct class justifying the enactment of legislation to assist them in the acquisition of farms and homes (Veterans' Welfare Board v. Riley (1922), 188 Cal. 607).

Property purchased under the Veterans' Farm and Home Purchase Act is required to be the residence of the purchaser (Secs. 822 and 987.2 Military and Veterans Code). It is restricted to one-family dwellings. It must meet certain standards of construction. Each risk is for a modest amount. The property is spread throughout the State. The insurance is purchased through the department under a master contract, which eliminates many of the expenses of administration. Adjustments are made through the board. Many of these features are distinctive to property purchased from the department. They and others serve to differentiate the costs and hazards of such insurance from those of insurance generally.

It consequently appears to us that the classification is valid and the Legislature may exempt such insurance from the general act relating to discriminatory rates.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel
By JOSEPH L. KNOWLES, Principal Deputy

Amendment No. 2

On page 1 of said bill, strike out line 6, and insert

"35. The department may, with the approval of the Department of Finance, purchase or otherwise acquire real property and may construct and equip buildings thereon and make improvements to such property, buildings, and equipment.

35.1. When there are moneys available in the Department of Agriculture Fund or in other funds subject to the jurisdiction of the Director of Agriculture not required to meet any demand which has accrued or may accrue against such funds, the Controller, upon executive order of the Director of Finance, shall transfer the sum designated by the Director of Agriculture from the funds available in the Department of Agriculture Fund or in such other funds to the Department of Agriculture Building Fund, which fund is hereby created within the State Treasury.

All rentals collected under the provisions of this article shall be deposited in the Department of Agriculture Building Fund.

All moneys in the Department of Agriculture Building Fund are hereby appropriated without regard to fiscal years to carry out the provisions of this article, including the costs of operation, maintenance, repairs, and other reasonable and necessary expenses of said buildings or improvements.

No money may be taken from said Department of Agriculture Fund or other funds under the jurisdiction of the director for transfer to the Department of Agriculture Building Fund when such taking will interfere with the administrative purposes for which such funds were collected.

35.2. Any buildings or improvements constructed by the department under this article shall be primarily for the occupancy of commissions, divisions, bureaus, advisory boards, and services supported from the funds from which money is expended for the construction of buildings or improvements, and shall be subject to the administration and supervision of the department in accordance with rules and regulations which may be established by the department and approved by the Department of Finance. Such rules and regulations shall be comparable to those for the administration and supervision of other state-owned buildings.

Any buildings or improvements provided by the department under the provisions of this article may contain space in excess of the requirements of the department and, until needed, may be leased or let by the department at such rental and upon such terms and conditions as may be approved by the Department of Finance, provided that rentals charged shall be sufficient to provide a reasonable return to the Department of Agriculture Fund or other fund subject to the jurisdiction of the director for any contributions made for the cost of the construction of such buildings or improvements until the entire amount contributed therefrom, together with a reasonable interest thereon, has been returned.

At least annually and oftener if the amounts collected should warrant, there shall be returned from said Building Fund to the Department of Agriculture Fund and to such other funds from which contributions were made to defray the cost of the buildings, equipment, and facilities, such amounts as are not necessary to meet the financial requirements of the Department of Agriculture Building Fund; the returnable amounts to be determined by the department, with the approval of the Department of Finance, and not to exceed the amount of the original contributions from the respective funds; provided, however, that interest may be paid on said contributions in the manner and amount determined by the department with the approval of the Director of Finance.

During the period of repayment, the department may contract with the Department of Finance to handle the rentals of any space over and above that required for the department and to furnish general supervision and maintenance in any buildings or improvements constructed under the provisions of this article.

35.3. The director shall allocate space to the commissions, divisions, bureaus, advisory boards, and services comprising the department or agencies subject to its jurisdiction supported from funds from which money is expended for the construction of buildings or improvements, and shall charge a rental therefor until such time as the contributions made from the Department of Agriculture Fund or other funds subject to the jurisdiction of the director have been repaid as provided in this article. The occupancy of any space not required by the department for the commissions, divisions, bureaus, advisory boards, and services herein mentioned shall be confined to that of other functions of the department, of other state agencies, of official agencies cooperating with the department under agreement, or of official agricultural agencies of the State or county and comparable rentals shall be charged for such space.

35.4. When all funds have been reimbursed for contributions made for the construction and equipping of any buildings or facilities under the provisions of this article, the Department of Finance shall assume control of the operation and management of said buildings, improvements or facilities, provided, however, the Department of Agriculture shall have priority to occupy any space within said buildings before such space is leased or let to any other agency and at rental rates comparable to those charged to other state agencies for comparable facilities in other state owned buildings.

35.5. Upon the completion of any buildings or improvements constructed under the provisions of this article and fulfillment of the obligation to reimburse the Department of Agriculture Fund or other funds subject to the jurisdiction of the director in accordance with the provisions of this article, then any unused balances in the Department of Agriculture Building Fund shall, on order of the Controller upon request of the director, be transferred to the General Fund.

35.6. As used in this article "fund" includes any account in a fund consisting of money derived from different sources for different purposes."

Respectfully,

Letter of Transmittal

ASSEMBLY, CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE

March 20, 1950

Hon. Goodwin Knight, President of the Senate
Senate Chamber, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT: Your committee appointed, pursuant to Concurrent Resolution No. 12, of the First Extraordinary Session, 1949, to study lobbyist activities and to recommend legislation which would prevent improper practices and their corroding and corrupting effect upon the legislative process. As instructed, it has studied the various measures introduced at the last special session, and legislation in effect in other states.

The committee has felt it its duty to recommend legislation designed to effectively regulate the activities of the professional advocate because by universal consent the measure hurriedly enacted by the Legislature in December is unsatisfactory. Every witness appearing before the committee acknowledged that he or she was unable to understand what the present act did or did not do. Likewise a number of the leading law reviews of the Country have pointed out that the federal act, from which the important provisions of the present state law was copied verbatim, is self-contradictory, ambiguous, and probably unenforceable as a penal statute. The analysis made for the committee by the Legislative Counsel is much to the same effect.

It has been suggested that this law should be permitted to remain on the books. Your committee feels, however, that public interest is not served by the retention of ambiguous and self-contradictory legislation. It deems it its duty therefore to recommend a more workable and effective law.

The bill which your committee recommends will require all those who, for compensation, purport to influence legislation:

1. To disclose for whom they act and to register with the Secretary of State.
2. To report monthly during every legislative session, under oath, to the Secretary of State, all sums spent by them for the purpose of influencing legislation.
3. To report to the Secretary of State any employment by them of any member of the Legislature, or any employment of legislators by their principal, of which they have knowledge.

The bill will prohibit the employment of an advocate on a contingent basis. It sets up a comprehensive series of regulations to which legislative representatives will be required to conform, or lose their right to act as legislative advocates.

The bill provides for an enforcement agency, with full powers of investigation and subpena. It is made the duty of such agency to enforce the obligations of a legislative advocate as set forth in the bill.

Integrity and decency cannot be achieved by passing a law, but the committee feels that if this legislation is passed it will go a long way toward correcting the most obvious abuses which have aroused public indignation, create a better climate in which the Legislature may function, and create a greater degree of public responsibility on the part of legislative advocates.

The committee has concluded that only confusion can result from an attempt to cover, in a measure designed to regulate the activities of professional lobbyists, the subject of corrupt practices by some segments of the electorate, and the subject of what activities a Member of the Legislature may properly engage in. Any attempt to control the political activities of citizens, or organizations of citizens, presents delicate and difficult problems which require more extended study than this committee can give them. Likewise, so long as men active in business and the professions constitute the membership of the Legislature, penal legislation limiting the business which they may accept, or the professional services which they may render, involve problems with which this committee has not attempted to deal.

Any attempt to cover all these subjects in one bill can only result in unsatisfactory legislation. Also an attempt to cover so broad a field in one bill would be the surest way to insure its defeat by those who want no regulation of lobbyists.

It is the unanimous opinion of the committee that it was directed to devote its investigation to reporting a workable and enforceable law regulating lobbyists. Members of the Legislature, as individuals, have introduced or may introduce bills covering these bills may more properly be considered before standing committees of the Legislature.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS M. ERWIN
ROBERT C. KIRKWOOD
AUGUSTUS F. HAWKINS
EDWIN J. REGAN
J. HOWARD WILLIAMS

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Senator Swing asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following analysis of the Legislative Counsel regarding the decision in Southern California Jockey Club v. California Horse Racing Board printed in the Journal:

OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

Analysis of Decision in Southern California Jockey Club v. California Horse Racing Board, et al. District Court of Appeal, Second District, Division Two 2d Civ. No. 17437, filed March 24, 1950

This was an appeal from the Superior Court of Los Angeles County. The appellant had filed an application under Section 19480.5 of the Business and Professions Code with the California Horse Racing Board seeking the determination of that board that conducting racing meetings at its proposed track at Puente would be in the public interest and subserve the purposes of Chapter 4, Division 8 of said code, which relates to horse racing.

Section 19480.5 provides that no license to conduct a horse racing meeting shall be granted for a track which had not operated prior to July 1, 1941 unless, prior to the beginning of the construction of the track, such determination had been made by the board.

The board determined and ruled that the applicant had failed to establish that the conducting of racing meetings at the place mentioned would be in the public interest and would subserve the purpose of the chapter of the code relating to horse racing. The applicant then brought this proceeding in the superior court, which upheld the action of the board, whereupon the appellant filed this appeal.

The appellant attacked the constitutionality of the licensing provisions of the horse racing law (Article 4, Ch. 4, Div. 8, B. & P. C.). The appellate court agreed with that contention.

The court held that the 1933 act (Ch. 769, Stats. 1933) which was ratified by constitutional amendment (Sec. 25a, Art. IV, adopted June 27, 1933) was valid and that sufficient standards were prescribed therein for the guidance of the board in issuing licenses for horse racing meetings. However, the court says, as a result of certain legislation in 1941, there are now no standards or guiding rules and the result is that the licensing provisions are void as an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power.

As to the 1933 act the court found that certain provisions in Sections 9, 10, and 11 thereof prescribed sufficient standards. We will set these provisions out in more detail than appears in the decision.

The first sentence of Section 9 of the act read:

> "Sec. 9. Upon the award to any applicant and the payment of the license fees as hereinafter prescribed, the board shall issue a license which shall permit the licensee, during the dates awarded to such applicant and for which license fees shall have been paid, to conduct at its track a race meeting, or meetings, and wagering on the results thereof, as herein provided."

Sec. 10 of the act divided the counties of the State into counties of the 1st, 2d and 3d classes and specified the maximum number of racing days which could be allowed in the various counties and areas. The last paragraph of the section read:

> "The board may apportion racing days, not to exceed the maximum number of racing days permitted in the respective counties and or areas above-mentioned, to one or more licensees as in its judgment shall appear for the best interests of legitimate racing and of the public."

The first part of Section 11 of the act read:

> "Sec. 11. Upon the filing of an application, in writing, for a license, as herein provided, if the same should be in accordance with this act, and upon the payment of the license fee hereinafter provided for, it shall be within the power of the board to issue a license to the applicant to conduct a horse race meeting in accordance with the provisions of this act at the place, enclosure or track specified in the application * * * "

The court held that the provisions of Sections 9 and 11, above quoted, were mandatory and that the guiding rules prescribed by the act of 1933 lacked nothing in clarity or effectiveness. In this connection the court said:

> "The board was vested with the discretion to grant or deny racing dates to any track in the event it should find that the interests of the public as well as of racing should require such decision. But if the board had awarded the dates for racing it became obligatory upon the board to issue a track license upon the receipt of the fee."

After adverting to the constitutional amendment ratifying the 1933 act the court said:

> "Under the act of 1933 the board had authority to grant or deny a track license, but the standards for guidance were controlling upon the board. In such condition the act was valid and workable. But the legislature was not satisfied with the act which had been ratified by the people in 1933. By the Horse Racing Act adopted in 1941 (Statutes, 1941, p. 669) the legislature added Chapter 4 to the Business and Professions Code. (Secs. 19400 to 19663.) The result of such addition is that all the existing law applicable to the licensing of horse racing is embraced within such chapter. Instead of the mandatory language contained in sections

9 and 11 of the original (1933) act, the Business and Professions Code now has the permissive section 19480. While it permits the board to issue a license, an applicant has two handicaps to overcome before such event may occur, namely, (1) he must make application for the board to determine that the conducting of horse racing meetings at the place designated in the application will be in the public interest and "will subserve the purposes of this chapter;" (2) should the decision of the board grant the application, the board is at liberty under section 19480 to grant or deny a license to conduct a horse racing meeting. This brings us to a consideration of the validity of section 19480."

The application referred to in clause (1) of the foregoing quotation is the application provided for in Section 19480.5. Section 19480 is the "basic" section on licensing track operators and reads:

"The board may issue to any person who makes application therefor in writing, who has complied with the provisions of this chapter and who makes the deposit to secure payment of the license fee required by this article a license to conduct a horse racing meeting in accordance with this chapter at the place, inclosure or track specified in the application."

The court thereupon discussed the rule against delegating legislative power and then said:

"The true distinction is between the delegation of power to make law, which necessarily involves a discretion as to what it shall be, and conferring an authority or discretion as to its execution, to be exercised under and in pursuance of the law. The first cannot be done. To the latter no valid objection can be made.

"From the foregoing the rule is established that to be a valid delegation of authority to an administrative board to exercise a discretion concerning valuable rights or privileges, the statute must prescribe ascertainable standards for the guidance of those selected to exercise such discretion. Section 19480 is devoid of such guiding rules or standards. The board may grant all applications or refuse to issue a license to any applicant and still comply with the section."

The court concluded that since Section 19480 is invalid and expresses the basic licensing powers in Article 4 of Chapter 4 of Division 8 of the code all other sections of the article follow it and are meaningless without it, saying "Since it is void the remaining sections are void. The judgment is reversed."

Comment

The basis of the court's decision appears to be that as a result of the 1941 legislation the "standards" prescribed by the 1933 act vanished and as a result Section 19480 became an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power.

Apparently neither of the following factors were brought to the court's attention for its consideration: (1) the circumstances under which the "standards" vanished, and (2) the possibility that the "standards" mentioned by the court never did apply to the issuance of licenses to track operators.

In 1941 the Legislature enacted Chapter 47 which was a codification of the horse racing law as it then stood. This codification was prepared by the California Code Commission and purported to make no substantive change in the law. Subsequently, at the same session the Legislature enacted Chapter 1248 which amended and added certain sections of the chapter of the Business and Professions Code which had been added to the code by the codification statute.

In the course of codification the commission concluded that the provision of Section 9 of the 1933 act referred to by the court was covered by other provisions of the act and should be omitted in the codification. This provision read:

> "Upon the award to any applicant and the payment of the license fees hereinafter prescribed, the board shall issue a license which shall permit the licensee during the date awarded to such applicant and for which license fees shall have been paid, to conduct at its track a race meeting, or meetings, and wagering on the results thereof, as herein provided."

This provision was set out in the mimeographed draft of the code issued by the commission on August 19, 1940, in strike-out type following Section 19481 of the draft, with a notation that the provisions were covered by other provisions of the article (Article 4, Ch. 4, Division 8). The provision so deleted apparently contemplated that racing days should be awarded separately from the issuance of the license to conduct a horse race meeting. This was negatived by the following provision which appeared later in the act as part of Section 11:

> "Every license issued pursuant to this act shall specify the person, association or corporation to whom the same is issued, the place, enclosure or track where such race meeting is to be held or conducted, and the days and hours of the day upon which the same will be permitted, and shall recite the payment to and receipt by the board of the license fee herein provided for."

Inasmuch as the racing days were awarded in the license itself it appeared somewhat anamolous to require the board to issue a license "upon the award" of racing days upon which the license itself had authorized racing.

The provision as to apportioning racing days within a county or area in which there were two or more licensed tracks was codified as Section 19537 without substantial change. The amendment of this section by Chapter 1248 of 1941 will be discussed hereinafter.

The provision of Section 11 relating to the issuance of licenses to track operators which appeared in the first part of Section 11 was recast and codified as Section 19480. In the recasting the expression "it shall be within the power of the board" was changed to "The board may," which does not seem to have changed the meaning.

Thus, Chapter 47 of the Statutes of 1941 simply codified the 1933 act as a chapter of the Business and Professions Code and under Section 2 of that code should be construed as a continuation of the 1933 act and not as new enactment. (See Sobey v. Maloney (1940) 40 Cal. App. (2d) 381, which so construed the codification of the Medical Practice Act, added to the Business and Professions Code by Chapter 415, Statutes of 1937, and Sandstrom v. California Horse Racing Board (1948) 31 Cal. 2d 401, which so construed the codification of the 1933 act herein discussed.)

By Chapter 1248 of the Statutes of 1941 Section 19537, relating to the apportionment of racing days, was amended. The important change was that under the section as amended the board was to apportion the days in each county or area "equally" rather than as in its judgment shall appear for "the best interests of legitimate racing and the public."

The "standard" thereby deleted never did apply to the issuing of licenses to track operators but only to the apportioning of the days when two or more licenses were to be issued for the same county or area. Obviously, when only one license was to be issued for the county or area the "standard" was inapplicable. When, therefore, the Legislature required equal apportionment there was no need for a standard as to how the apportionment was to be made, since the board had no discretion to be guided.

By Chapter 1248 of the Statutes of 1941 the Legislature added Section 19480.5. This section provided that the board should not issue a license to tracks not established prior to July 1, 1941 unless prior to the construction or preparation of the track the board had determined that conducting racing meetings at such place "will be in the public interest and will subserve the purposes of this chapter."

This was not in derogation, but rather in recognition, of the broad powers conferred upon the board by Section 19480. What the Legislature was evidently trying to avoid was a situation where a person or perhaps a number of persons would construct race tracks and then apply for licenses under Section 19480. Under Section 19480 the board had, by the terms of the section, broad discretion to grant or refuse a license. There is nothing in either Section 19480 or 19480.5 to guarantee to any applicant, whether his track operated prior to 1941 or was constructed after approval by the board after that date, a license under Section 19480.

We do not know if the court had before it the factors discussed in this comment. If it did not it may well have come to a different conclusion had these considerations been before it. The only changes made in the codification of the 1933 act were to delete a provision that appears to have been inconsistent with the later provisions of the act and to change "it shall be within the power of the board" to "The board may."

Whatever deletion of any standards occurred was a result of Chapter 1248 of 1941 rather than of Chapter 47 of that year. The only standard that was in fact deleted was the standard relating to apportioning racing days which never did apply to issuing licenses. This standard was not applicable to the board's determination as to whether or not a license was to be issued to any applicant but applied only if and when the board had determined to license two or more applicants to conduct meetings in the same county or area. If the deletion of this standard was improper (and we doubt that it was) the element of invalidity which flowed therefrom attached only to the amendatory chapter which made the deletion (Chapter 1248, Statutes 1941) leaving untouched and unimpaired the statute which effected the codification (Chapter 47,

Statutes 1941. (See Speagle v. Board of Fire Underwriters (1946), 29 Cal. (2d) 34 at 47 and 48 and cases there cited.)

We think, therefore, it is probable that the facts and circumstances discussed in this comment may not have come to the court's attention and that if they had the court quite likely would have concluded that Section 19480 of the code is the statutory successor and continuation of the first part of Section 11 of the 1933 act and contains just exactly as much, and as little, of "standards" as did the first part of Section 11 of the 1933 act as validated by the constitutional amendment and that the validation put the question of the validity of the delegation of legislative power beyond the realm of inquiry. In Sandstrom v. California Horse Racing Board (1948), 31 Cal. 2d 401, in discussing the delegation of the rule making power to the board the court said "That the Constitution may permit the Legislature to delegate powers may not be doubted." It is hereby declared by the Legislature in enacting amendments to this chapter at the 1950 First Extraordinary Session of the Legislature that such wartime emergency is rapidly disappearing so that the state support for child care centers will no longer be necessary after February 15, 1951, and that while in some communities there is still a need for child care centers, such need is a matter of local rather than state interest and therefore should be supported by the counties or the local school districts after February 15, 1951."

If a county undertakes the whole support of such child care centers, it may provide for their administration by the county department of social welfare or by contract entered into with the school district in which such child care center is located, or by both. If a county undertakes the partial support of such child care centers, it may either make contributions of the proceeds of the tax levied pursuant to this section to the school districts within such county maintaining child care centers, or may use such proceeds by contributing the services of the county department of social welfare to the child care centers for purposes agreeable to the school districts maintaining such centers.

SEC. 5. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

It is necessary to continue the existence of child care centers where a demonstrated need for such centers can be shown and for proper supervision of child care centers so that parents who are engaged or hereafter engage in work may have assurance of proper care for their minor children during the hours of their employment or for the proper care of children whose parents may be incapacitated by illness or other disability. "SECTION 1. Section 2011 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

2011. No officer or employee of any county shall make any demand upon any person [, other than a legally responsible relative, of any applicant for or recipient of aid under this chapter,] to contribute a stated amount to the support of the applicant for or recipient [each month,] of aid under this chapter or to agree so to contribute, or shall threaten any such [relative] person with any legal action against him by or on behalf of the county, or with any penalty whatsoever, unless he agrees so to contribute.

SEC. 2. Section 2160 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

2160. Aid shall be granted under this chapter to any person who comes within all of the following descriptions:

(a) Who has attained the age of 65 years; provided, that if, when and during such time as the Federal Government shall provide or make available to this State grants-in-aid to persons who have attained the age of 60 years, the age contained in this subdivision shall be reduced to 60 years and persons who have attained the age of 60 years and who come within all of the descriptions hereinafter contained shall be eligible for aid under this chapter;

(b) Who is a citizen of the United States;

(c) Who possesses either of the following residence qualifications:

(1) Who resides in the State and has so resided continuously for at least 15 years immediately preceding the date of application, but continuous residence in the State shall not be deemed to have been interrupted by any period of absence therefrom if the total of such periods does not exceed three years; or who has so resided for a period of 40 years at least five of which have immediately preceded this application;

(2) During such time as grants-in-aid are provided by the United States Government for such aid in this State and accepted by this State, however, aid may be granted under this chapter to any person who resides in the State and has so resided continuously for at least one year immediately preceding the date of application and for at least five years within the nine years immediately preceding the date of application;

(d) Who resides in the county in which the application is made and has so resided continuously for at least one year immediately preceding the date of application; any person otherwise qualified who has resided in the State for the required period and who has no county residence may file his application in the county in which he resides, and the aid, if granted to him, shall be paid entirely by the State until the first day of the first month beginning after the date upon which he gains such county residence, unless the day upon which he gains county residence is the first day of the month in which event the county shall assume its share of the costs thereon;

(e) Who is not, at the time of receiving such aid an inmate of any public home for the aged, or any public home, or any public institution of a custodial, correctional, or curative character, except in the case of temporary medical or surgical care in a public hospital not exceeding two calendar months in duration. (f) Who is not receiving adequate support from a husband or wife, or child able [and responsible under the laws of this state] to furnish such support; free support, or board and lodging supplied to an applicant, because of his necessity, by a friend or relative who is not responsible for his support, shall not be grounds for refusing aid;

(g) Who has not made any voluntary assignment or transfer of property for the purpose of qualifying for such aid.

SEC. 3. Section 2181 of said code is amended to read:

2181. The board of supervisors, directly or through an authorized investigator, shall upon receipt of an application for aid, promptly, without any unnecessary delay, and with all diligence, make the necessary investigation. Such investigation shall be completed within 60 days after receipt of the application.

[The board shall upon receipt of the report of the investigation determine the ability of responsible relatives to contribute to the support of applicant and designate the amount of aid, if any, to be granted. The maximum degree of liability of the responsible relative shall be determined by "Relatives' Contribution Scale." In determining ability to contribute, the financial circumstances of responsible relatives shall be given due consideration and, in unusual cases, contributions at less than the amount fixed by "Relatives' Contribution Scale" may be made as the board of supervisors may deem justifiable. RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Senator Hatfield:

Senate Resolution No. 19

Relative to the Joint Interim Committee on Agriculture and Livestock Problems

WHEREAS, There are numerous items appropriating large sums of money for capital outlay in the State Budget for 1950-51 which include providing structures and facilities for agricultural activities at the several institutions, schools, colleges and universities; and

WHEREAS, There are similar capital outlay items in the Postwar Building Program from funds already appropriated but as yet unexpended; and

WHEREAS, The inspection, recommendation and advice of the Joint Interim Committee on Agriculture and Livestock Problems resulting from its activity in 1948, 1949, and 1950 has resulted in a more orderly and economic development of agricultural activities at the several state institutions and schools; and

WHEREAS, The procedure of having the said joint committee inspect and review such expenditures has met with general approval of all concerned; and

WHEREAS, In the process of making a review of the budgets of various correctional institutions operated by the Youth Authority it has come to the attention of this committee that some of the farming operations at such institutions are being operated at substantial losses; and

WHEREAS, The farming programs at some of the Youth Authority facilities are participated in by a very small percentage of the school ward population; and

WHEREAS, Because of this limited participation, the incidental therapeutic value of such programs appears disproportionate to the costs involved; therefore, be it

Resolved, That no money be spent which is appropriated by the Budget Act of 1950 or previously appropriated for capital outlay providing for plans, specifications, construction or purchase of any facility which is used for agricultural purposes until such facility, equipment or item to be provided thereby is reviewed and inspected by the Joint Interim Committee on Agriculture and Livestock Problems and they have filed a report thereon with the Director of Finance of the State of California; and be it further

Resolved, That the problem of modifying the scope or possibly discontinuing such activities particularly at the Fred C. Nelles School for Boys and the Los Guilucos School for Girls be given special consideration by the Joint Committee on Agriculture and Livestock Problems in order that the net budgetary costs of such activities may be eliminated or reduced to a point commensurate with the advantages gained. Be it further

Resolved, That the recommendations of said committee be immediately put into effect by the Department of Finance in order that any resulting economies may be reflected in the 1950-51 Budget as soon as practicable.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Finance.

10. To retain all books, papers, and documents necessary to substantiate the financial reports required to be made under this chapter for a period of two years.

SEC. 10. Section 9911 is added to said code, to read:

Property Qualifications for Aid to the Aged and Aid to the Needy Blind—No. 1102

DEAR SENATOR RICH: In response to your request, we are enclosing an opinion in which we conclude:

(1) The State Department of Social Welfare may, by rule and regulation, limit the amount of personal property which a recipient of aid to the aged or aid to the needy blind may possess without loss of eligibility for such aid to an amount less than the amount specified in the Welfare and Institutions Code, in order to secure conformity with an administrative regulation under the Federal Social Security Act.

(2) The State Department of Social Welfare may not, by rule and regulation, vary the amounts and classes or types of property which recipients of aid to the aged or aid to the needy blind may possess without loss of eligibility for such aid, in order to secure conformity with an administrative regulation under the Federal Social Security Act, except to the extent that such variance consists of limitation of the amount of personal or real property which may be so owned by a recipient to an amount less than the maximum amount permitted by the provisions of the Welfare and Institutions Code.

You have asked us, in the event that it is our opinion that the State Department does have either power in question, how the Legislature could, by appropriate amendment to the Welfare and Institutions Code, restore legislative control over the eligibility standards for aid to the aged and blind so that the statutes will again clearly set forth the specific eligibility standards for these aids.

In each instance, the ultimate basis for our opinion is our conclusion concerning the intention of the Legislature.

In respect to variances in the amounts and classes of property which may be owned without loss of eligibility, other than variances consisting of limitations to amounts less than those specified, our opinion rests in the last analysis upon the conclusion that the Legislature, in enacting the code provisions for aid to the aged and aid to the needy blind, did not intend their continued operation and effect to be contingent upon the continued receipt of federal assistance for such aid, and except as otherwise expressly provided, did not intend any provision to become inoperative because its operation would render the state plan out of conformity with the requirements of the Federal Social Security Act. Any doubt that such is the present legislative intention in continuing those provisions in effect could be eliminated by the addition to the code of a section expressly declaring that intention.

Another somewhat less direct and emphatic method of accomplishing substantially the same result might be an express declaration that no provision of the Old Age Security Law or of the code chapter providing for aid to the aged or aid to the needy blind shall be deemed to be inoperative or shall be disregarded by the Department of Social Welfare or the Social Welfare Board because it is not in conformity with the requirements of the Federal Social Security Act, or because its continued operation might or would render this State ineligible to receive further federal assistance for such aid.

A third possibility might be the addition to Chapter 1 of Division 1 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, or to each of the aid chapters, of a provision expressly forbidding the Department of Social Welfare and the Social Welfare Board to adopt any rule varying the classes or types and amounts of property permitted to be owned by recipients of aid without loss of eligibility for aid from the classes or types and amounts specified in the code. However, such a provision would not fully accomplish its purpose if any of the code provisions should be declared inoperative because of nonconformity with the federal act, unless it included or were accompanied by express provision for such a contingency similar to one of the alternatives suggested above.

Similarly, the power of the Department of Social Welfare by rule and regulation to limit the amount of personal property or of any other class or type of property to an amount less than the amount specified in the applicable code provision might be negatived by any of several possible means.

A provision forbidding the adoption of rules varying the amounts of property permitted to be owned by aid recipients, such as that suggested above, would seem adequate to prevent such limitation, since limitation, as well as increase, would be a form of variance.

Alternatively, the department and board might be forbidden to adopt any rule limiting the permissible amount of property of recipients to an amount less than the maximum amount allowed by statute.

Or, there could be written into each basic provision an express statement that no person should be denied aid because of the ownership of property of a value less than the amount specified in the provision; or an affirmative provision that aid shall be granted and paid to every person who owns property the value of which does not exceed the specified amount, if he is otherwise eligible for such aid.

You may wish to give careful consideration to the policy expressed or implied by adoption of any one of these alternatives, and to the extent to which you feel it advisable to restrict the exercise of the administrative discretion of the department, before determining which, if any, of these alternatives, will best effectuate your purposes.

Very truly yours,

Property Qualifications for Aid to the Aged and Aid to the Needy Blind — No. 1102

DEAR SENATOR RICH:

Questions

You have requested our opinion on the following questions:

(1) May the State Department of Social Welfare by rule and regulation limit the amount of personal property of an aged or blind aid recipient to an amount less than that specified in the Welfare and Institutions Code in order to secure conformity with an administrative regulation under the Federal Social Security Act?

(2) May the State Department of Social Welfare by rule and regulation vary the amounts and classes or types of property of aged or blind recipients from those permitted by the Welfare and Institutions Code in order to secure conformity with an administrative regulation under the Federal Social Security Act?

In our opinion:

(1) The State Department of Social Welfare may, by rule and regulation, limit the amount of personal property which a recipient of aid to the aged or aid to the needy blind may possess without loss of eligibility for such aid to an amount less than the amount specified in the Welfare and Institutions Code, in order to secure conformity with an administrative regulation under the Federal Social Security Act.

(2) The State Department of Social Welfare may not, by rule and regulation, vary the amounts and classes or types of property which recipients of aid to the aged or aid to the needy blind may possess without loss of eligibility for such aid, in order to secure conformity with an administrative regulation under the Federal Social Security Act, except to the extent that such variance consists of limitation of the amount of personal or real property which may be so owned by a recipient to an amount less than the maximum amount permitted by the provisions of the Welfare and Institutions Code.

Analysis

The Department of Social Welfare is established by statute (W. & I. C. 100), to consist of the Social Welfare Board, the Director of Social Welfare, and such divisions as are or may be necessary for proper administration (W. & I. C. 101). There are three statutory divisions, the Division of Aid to the Needy Aged, the Division of Aid to the Blind, and the Division of Child Welfare, and the director, with the advice of the Social Welfare Board and the approval of the Governor, is empowered to create such other divisions and subdivisions of the department as may be necessary, and to consolidate, divide, or abolish them from time to time (W. & I. C. 111).

The department has been designated as the single state agency with full power to supervise every phase of the administration of the public assistance plans for which grants-in-aid are received from the United States Government in order to secure full compliance with the provisions of Titles I (Grants to States for Old Age Assistance), IV (Grants to States for Aid to Dependent Children), and X (Grants to States for Aid to the Blind) of the Federal Social Security Act (W. I. C. 103.5, 103.6).

The director is the executive officer of the department. He is to administer the laws and regulations of the board (W. & I. C. 105.5) and act as the secretary of the board (W. & I. C. 105).

The board has no administrative or executive functions other than those set forth in the Welfare and Institutions Code (W. & I. C. 103, last sentence). It has the power and duty to ~~investigate~~, repeal and amend rules and regulations consistent with law for the administration of welfare," and, except as otherwise provided by law, to "establish minimum standards of public assistance not in conflict with law, for all relief purposes for which state grants-in-aid are made to the counties." (W. & I. C. 103.) (Emphasis added.)

In administering funds appropriated or made available to the department for disbursement through the counties, the department is to "establish rules and regulations not in conflict with law for the policies formulated by the board, defining and controlling the conditions under which state aid may be granted or refused." (W. & I. C. 114.)

In respect to aid to the aged, the State Department of Social Welfare has the power and duty to "prescribe * * * such additional rules and regulations as are necessary for the carrying out of this chapter (the Old Age Security Law), and not inconsistent therewith," which are not to result in discrimination against any type of therapy, treatment by prayer or spiritual means, or other treatment recognized as a branch of the healing arts, in favor of the practitioners of any other branch of the healing arts (W. & I. C. 2140), and the State Department of Social Welfare is required "to adopt rules and regulations which shall be of uniform application for determining the proportionate shares of the respective counties of the portion" of federal funds made available to the State for the costs of administering aid to the aged which is to be paid to the counties (W. & I. C. 2186, 2186.1).

In respect to aid to the needy blind, the Department of Social Welfare is likewise authorized "to make additional rules and regulations to enforce the provisions of this chapter, which rules and regulations shall not conflict with the provisions of this chapter * * *" (W. & I. C. 3075); and is likewise required "to adopt rules and regulations which shall be of uniform application for determining the proportionate shares of the respective counties of the portion" of federal funds made available to the State for the costs of administering aid to the needy blind which is to be paid to the counties (W. & I. C. 3087).

Thus it is clear that the rule-making power of the Department of Social Welfare, vested in the Social Welfare Board, in each instance in which it is set forth in the Welfare and Institutions Code is limited by a qualification that the rules and regulations shall be "consistent with law," "not in conflict with law," or "not inconsistent" with law, excepting only the authority of the department to adopt rules by which county shares of federal moneys for administering aid are to be determined, where the rule-making power is not expressly so qualified, but the department is to provide for determination of each county's "proportionate" share.

We are aware that the Attorney General of California has ruled, in his Opinion No. 50-1, dated January 28, 1950, that the State Department of Social Welfare is not bound, in the exercise of its rule-making power, by the "property holding qualifications" provisions of the Welfare and Institutions Code because those qualifications are inconsistent with and contrary to the requirements of the Federal Social Security Act and the regulations thereunder, and must be disregarded in order to bring the state-federal joint assistance programs into full operation. The considerations upon which this conclusion appears to be based are that the programs of aid to the aged and aid to the needy blind are joint federal and state programs, that the state programs were not designed to stand or operate without the cooperation of the Federal Government, and that the relevant provisions of the Welfare and Institutions Code show a positive intention on the part of the State to conform to the requirements of the Federal Social Security Act.

Assuming that the Welfare and Institutions Code provisions concerning property qualifications of recipients of aid to the aged and aid to the needy blind are inconsistent with and contrary to the requirements of the Federal Social Security Act and the regulations relating thereunder, we are likewise of the opinion that they must be either disregarded, i.e., rendered inoperative, or changed by the Legislature in order to bring the assistance plans of this State into conformity with the requirements of the Federal Social Security Act and so to render this State eligible to receive, or to continue to receive, federal assistance for aid to the aged and aid to the needy blind; but we cannot agree that, in the absence of legislative action providing for the termination of their operation, they have become inoperative or may be disregarded by the State Department of Social Welfare.

The state programs of aid to the needy blind and to the aged were not initiated or established as a result of the Federal Social Security Act, originally enacted August 14, 1935, but were established in essentially their present form by Chapters 529 and 530 of the Statutes of 1929, codified in 1937, respectively, as Sections 3000-3094, inclusive, and Sections 2000-2228 inclusive, of the Welfare and Institutions Code. When the Federal Social Security Act was enacted in 1935, providing for federal assistance to states which submitted to and had approved by the Federal Social Security Board plans for old-age assistance and plans for aid to the needy blind, and specifying the requisites for the granting of such approval, various modifications in the state plans were made by the Legislature to bring the existing state plans into conformity with the federal requirements, and so qualify this State to receive the proffered federal assistance. As the Congress has changed the federal requirements thereafter, the Legislature has amended the California laws so as to maintain such conformity and eligibility for federal assistance. As the Attorney General has pointed out in his opinion, there are numerous provisions of the Welfare and Institutions Code which evince the intention of the Legislature to conform the state plans to the federal requirements. That intention of the Legislature was recognized by the court in Newbold v. Social Welfare Board (1946), 76 Cal. App. 2d 844, in construing Section 3047 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, and in determining that a rule of the Social Welfare Board was not in conflict therewith.

However, we do not find in the Welfare and Institutions Code (or elsewhere) any express declaration by the Legislature that conformity with federal requirements is the primary purpose of the state laws for aid to the aged and aid to the needy blind, or a principal purpose of those laws, any provision rendering inoperative any state law which may be inconsistent with or contrary to the requirements of the Federal Social Security Act, any provision authorizing the State Department of Social Welfare or the Social Welfare Board to disregard any state law which may be declared out of conformity with the federal act, or any provision making the operation of the state aid laws contingent upon the continued receipt by the state of federal assistance for aid to the aged and aid to the needy blind.

On the contrary, certain provisions of the aid laws which conform the residence qualifications of the state laws to the requirements of the federal act (W. & I. C. 2160, Subd. (c) Subsec. (2), W. & I. C. 3043) are by their terms applicable "during such time as grants in aid are provided by the United States Government for such aid in this State and accepted by this State," but the provisions which these conforming provisions supersede while they are applicable (W. & I. C. 2160, Subd. (c), Subsec. (1); W. & I. C. 3041) have not been repealed, but have been continued in the law, to come into operation whenever the conforming provisions become inapplicable. (See Wilkinson v. Board of Supervisors (1943), 57 Cal. App. 2d 345, where the court referred to W. & I. C. 3041 as the "basic" residence requirement (p. 349)).

Provisions for payment to the counties of federal moneys for old-age assistance and the cost of administration thereof (W. & I. C. 2186, 2186.1) and for payment to the counties of federal moneys for aid to the needy blind and the cost of administration thereof (W. & I. C. 3087) have likewise been made applicable "during such time as grants-in-aid are * * * made available by the United States Government" for such aid in this State. But an examination of the code sections appropriating state moneys to the counties for such aid (W. & I. C. 2021, 2021.001, 2021.01, 3025) and of the code sections establishing the state-county ratio of participation in the cost of such aid (W. & I. C. 2187, 2187.01, 3087.1) discloses that the state appropriations have always been sufficient to pay the full state share of the then current maximum grant, irrespective of the receipt or nonreceipt of any federal assistance.

In certain instances where the Legislature has intended the taking effect or operation of a state provision to depend upon conformity with federal requirements, the Legislature has expressed that intention in unmistakable terms. Thus, in Welfare and Institutions Code Section

2020.05, providing that for the purposes of Section 2020 (determination of the amount of aged aid to which an applicant is entitled) earnings of an applicant shall not be deemed income or resources of the applicant, and shall not be deducted from the amount of aid to which the applicant would otherwise be entitled, the Legislature included, as a second paragraph, the provision:

> "This section shall take effect if and when amendments to the federal statutes or rules and regulations of the Federal Social Security Board take effect permitting this State to give effect to this section without thereby rendering this State ineligible to receive federal grants-in-aid for old age assistance in this State."

And in Welfare and Institutions Code Section 3084.3, making similar provision concerning earnings of applicants for aid to the needy blind, the Legislature similarly provided:

> "This section shall become operative if and when amendments to the federal statutes or rules and regulations of the Federal Security Agency take effect permitting this State to give effect to this section without thereby rendering this State ineligible to receive federal grants-in-aid for assistance or aid to the blind of this State."

Is it not reasonable to infer that if the Legislature had intended the operation of any other provisions of the state laws relative to aid to the aged and aid to the needy blind to be contingent or dependent upon conformity with the requirements of the Federal Social Security Act it would have expressed that intention with equal clarity?

We conclude, therefore, from consideration of the various code provisions cited, that the Legislature did not intend that the operation of the state provisions for aid to the aged and aid to the needy blind as a whole should be contingent upon continued conformity with federal requirements for state eligibility to receive federal assistance, or that any provision of the state laws other than those in which such an intention is expressly set forth should become inoperative in the event that its operation should render the state assistance plans out of conformity with the federal requirements. Rather, we believe, the Legislature intended the state programs of aid to the aged and aid to the blind to continue in operation irrespective of the availability of federal assistance therefor, with such modifications as were provided in the event of the nonavailability of federal assistance, retaining for itself, as the repository of the legislative power of the State, the power and the responsibility of determining the extent to which, if at all, the state plans shall be conformed to federal requirements so as to render this State eligible to receive federal assistance for those plans.

This conclusion is reinforced by the provisions of Welfare and Institutions Code Section 145, in which the Legislature, stating its purpose in temporarily providing state funds to be considered "federal assistance" and "grants-in-aid" for the purposes of the code provisions relative to aid to needy children, aid to the aged, and aid to the needy blind, when actual federal funds are delayed or not available, declared:

> "The purpose of this chapter is to provide for the continued operation of the state plans for aid to the aged, the needy blind, and needy children in the event that federal assistance therefor is temporarily reduced or not available, without the changes and modifications in such plans provided for in this code as a consequence of the withdrawal of federal assistance for such aid from this State."

If our conclusion is correct, the status of the California law is very different from that of the Washington law considered by the Supreme Court of Washington in Morgan v. Department of Social Security (1942), 127 Pac. 2d 658. There the court sustained certain rules and regulations of the Department of Social Security which were claimed to be in contravention of certain provisions of the Senior Citizens Grants Act (Initiative 141) of the state, and held those provisions of the state act to be in violation of the provisions of the Federal Social Security Act, and hence that the department acted properly in disregarding them. But the Washington law expressly declared it to be its intention "to provide for Washington's senior citizens over sixty-five as liberally as is possible under the terms of the Federal Social Security Act for receiving matching funds" (p. 683), and authorized the department "to make rules and regulations not inconsistent with the provisions of this act to the end that Senior Citizens Grants may be administered uniformly throughout the state, and that the spirit and purpose of this act may be complied with" (p. 681). Further the act declared: "If any portion, section or clause of this act shall for any reason be declared unconstitutional, invalid, or not in accordance with the provisions of the Federal Social Security Act, such adjudication shall not affect the remainder of the act" (p. 691). The intention of the electorate in adopting the Washington initiative act appears very different indeed from the intention of the Legislature of California in enacting the California code provisions for aid to the aged and aid to the needy blind, and from that of the electorate of California in adopting Article XXVII of the State Constitution whereby those code provisions were restored, since Article XXVII of our Constitution does not include any direct reference whatever to the Federal Social Security Act (and only once refers to it obliquely by amending Section 20¾ of the Welfare and Institutions Code, which provides for increases and decreases in the amount of the grant of aid to the aged in accordance with increases or decreases in contributions of the United States Government in assistance of the aged of this State, to change the maximum and minimum limits within which the amount of the state grant is to vary). In view of that difference, Morgan v. Department of Social Security (1942), 127 Pac. 2d 658, would seem readily distinguishable, and to be no authority for disregard of provisions of the California law by the State Department of Social Welfare.

We do not say that the Legislature of California could not provide that all or any of the provisions of the California aid laws should cease to be operative upon the happening of a contingency, such as a factual determination that those provisions are not in conformity with the requirements of the Federal Social Security Act, but only that the Legislature has not done so, either expressly or by necessary implication.

To what extent, then, may the State Department of Social Welfare make rules concerning the property qualifications of recipients of aid to the aged and aid to the needy blind? It may make rules and regulations not inconsistent with law, not in conflict with law, and in doing so it may not disregard any of the provisions of the Welfare and Institutions Code. The scope of its rule-making power in respect to property qualifications of aid recipients is therefore determined by the provisions of the Welfare and Institutions Code relating to those property qualifications.

The provisions of the Old Age Security Law relating to property qualifications of applicants for and recipients of aid to the aged are Sections 2163 to 2165d, inclusive, of the Welfare and Institutions Code, which read:

"2163. No aid under this chapter shall be granted or paid to any person who owns personal property the value of which, less all encumbrances of record, exceeds six hundred dollars ($600).

"The term personal property shall not include a policy or policies of life insurance on the life of the applicant or recipient which has or have been in effect at least five years prior to the date of application, if the value of the policy or policies at maturity is in an amount not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000). No life insurance policy shall be valued at more than its present surrender value to the applicant or recipient. Premiums paid on life insurance policies shall not be deemed income or resources of the applicant or recipient, whether or not the person by whom the premiums are paid is a responsible relative of the applicant or recipient, and no deduction therefor shall be made from the amount of aid granted to the recipient.

"2163.1. For the purposes of this chapter, the interest of an applicant or recipient in an estate as heir, devisee, or legatee shall not be considered property of the applicant or recipient until it has been distributed to him and is available for expenditure or disposition by him; and the interest of a beneficiary of a trust shall not be considered to be property of the beneficiary until it has been made available for expenditure or disposition by him.

"2163.2. For the purposes of this chapter the term personal property shall not include personal effects of the applicant or recipient. Personal effects include clothing, furniture, household equipment, foodstuffs and fuel, but do not include jewelry and items of similar character of a net value in excess of two hundred dollars ($200).

"2163.4. For the purposes of this chapter only, the ownership of stock in a water company not appurtenant to the land shall be considered real property to the extent of and in the amount necessary to obtain water for agricultural purposes.

"2163.5. For the purposes of this chapter, estates for years, when used for the purpose of providing a place of residence for the owners thereof and when such estate is for a period of not less than 10 years, shall be considered real property.

"2163.6. For the purposes of this chapter the term personal property shall not include interment plots as defined in Section 7022 of the Health and Safety Code, nor money placed in trust or insurance for funeral or interment expenses or similar purposes, nor to any contract rights connected therewith, if such money, insurance, or contract rights do not exceed five hundred dollars ($500) in value.

"2163.7. For the purposes of this chapter, any place of abode of an applicant or recipient, whether house, boat, trailer, or other habitation, shall be considered real property.

"2164. No aid under this chapter shall be granted or paid to any person who owns real property the assessed value of which as assessed by the county assessor, less all encumbrances thereon of record, exceeds three thousand five hundred dollars ($3,500) at the time such person makes application for aid.

"2165. No aid under this chapter shall be granted or paid to any married person, if the assessed value of the combined real property of the husband and wife, as assessed by the county assessor, less all encumbrances thereon of record, exceeds three thousand five hundred dollars ($3,500) at the time such person makes application for aid.

"2165a. In computing value of property under Section 2165, ownership of property located in another state by a spouse not having a legal residence in California, with whom the applicant has not been living for at least five (5) years preceding the application for aid, shall not preclude the applicant from receiving the aid provided in this chapter, unless it appears that the applicant has a present legal interest in such property.

"2165d. Money received by a recipient of old-age assistance from the condemnation sale of his home shall not be deemed personal property within the provisions of this chapter, until the expiration of one year from the date of the receipt of said money."

It is clear that the basic provisions are the first sentence of Section 2163, Section 2164, and Section 2165, and that all of the remaining provisions qualify the application of these basic sections, either by excluding specified classes or types of property from consideration as property of the applicant or recipient (W. & I. C. 2163.1 [undistributed interests in estates; interests of beneficiaries of trusts]; W. & I. C. 2165a [out-of-state real property of nonresident spouse], by excluding specified classes or types from the meaning of "personal property" and hence from the limitation imposed on ownership of personal property (W. & I. C. 2163, 2d paragraph [certain insurance policies]; W. & I. C. 2163.2 [personal effects]; W. & I. C. 2163.6 [interment plots and trust moneys or insurance up to $500 for interment or funeral purposes]; W. & I. C. 2165d [moneys received from condemnation sale of home]), or by specifying that certain forms of property are to be considered real property, and so subjected to the limitations on ownership of real property rather than to that on ownership of personal property (W. & I. C. 2163.4 [certain water company stock]; W. & I. C. 2163.5 [certain estates for years]; W. & I. C. 2163.7 [places of abode]).

The provisions of the Welfare and Institutions Code relating to property qualifications of applicants for and recipients of aid to the needy blind are Sections 3047 to 3047.5, inclusive, which read:

"3047. (a) Aid shall not be received under the provisions of this chapter by any person who owns personal or real property, or both, the county assessed valuation of which, less all encumbrances thereon of record, is in excess of three thousand five hundred dollars ($3,500).

"(b) Aid shall not be received under the provisions of this chapter by any person who owns cash, insurance having a cash surrender value, or securities, the combined value of which, less all encumbrances thereon of record, is in excess of six hundred dollars ($600) unless the Department of Social Welfare finds that the person is capable of becoming partially or wholly self-supporting, and that he has entered upon a program designed to render him so self-supporting, in which case he may own additional cash, insurance having a surrender value, or securities of a value reasonably necessary to carry out such program (but not in excess of the valuation specified in subdivision (a) of this section) without thereby becoming ineligible for aid.

"(c) The term 'personal property' shall not include a policy or policies of life insurance on the life of the applicant or recipient which has or have been in effect at least five years prior to the date of application, if the value of the policy or policies at maturity is in an amount not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000).

"No life insurance policy shall be valued at more than its present surrender value to the applicant or recipient. Premiums paid on life insurance policies shall not be deemed income or resources of the applicant or recipient, whether or not the person by whom the premiums are paid is a responsible relative of the applicant or recipient, and no deduction therefor shall be made from the amount of aid granted to the recipient.

"3047.1. For the purposes of this chapter, the term personal property may not include interment plots as defined in Section 7022 of the Health and Safety Code, nor money placed in trust or insurance for funeral or interment expenses or similar purposes, nor to any contract rights connected therewith if such money, insurance, or contract rights do not exceed five hundred dollars ($500) in value.

"3047.3. Any proceeds from involuntary conversion of real property into personal property (such as forced transfer under condemnation or eminent domain proceedings) received by a recipient of aid under this chapter shall be considered real property for a period of one year from the time of their receipt.

"3047.5. An applicant's share of any estate, which share has not been distributed and of which he has no present economic use does not constitute property for the purpose of this chapter."

It is clear that the basic provisions here are Subdivisions (a) and (b) of Section 3047, and that the remaining sections and subdivisions qualify the application of these basic provisions by excluding specified classes or types of property from consideration as property (W. & I. C. 3047.5 [undistributed shares in estates]), by excluding specified classes or types from the meaning of "personal property" and hence from the limitation imposed on ownership thereof (W. & I. C. 3047, Subd. (c) [certain insurance policies]; W. & I. C. 3047.1 [interment plots and trust moneys or insurance up to $500 for interment or funeral purposes]), or by specifying that certain forms of property are to be considered real property (W. & I. C. 3047.3 [proceeds from involuntary conversion of real property]).

Each of the base sections is couched in language which is negative and prohibitory. "No aid under this chapter shall be granted or paid to" and "Aid shall not be received under the provisions of this chapter by" any person who owns property of the designated class or type of a value in excess of the specified amount. It is patent that any rule or regulation of the Department of Social Welfare which permitted the payment of aid to persons owning property of the class or type designated in any basic provision of a value greater than that specified in the provision would be inconsistent with, and would conflict with, the express prohibition of the provision, when that provision is read literally.

But it does not appear that a departmental rule or regulation forbidding payment of aid to owners of property of the class or type designated in a basic provision of a value less than that specified would be inconsistent or in conflict with the provision, unless the provision is to be read not only literally as a prohibition but also affirmatively, as a requirement that aid must be paid to any person who owns property of the designated class the value of which does not exceed the specified amount.

To imply such an affirmative requirement from the negative language of the basic provisions requires a departure from their literal language and a rewriting of their provisions in a different form. If such implication had been intended by the Legislature the provisions could readily have been stated to make such rewriting unnecessary. (See Matulich v. Modesto Ice Cream Co. (1936), 7 Cal. 2d 374, 376; Phillips v. Rhay (1936), 6 Cal. 2d 414, 416.)

Moreover, a basic provision concerning property qualifications for aid to the needy blind essentially similar to all of the present basic provisions concerning property qualifications for aid to the aged and for aid to the needy blind has been construed by a California court as fixing an outside limit upon the amount of assets which an applicant might be permitted to retain, and as not intended to fix an amount which must be allowed to an applicant in all cases and without regard to the surrounding circumstances. In Yeazell v. Social Welfare Board (1946), 76 Cal. App. 2d 841, it was contended that a regulation of the Social Welfare Board providing that aid to the needy blind might not be granted where the applicant owned cash or securities of a value in excess of $500, unless there was a plan for and the ability to provide for rehabilitation of the person, was in conflict with the first sentence of Section 3047 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, which then read, in its entirety:

> "3047. Aid shall not be received under the provisions of this chapter by any person who owns personal or real property, or both, the county assessed valuation of which, less all encumbrances thereof of record, is in excess of three thousand dollars.
> "The term 'personal property' shall not include a policy or policies of insurance which has or have been in effect at least five years prior to the date of application, if the value of the policy or policies at maturity is an amount not exceeding one thousand dollars."

The court held the rule to be a valid one, not in conflict with the statute, which it construed literally as a limitation, a prohibition, and not as an affirmative requirement fixing an amount which must be allowed to an applicant in all cases and without regard to the surrounding circumstances. In arriving at its decision, the court indicated that Section 3047 should be interpreted in connection with and as a part of other provisions of the legislature providing for aid to the needy blind, and adverted to the provision of the Federal Social Security Act requiring, as a requisite for approval of a state plan, that the state agency administering or supervising the administration of the plan "shall, in determining need, take into consideration any other income and resources of an individual claiming aid to the blind," and to the provision of Section 3084 of the Welfare and Institutions Code which requires that in fixing the amount of aid to be granted, consideration must be given to the "resources" of the applicant. In this connection the court said:

"While 'casual income and inconsequential resources' are to be disregarded, the possession of other resources would necessarily call for some consideration. In applying these sections in a particular case a great variety of questions and problems will necessarily arise. Obviously, the character and kind of the property owned has an important bearing on the ability of the owner to provide for himself and on the actual need of an applicant as referred to in Section 3084. The ownership of a small house, for instance, not only has a bearing on the amount of aid that may be necessary, but it might well justify allowing the owner to retain it rather than having it considered as an asset enabling the applicant to provide for himself, especially under circumstances where this appeared to be for the benefit of all parties concerned. On the other hand, the possession of $3,000 in cash might well be taken as establishing the fact that the applicant is not unable to provide for himself while that situation prevails.

"From a consideration of these other statutory provisions, with the variety of problems and various sets of circumstances which must be expected in dealing with a large number of applications for such aid, it seems to necessarily follow that the various boards charged with the duty of passing upon applications for aid have, and must have, the right to exercise a certain amount of discretion, and that they must take into consideration both the surrounding circumstances and the amount and character of property owned by an applicant, even though this be less than $3,000, in order to intelligently decide as to the eligibility of the applicant for such aid and the amount thereof that may be necessary in fairness both to him and to the public. That factual situation and the provisions of Section 3075 justify and authorize the making of rules and regulations for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this legislation. While it may be conceded that, in fairness to all, some amount of quick assets should be allowed to an applicant to cover emergencies, without too strict an application of the provisions with respect to his ability to presently provide for himself, the fixing of a maximum amount that may be thus allowed is properly one of those things which may be covered by rules and regulations adopted by the State Welfare Board. This has been done in the regulation in question, providing that in all cases an applicant may retain personal property up to the value of $600 without affecting his eligibility and right to receive such aid. There is nothing in the record before us to indicate that the existing regulation in this regard is unreasonable, arbitrary or capricious, and in view of the necessity and propriety of considering the provisions of this legislation as a whole, it cannot be said that this existing regulation is in conflict with the provisions of Section 3047.

"Clearly, it was intended that such applications for aid should be heard and determined on the facts and circumstances of each case; that a reasonable discretion should be exercised by the various boards charged with administering the act; and that the needs of the applicant, in view of his own circumstances, should be the controlling factor. While the language of the statutes is not as clear as might be desired we think it also sufficiently appears, from a consideration of this legislation in its entirety, that while it was intended to give the administering boards some leeway in individual cases, without a requirement that an applicant must use up his last dollar of assets before being considered unable to provide for himself, it was further intended by Section 3047 to fix an outside limit upon the amount of assets which an applicant might be permitted to retain, and that it was not intended thereby to fix an amount which must be allowed to an applicant in all cases and without regard to the surrounding circumstances." (pp. 848-849.)

We believe that the courts would give similar construction to all of the basic statutory provisions concerning property qualifications for aid to the aged and aid to the needy blind, since they are expressed in similar negative, prohibitory language, and would therefore hold not in conflict with those provisions rules and regulations of the State Department of Social Welfare limiting the permissible amounts of the various designated classes of property which aid recipients may own without loss of eligibility for aid to amounts less than those specified in the applicable provisions, at least to the extent that such limiting rules were not shown to be arbitrary or unreasonable under all the circumstances.

We are unable to see, however, how the Department of Social Welfare could otherwise vary the permissible amounts and classes of property which may be owned by recipients of aid without loss of eligibility for aid by any rules or regulations which would not conflict or be inconsistent with the express limitations of the basic prohibitory statutes.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Senator Powers asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following statement by the Committee on Rules as reason for Senate Resolution No. 17 printed in the Journal:

Statement by Rules Committee as Reason for Resolution No. 17

A proposed constitutional amendment legalizing slot machines, bookmaking and gambling generally as a means of financing pensions for the aged and blind has been filed with the Secretary of State and will be upon the ballot at the next general election. This amendment is long and complicated and contains many technical provisions which, unless explained, will confuse and confound and, in all probability, mislead the voting public.

Not only does the amendment legalize gambling in all forms, but it sets up an organization independent of present State Government to issue licenses to conduct gambling, collect and administer the funds derived from gambling without supervision on behalf of the present state officials.

The proposal is so drastic and far reaching in its effects that unless it is thoroughly understood by the voters, it may perhaps be adopted, and if adopted may wreck the present tax system and means of financing pensions for the blind and aged.

Past experience with similar proposals discloses that much misleading propaganda is released in support of such measures, and that such propaganda in many instances improperly influences the result of an election.

There is, at this time, no state agency authorized to provide such information. For that reason, the Rules Committee is of the opinion that a Senate committee empowered to do the things above mentioned, should be created, and for that reason, have approved a resolution for that purpose, and will appoint a committee to carry out the purposes of such resolution.

The failure of having such an agency to dispense reliable information has resulted in the adoption of measures which were subsequently proven to be unworkable.

We believe the procedure provided for in Resolution No. 17 may avert any such catastrophe.

Chief Assistant Secretary Cleve V. Taylor at the Desk

At the meeting of the Council held March 1, 1950, the following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, the Legislature of the State of California will convene in regular session at Sacramento on March 6, 1950, and the best interests of the City of Los Angeles require that this Council have authorized representatives in Sacramento during sessions of the Legislature as authorized by Section 50023 of the Government Code of this State;

Dear Mr. Ohnimus:

The following information is being filed with you in conformance with legislation enacted last December relative to legislative representation.

I am employed as legislative representative for the City and County of San Francisco under the terms of the contract issued annually by the Mayor and have been so employed since November 15, 1944. I receive a salary of $12,000 per year which is paid monthly by warrant issued by the Controller of the City and County of San Francisco. My appointment was unanimously confirmed by the Board of Supervisors acting under a section of the general laws, codified during 1949 as Chapter 942 of the Government Code. Section 50023 of this code reads:

"50023. The legislative body of a local agency, directly or through a representative, may attend the Legislature and Congress, and any committees thereof, and present information to aid the passage of legislation which the legislative body deems beneficial to the local agency or to prevent the passage of legislation which the legislative body deems detrimental to the local agency. The cost and expense incident thereto are proper charges against the local agency."

In addition to the annual salary paid to me there is an amount of money appropriated by the Board of Supervisors to the account of the Mayor for costs and expenses. This is in the amount of $15,000 and is for secretarial employment, office overhead, stationery, stamps, travel, hotel and conference expenses.

Very truly yours,

Donald W. Cleary

Honorable Joseph A. Beek
State Capitol
Sacramento, Calif.

The following information is filed although it is not believed that Chapter 4, First Extraordinary Session of 1949 applies to Vincent D. Kennedy.

Vincent D. Kennedy is the managing director of the California Retailers Association, a trade association comprised of retailers throughout the State of California. He is in direct charge of all of the activities of this Association which encompass all matters relating to the common problems of the members. Any activity relative to legislative matters is only incidental to the general and year-round problems of the Association and its members, and no portion of the salary of the managing director is allocated to the period when he might be in Sacramento during the sessions of the California Legislature or to any activities relative to legislation before that Legislature. The managing director is paid a specified yearly salary which does not vary by reason of any problems incident to the sessions of the California Legislature. His employment is of indefinite duration having no relationship to the California Legislature. Mr. Kennedy receives from the Association reimbursement for expenses he has incurred in the furtherance of his work as managing director of the Association. If any of the expenses fall within the provisions of Chapter 4 he will voluntarily provide such information to the Clerk of the Assembly and the Secretary of the Senate although, as previously stated, it is not believed that he is within the provisions of Chapter 4.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed herewith is my registration in accordance with the provisions of the Collier bill.

While it is my opinion that I do not come within the provisions of this law because of the fact that my attendance at the sessions of the Legislature is only incidental to my duties with the Los Angeles Brewing Company, I am filing this registration in the spirit of cooperation.

I also wish to call to your attention the fact that I appeared before the legislative committees in behalf of the American Legion because of my position as Chairman of the Legislative Commission, Department of California. I am not registering in connection with this activity because I do this work without compensation, therefore it is my opinion that I do not come within the provisions of the law in that connection.

Yours very truly,

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

EXPLANATION OF VOTE OF SENATORS IN FAVOR OF SENATE BILL NO. 39, 1950 FIRST EXTRAORDINARY SESSION

Senate Bill No. 39 makes available up to $150,000 to the existing State Allocation Board and the Department of Finance for the purpose of conducting a state-wide survey and critical appraisal of the public works requirements of state and local government in California. Such a survey and appraisal is extremely important at this time for many reasons.

(1) We all know the public works facilities of all levels of government in California have fallen behind our population growth and the urgent needs of our people—however none of us know how far behind we actually are.

(2) There is not available in any one place authentic information as to the critical public works requirements of all our governmental agencies. We have no comprehensive data which can be used as a guide in determining a sound public works development program in California.

(3) Because we do not know what the total need is, we have no way of determining the real nature of the financing problem facing various levels of government. At no time have we attempted to relate the needs of a given area to the ability of that area to finance urgently needed projects.

(4) It is also necessary to consider this state-wide public works appraisal from another standpoint. No one can say now whether we shall at any future time be obliged to undertake essential public works programs in order to provide employment particularly to stabilize the construction industry and its related economic interests.

(5) Such a state-wide appraisal would permit us to identify and analyze all our essential public works requirements and to classify them in several categories including but not limited to the following:

(a) Projects absolutely necessary at the earliest possible time to protect the public health and safety;

(b) Projects urgently needed in order to provide facilities essential for business and industrial development and expansion;

(c) Projects which might well be deferred until some future time and particularly until it may become necessary to undertake desirable and necessary but not urgent projects in order to provide employment.

The purpose of this bill is not to provide state aid of any kind to local governments, but rather to provide sufficient information on public works requirements in this State and to analyze and appraise these requirements so that responsible officials of all levels of government can act intelligently in furthering the economic development of the State and in helping to provide jobs in the event of widespread unemployment.

On page 2 of the bill, lines 41 and 42 provide as follows: "The appraisal shall include an evaluation of all possible alternative types of financing." It will be impossible to provide required facilities through general obligation bond issues, but we don't really know what all the alternatives are. It is believed that many projects can be financed through revenue bonds, but because we have never made a state-wide evaluation of necessary projects which could be financed by revenue bonds, it is impossible to arrive at a sound general policy. Some local governmental agencies are experimenting with new and unusual financing methods such as a form of lease contract with an option to buy, and now we discover the State is contemplating this method for certain office buildings. To the extent that such a method is publicly and economically sound and desirable, it should be explored in relation to the types of projects best adapted to such a method.

Perhaps the appraisal will indicate other possible methods of financing which have not heretofore been considered, financing other than by state aid, and this is the primary purpose of the bill.

No purpose would be served by a mere inventory of the desired projects of all local governments. We expect, and will see to it, that the information gathered is carefully prepared, screened and analyzed with each of the objectives of the bill in mind.

We are going to have all kinds of demands made on us for public works programs if we run into serious unemployment conditions, and we must have the information this bill will produce if we expect to act intelligently.

This survey and appraisal is to be financed from the interest which has accumulated under the $90,000,000 Construction and Unemployment Act.

This bill calls for a report to be made at the 1951 Session of the Legislature, which means the job must be done during the next nine months.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 17, AS AMENDED

Senate Resolution No. 17, As Amended

Relative to the creation of an Interim Committee on State Pensions to study and report upon the proposed constitutional amendment concerning the pensions for the aged and blind, the purpose and effect of such constitutional amendment, the method of financing such pensions, including licensing, wagering and such campaign as may be conducted with reference to such constitutional amendment

WHEREAS, There will appear upon the ballot at the next general election an initiative constitutional amendment relating to pensions for aged and blind and legalizing and providing for licensing and taxing wagering and gambling as a means of raising money to support such pensions; and

WHEREAS, The State of California is deeply concerned with providing proper pensions for its aged and blind citizens and it is also concerned with the proper means of raising funds to pay such pensions, and with the proposals to license wagering and gambling; and

WHEREAS, It appears that such initiative constitutional amendment will be enthusiastically advocated and bitterly contested, that there is danger that illegal and improper campaign methods may be used both for and against such proposal; and

WHEREAS, It is important that accurate information concerning the said amendment and of and concerning pensions for aged and blind and the licensing of wagering and gambling and the effect it may have on sources of revenue be made available to the people of the State in order that they may be able to vote intelligently upon the proposed initiative constitutional amendment and to the Legislature in order that it may provide adequate pensions for the aged and blind, that it can make provision for paying such pensions, and also in order that it may legislate intelligently upon all questions relating to licensing wagering or gambling or any other method of raising funds if and when authorized by said amendment; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of California, as follows:

1. That a Senate Interim Committee on Initiative Legislation for Legalizing Gambling for Support of Pensions for the Blind and Aged is hereby created.

3. The committee is authorized and directed to study, analyze and report upon the need of the proposed initiative constitutional amendment and what its effect will be.

4. The committee is further authorized and directed to study, analyze and report upon the campaign conducted on the initiative constitutional amendment, both the campaign for the amendment and the campaign against it. Such study and report shall include but not be limited to the sources of funds used in the campaign, the truthfulness of the propaganda both for and against the amendment, the propriety of campaign methods pursued both for and against such proposal, and any other matter relating to or involving the purity of elections, or the violation of any law in the State of California, or any other unfair or improper campaign practice which may impress or influence the electors in determining their action for or against such proposal.

The committee is further authorized to ascertain and determine the interest, if any, which slot or coin machine operators, bookmakers, gamblers, race track operators and pensioners, have or may have in either the adoption or defeat of such proposed constitutional amendment, and what funds, if any, they or any of them have contributed or promised to contribute toward the adoption or defeat of such amendment.

5. To make recommendations upon any matter herein referred to and to prepare any legislation deemed necessary or useful by the committee to carry out the purposes for which it was created.

6. The committee shall consist of five Members of the Senate, appointed by the Committee on Rules thereof. The chairman shall be appointed by the Committee on Rules. Vacancies occurring in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH
SAN FRANCISCO 2, CALIFORNIA, April 3, 1950

Hon. Earl Warren, Governor of California
Hon. Goodwin J. Knight, President of the Senate
Hon. Sam L. Collins, Speaker of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN: I respectfully submit this report on the administration by the State Department of Public Health of the Hospital Survey and Construction Program.

This report presents summarized information on development and accomplishments during the past three years in allocating federal and state funds to local communities to assist in the construction of hospitals and health facilities in areas of most critical need. It is anticipated at the close of this fiscal year a more detailed report will be prepared for distribution to the public; however, this summarized report is presented at this time because amendments to the Federal Hospital Survey and Construction Act have increased the allotment of federal funds to California with a corresponding increase in the State's responsibility for administration of this program.

I wish to express appreciation to the executive and legislative branches of State Government for the support the department has received in administering this program which has been a pioneering activity for the department. I wish also to acknowledge the invaluable assistance provided by the Advisory Hospital Council which has worked conscientiously with the department in developing solutions for some of the involved problems which have arisen.

Respectfully submitted,

WILTON L. HALVERSON, M.D.,
Director of Public Health

The roll was called, and the bill passed by the following vote:

NOES—Senators Burns, Dilworth, Donnelly, and Dorsey—4.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Hatfield rose to a point of order and stated that under the provisions of Rule No. 12, subsection 5 of the Standing Rules of the Senate provides that all bills carrying an appropriation, implied or otherwise, must be referred to the Committee on Finance. Assembly Bill No. 62 carries an appropriation and has not been referred to the Finance Committee.

The President ruled the point of order well taken.

MOTION TO PRINT OPINION OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

Senator Hatfield moved that the following opinion of the Legislative Counsel regarding Assembly Bill No. 62 be printed in the Journal.

Motion carried.

OPINION OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, April 10, 1950

Hon. George J. Hatfield
Senate Chamber

Assembly Bill No. 62 re Relief of Hardship and Destitution—No. 1848

DEAR SENATOR HATFIELD:

Question

We have your request of April 10th asking whether Senate Rule No. 12 requires that Assembly Bill No. 62 amending the Relief Act of 1945 be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Opinion

In our opinion Senate Rule No. 12 does require that Assembly Bill No. 62 of the First Extraordinary Session of 1950 be referred to the Senate Committee on Finance.

Analysis

Senate Rule No. 12, paragraph 5, requires that:

"Any bill which would require the expenditure of additional state moneys in any manner, including any bill which creates any additional state agency or office, or adds any functions, duties, or responsibilities to an existing agency or office, shall be referred to the Finance Committee before being placed on Third Reading."

Assembly Bill No. 62 amends Section 21 of the Relief Act of 1945 and provides that the State shall pay "four-fifths and the county shall pay one-fifth of all costs incurred by the county for relief to recipients under this act." Section 21 (Chapter 1384, Statutes of 1945) provides that:

> "Until the rate of county expenditure for the direct and administrative costs of welfare activities under this chapter exceeds, on a fiscal year basis determined not less frequently than quarterly, eight one-hundredths of 1 percent of the total assessed valuation of the property subject to county taxation, the State shall not participate in the expenditure."

Consequently Assembly Bill No. 62 would set up a new formula for state participation in unemployment relief, and within the meaning of Senate Rule No. 12 would require an additional expenditure of state moneys.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel
By JOSEPH L. KNOWLES, Principal Deputy

Copies to authors of A. B. 62
pursuant to Joint Rule 34

MOTION TO REFER ALL BILLS TO COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

Senator Hatfield moved that the Legislative Counsel examine all bills to determine whether they come under Rule No. 12, subsection 5 of the Standing Rules of the Senate.

Motion carried.

MOTION TO PRINT LETTER OF EXPLANATION OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

Senator Mayo moved that the following letter of explanation of the Legislative Counsel regarding Assembly Bill No. 74 be printed in the Journal.

Motion carried.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO 2, CALIFORNIA, April 1, 1950

Hon. Jesse M. Mayo

Analysis of Effect of Proposed Amendments to A. B. 74—No. 1678

DEAR SENATOR MAYO: In general, Assembly Bill No. 74, as amended in Senate March 29, 1950, would establish a system of regulation of legislative advocates and would delete existing provisions of the Government Code added by the statute regulating legislative representation (Chapter 4 of the Statutes of the First Extraordinary Session of 1949). The proposed amendments to Assembly Bill No. 74 here under consideration would strike from the bill all of its existing provisions and substitute instead amendments to various of the Government Code sections added by Chapter 4, thus retaining the general scheme of regulation instituted by Chapter 4. The amendments would also add to Chapter 4 various provisions from Assembly Bill No. 74 with changes designed to harmonize them with the existing provisions of law enacted by Chapter 4.

The amendments would amend the existing provision of law (Gov. C. 9901) requiring persons who solicit or receive contributions for legislative purposes to keep detailed accounts of such contributions, to require such accounts to indicate the names and addresses of persons contributing, and the date of such contributions, only if the contribution amounts to $100 or more rather than $20 or more as is now provided. The amendments would also change the same provision (Gov. C. 9901) requiring such person to keep accounts of all expenditures and identify each person to whom an expenditure was made and the date thereof to require such identification only as to items of expenditure exceeding $25. The existing requirement that the person soliciting or receiving contributions obtain and keep a receipt for expenditures over $10 would be changed to require such receipts only as to expenditures over $25.

The existing provision of law (Gov. C. 9902) requiring individuals receiving contributions for legislative purposes to render an account to the person or organization for which received would be changed to require the rendering of such account only as to contributions of over $100 rather than $20 as is now provided.

The existing provision of law (Gov. C. 9903) which requires persons soliciting or receiving contributions for legislative purposes to file monthly reports with the Chief Clerk of the Assembly and the Secretary of the Senate would be changed by the amendments to require such person, when reporting, only to identify persons making contributions of $100 or more rather than $20 or more, and to require such person to identify each person to whom expenditures of $25 or more was made rather than $10 or more.

The amendments would alter the existing provision of law (Gov. C. 9906, subdiv. (a)), which requires persons engaged for pay to influence the legislative process to register with the Chief Clerk of the Assembly and the Secretary of the Senate and to submit, at the time, specified information as to himself and his employment, to require such registrant to also file, at the time of registration, a written authorization from the employer and to require a separate registration as to each employer for whom the registrant is employed to act. The same existing provision, where it requires such registrants to file monthly reports of money received and expended in their work, would be changed to require a detailed accounting, including information as to persons to whom expenditures were paid and the purpose of such expenditures, only as to items in excess of $25 rather than as to all money received and expended.

The amendments would add a new provision to require that a person employed for pay to influence legislation (and hence required to be registered) who employs or requests, recommends, or causes his employer to employ, and such employer does employ, either: (a) a legislator, (b) an attache of the Legislature, or (c) a full-time state employee, to report under oath the fact of such employment to the Chief Clerk of the Assembly and the Secretary of the Senate, including identification of the person employed and giving specified information concerning the employment. Such reports would be required to be filed within five days after the employment if the Legislature is in session, and, if not, within 10 days after the Legislature next convenes. This provision would be added as Section 9906.1 of the Government Code and is substantially similar to Section 9908 of that code as proposed to be added by Assembly Bill No. 74.

The amendments would add a new provision which would prohibit the making of an agreement, or undertaking to promote, advocate, oppose, or influence legislation, or to communicate with legislators or to advocate executive approval or veto of legislation, where the consideration is to be paid on the contingency that legislation is passed or defeated. This provision would be added as Government Code Section 9906.5 and is substantially similar to Government Code Section 9906 as proposed to be added by Assembly Bill No. 74.

The amendments would expand the penalty provisions of the existing law (Gov. C. 9908, subdiv. (a)) which make it a misdemeanor to violate any provision of the whole regulation applicable to legislative representatives, to make it a misdemeanor as well for any person to wilfully file any document required in connection with such regulation which contains any materially false statement or material omission, or for any person to wilfully omit to comply with any material requirement of such regulation.

The amendments would add a new provision placing the duty and responsibility in the respective houses of the Legislature, and vesting in them the power, acting through such committees of the houses as they shall establish, to do the following:

1. To grant certificates of registration to persons registering under the regulation and supplying the information required to be submitted at the time of registering who, after investigation and submission of proof as the committees deem proper, have been found to be of good moral character. In determining whether a registrant is of good moral character, the committees would be required to consider whether the registrant has ever been guilty of vioeating the obligations of a legislative advocate. These obligations are set forth in a section described below which the amendments under consideration would add to the Government Code as Section 9910. Filing the written authorization from employers would also be made prerequisite to issuance of a certificate.

2. To revoke or suspend registrations of persons convicted of violating any provision of the whole regulation, or who, after hearing, are found by either house of the Legislature or its authorized committees to have violated any provision of the regulation or the obligations of a legislative advocate.

3. To investigate the activities of legislative advocates or any person believed to be acting as such.

4. In connection with investigation or hearings, to take evidence, administer oaths, and subpena persons and papers.

5. To require unregistered persons attending legislative sessions and communicating with legislators, or any registered person regularly failing to appear at committee hearings on legislation affecting his employer, to appear and explain their actions.

6. To recommend changes in the provisions of the whole regulation conducive of the proper conduct of legislative business.

7. To report violations of the regulations and other provisions of law on related subjects to the appropriate law enforcement officers.

The foregoing provisions would be added as Section 9909 of the Government Code and, as to the specification of duties and powers, are substantially similar to Section 9912 of the Government Code as proposed to be added by Assembly Bill No. 74. These provisions are distinguishable from their counterparts in Assembly Bill No. 74 in that in the latter the enforcement agency would be a statutory board composed of four Senators and four Assemblymen, while under these amendments enforcement would be placed directly in the houses of the Legislature acting through authorized committees.

The amendments would require legislative advocates to conform to the following obligations:

1. Not to act as a legislative advocate unless registered or accept compensation as such except on condition that he register.

2. To abstain from purposely placing legislators under personal obligation to him or his employer.

3. Never to attempt to deceive legislators as to material facts relating to legislation.

4. Never to cause the introduction of legislation for the purpose of thereafter being employed to secure its passage or defeat.

5. To abstain from soliciting employment on a basis other than his experience in the field of activity of his employer.

6. To abstain from attempting to create a fictitious appearance of public favor or disfavor as to legislation and from causing communications to be sent to legislators, the Lieutenant Governor, or the Governor in the name of fictitious persons or in the name of real persons except with the consent of such real person.

7. With respect to legislation, not to encourage the activities of or deal with a legislative advocate whose registration has been suspended or revoked.

8. Not to represent that he can control the vote or action of legislators or the approval or veto of legislation.

9. Not to represent interests adverse to his employer.

10. To retain for two years papers and documents necessary to substantiate the financial reports required by the regulation.

The above provisions would be added as Government Code Section 9910 and are substantially similar to Government Code Section 9914 as proposed to be added by Assembly Bill No. 74.

The amendments would, for the purposes of Sections 9909 and 9910 as proposed to be added hereby to the Government Code (the sections last referred to above), define the term "legislative advocate" as including any person registered or required to be registered under the regulation. This provision would be added as Government Code Section 9911.

The amendments would add as Section 11 of the bill a declaration to the effect that if any provision of Assembly Bill No. 74, if enacted into law, is held to be invalid, the remaining provisions shall not be affected thereby, thus incorporating the exact words of Section 3 of Assembly Bill No. 74 as it appears as amended in Senate on March 29, 1950.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel

Senate Resolution No. 26

Relative to Sacramento Valley Canals

WHEREAS, The Central Valley Project, which was intended to serve the water requirements of both the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys, now affords the opportunity for ending that struggle; and

WHEREAS, In order to utilize the Central Valleys Project as the instrumentality for the accomplishment of this pioneer vision it is necessary to authorize, as part of that project, the construction of irrigation canals which will render suitable for diversified and intensive farming about 250,000 acres of high quality land now suitable only for dry farm production of barley, wheat and pasturage; and

WHEREAS, Such canals will provide immediate and long-range employment opportunities for the ever-increasing population of this State, by making possible the operation of family farms and increasing agricultural job opportunities, and will ensure the highest beneficial use of the State's limited water resources without jeopardizing any other features of the Central Valley Project; and

WHEREAS, Legislation has been introduced in the Congress of the United States which would authorize the construction of such canals, and has been passed by the House of Representatives and sent to the Senate for approval; and

The following communications were received and read and ordered printed in the Journal:

UNITED STATES SENATE COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS
April 7, 1950

DEAR MR. BEEK: I am in receipt of your recent telegram and have also received a copy of Senate Joint Resolution No. 3.

You will be interested to know that I have been in close touch with the Department of Agriculture relative to the distribution of surplus food in the State of California. Under date of February 15th the Department of Agriculture wrote me that the following commodities were made available to the several San Joaquin Valley County welfare departments during the period December 26th to January 24th:

173,472 lbs. of apples
30,930 lbs. of honey
54,000 lbs. of nonfat dry milk solids
29,295 lbs. of dried eggs
144,000 lbs. of potatoes

On March 14th the department further advised me as follows:

"The department recognized the plight of these families when first brought to our attention in December, and took immediate steps to make surplus commodities available to them. Since December 26, 1949 through February, 1950, almost 1,685,000 pounds of surplus foods, including fresh apples, dried eggs, honey, nonfat dry milk solids, and potatoes have been distributed to approximately 37,000 persons in the counties of Fresno, Humboldt, Kern, Kings, Madera, Merced, San Joaquin, Stanislaus, Sutter, and Tulare. * * *

"We have requested our area office representatives in San Francisco to work closely with the Surplus Property Division, California State Department of Education and the distributing agencies in the San Joaquin Valley to assure that, to the extent of the availability of surplus commodities, every consideration be given to the needs of these families."

Please let me assure you of my continued efforts to be of assistance in this matter

Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM F. KNOWLAND

Mr. J. A. Beek, Secretary
California State Senate
The Capitol, Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. SECRETARY: This will acknowledge my receipt of your wire of recent date and the copy of Senate Joint Resolution No. 3 introduced by Senator Dorsey concerning the distribution of surplus foods to the unemployed agricultural workers in California.

I take this opportunity of advising you and the Members of the California Senate and Assembly that immediately upon receipt of your wire, I contacted the Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and discussed this entire situation with him. Secretary Brannan advised me later on the same day that he had issued orders to the representatives of the Department of Agriculture in California to make a check of the amounts of surplus beans, honey, dried prunes, peaches, apricots, raisins and other foodstuff in addition to dried milk and dried eggs and butter that might be immediately available, and to arrange distribution of whatever surplus supplies of all food commodities on hand to the unemployed agricultural workers through established and functioning relief and charitable organizations.

I assure you and my former colleagues of the California State Senate that I would appreciate being kept informed on the developments of this situation and I will do everything possible to cooperate.

With kindest personal regards and best wishes to yourself, to the Members of the California State Senate and California Assembly, I am

Sincerely and cordially,

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 19

Senate Resolution No. 19

Relative to Joint Committee on Agricultural and Livestock Problems

WHEREAS, There are almost one million dollars appropriating large sums of money for capital outlay in the State Budget for 1950-51 which include providing structures and facilities for agricultural activities at the several institutions, schools, colleges and universities; and

WHEREAS, There are similar capital outlay items in the Postwar Building Program from funds already appropriated but as yet unexpended; and

WHEREAS, The inspection, recommendation and advice of the Joint Interim Committee on Agriculture and Livestock Problems resulting from its activity in 1948, 1949, and 1950 has resulted in a more orderly and economic development of agricultural activities at the several state institutions and schools; and

WHEREAS, The procedure of having the said joint committee inspect and review such expenditures has met with general approval of all concerned; and

WHEREAS, In the process of making a review of the budgets of various correctional institutions operated by the Youth Authority it has come to the attention of this committee that some of the farming operations at such institutions are being operated at substantial losses; and

WHEREAS, The farming programs at some of the Youth Authority facilities are participated in by a very small percentage of the school ward population; and

WHEREAS, Because of this limited participation, the incidental therapeutic value of such programs appears disproportionate to the costs involved; therefore be it

Resolved, That no moneys in such sums as appropriated by the Budget Act of 1950 or previously appropriated for capital outlay providing for plans, specifications, construction or purchase of any facility which is used for agricultural purposes until such facility and amount or item to be provided therein is reviewed and inspected by the Joint Interim Committee on Agriculture and Livestock Problems and they have filed a report thereon with the Director of Finance of the State of California; and be it further

Resolved, That the problem of modifying the scope or possibly discontinuing such activities particularly at the Paul C. Nelles School for Boys and the Los Guilucos School for Girls is given special consideration by the Joint Committee on Agriculture and Livestock Problems in order that the net budgetary costs of such activities may be eliminated or reduced to a point commensurate with the advantages gained. Be it further

Resolved, That the recommendations of said committee be immediately put into effect by the Department of Finance in order that any resulting economies may be reflected in the 1950-51 Budget as soon as practicable.

DEAR SENATOR HATFIELD: I have received from His Excellency George A. Garrett, the Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States of America to Ireland, a beautiful, leather bound copy of the resolution extending greetings and good wishes to the Republic of Ireland which was unanimously adopted by the Senate of the State of California on the 2nd July, 1949, on the motion of Senator James J. On my own behalf and on behalf of the Government of Ireland, I desire to express to the California Senate, to the Senators who offered the resolution and, not least, to yourself, our profound appreciation of the action taken by the Senate and our sincere thanks for the sentiments which are so gracefully expressed in the resolution. The people of Ireland, their government and I personally heartily reciprocate the respect and esteem of the California Senate.

I deeply regret that circumstances made it impossible for you to carry out your original intention of visiting Ireland and of presenting the copy of the resolution in person, and I trust that, before long, I shall have the honour and the pleasure of meeting you and the opportunity of assuring you again of our appreciation of this expression of friendship to our country.

I am, dear Senator Hatfield, with great respect and esteem,

Yours sincerely,

JOHN A. COSTELLO

5151. The assent of the State is given to the provisions in the act of Congress entitled "An act to promote the mining of coal, phosphate, oil, oil shale, gas and sodium on the public domain," and approved by the President, February 25, 1920.

All money derived from bonuses, royalties, and rentals under the act of Congress referred to in this section and apportioned under the act to the State, shall be received by the State Treasurer and by him credited to the State School Fund.

5152. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall report and certify to the Controller, on or before the tenth day of September of each fiscal year, the average daily attendance in the day and evening kindergarten schools, elementary schools, secondary schools, and technical schools in the Public School System during the next preceding fiscal year, and the total amount apportioned by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to the school districts, county school tuition funds and county school service funds, excepting apportionments made under Articles 14 and 15 of Chapter 15 of this division, for the then current school year under the provisions of this code.

5153. The State Controller shall during each fiscal year transfer from the General Fund of the State to the State School Fund such sums, in addition to the sums accruing to the State School Fund from other sources, as shall provide in the State School Fund for distribution during the fiscal year a total amount to be computed as follows:

(a) A sum not less than one hundred twenty dollars ($120) per pupil in average daily attendance in the day and evening kindergarten schools, elementary schools, secondary schools, and technical schools, in the Public School System during the next preceding fiscal year, as certified by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

(b) An additional sum which when added to the sum provided under (a) will equal the total of amounts apportioned during the current fiscal year by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to the several school districts, county school service funds, and county school tuition funds under Chapters 12, 13, 14, and 15 of this division, as certified by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

CHAPTER 12. GENERAL CONDITIONS OF APPORTIONMENT OF STATE SCHOOL FUND

Article 1. Use of Apportionments

6701. The governing board of each school district shall, except as may otherwise be specifically provided by law, use all money apportioned to the district from the State School Fund during any fiscal year exclusively for the support of the school or schools of the district for that year.

6702. If at the end of any fiscal year during which the schools of a school district have been maintained for the period required or permitted by law, there is standing to the credit of the district an unexpended balance of money received from the State School Fund, it may be expended for the payment of claims against the district outstanding, or it may be expended during the succeeding fiscal year.

In the event it appears to the governing board of a school district that the application of the preceding paragraph of this section during a fiscal year would result in serious hardship to the district, or in the payment of salaries to persons employed by the district in positions requiring certification qualifications substantially in excess of the salaries paid persons employed in positions requiring certification qualifications by other districts of comparable type and functioning under comparable conditions, the board may, with the written approval of the county superintendent of schools having jurisdiction over the district, apply to the Superintendent of Public Instruction in writing not later than July 15th of the succeeding fiscal year for exemption from the requirements of the preceding paragraph of this section for the fiscal year on account of which the application is made. Upon receipt of such application, duly approved, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may grant the district exemption, to the extent deemed necessary by him, from such requirements for the fiscal year on account of which the application is made.

6704. If at the close of a fiscal year the governing board of a school district expended during such fiscal year for the salaries of persons employed in the district in positions requiring certification qualifications an amount less than the sum it was required to expend for such purpose under Section 6703, an amount equal to the difference shall be deducted from the apportionments made to the district from the State School Fund during the next fiscal year, subject to Section 6 of Article IX of the Constitution.

Article 2. Districts Not Entitled to Apportionments

6711. No school district, other than one newly formed, shall, except as otherwise provided in this article, receive any apportionment from the State School Fund unless it has maintained the regular day schools of the district for at least 170 days during the next preceding fiscal year.

6712. A school district is a newly formed district up to the close of the fiscal year in which its formation became effective for all purposes.

6714. A district which is prevented from maintaining its schools during a fiscal year for the length of time prescribed by Section 6711 because of fire, flood, or epidemic, or because of any order of any military officer of the United States or of the State to meet an emergency created by war, or of any civil officer of the United States, of the State, or of any county, city and county, or city authorized to issue such order to meet an emergency created by war, or because of other extraordinary conditions, or because of inability to secure or hold a teacher, or because of the illness of the teacher, which fact shall be shown to the satisfaction of the Superintendent of Public Instruction by the affidavits of the members of the governing board of the school district and of the county superintendent of schools, shall receive the same apportionment from the State School Fund as it would have received had it not been so prevented from maintaining school for the number of days prescribed by Section 6711.

6716. No junior college district or high school district shall receive any apportionment from the State School Fund on account of any junior college which has failed for three consecutive years to comply with the standards prescribed by the State Board of Education for accredited junior colleges.

6902. This section shall apply to all allowances, computations, and apportionments made pursuant to this division.

(a) If any computation of average daily attendance made under, or necessitated by, any provision of this division results in a fraction of less than one-half of a unit, the average daily attendance shall be taken as the next lowest whole number, except that if such computation results in an average daily attendance of less than one unit, the average daily attendance shall be deemed to be one unit; but if the fraction is one-half or more of a unit, the average daily attendance shall be taken as the next highest whole number.

(b) Whenever any reference is made to a specific whole number of units of average daily attendance said number shall include any fraction above said number which is less than one-half of a unit, and any fraction of one-half or more of a unit above the next lowest whole number.

Where a school in a district maintaining more than one school is closed for a part of a term by order of a city or county board of health or of the State Board of Health, or because of fire, flood, impassable roads, epidemic, or other emergency, or by an order provided for in Section 6714, the average daily attendance of the school shall be estimated separately, as provided in Section 6983, and subject to the average daily attendance of the other schools of the district.

7032. He shall allow to each elementary school district, high school district, and junior college district, except as to any to which Section 7034 is applicable, which during the preceding fiscal year provided for the transportation of pupils, an amount which shall be computed as follows:

He shall determine the total current expenses of the district for such transportation during the preceding fiscal year, as approved by him in accordance with such regulations as he may establish. He shall then determine what rate of tax levied on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation of the district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding fiscal year, hereinafter referred to in this section as computed tax rate, would, if levied, produce such amount. If the computed rate of tax is more than two cents ($0.02) he shall allow to the district (a) 50 percent of the amount which would be produced by not more than eight cents ($0.08) of the computed tax rate less two cents ($0.02) and (b) 100 percent of the amount which would be produced by the computed tax rate in excess of eight cents ($0.08).

7033. He shall allow to each unified school district formed under the provisions of Chapter 16 of Division 2, the formation of which became effective on July 1, 1948 or thereafter, an amount equal to the total current expenses of the district during the preceding fiscal year for the transportation of pupils, determined by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to have been required because of a change of the location of schoolhouses within the district during such preceding fiscal year. No allowance shall be made under this paragraph subsequent to the close of the fifth fiscal year following that in which the district was formed and thereafter the provisions of the next paragraph shall control as to such district.

He shall allow to each unified school district not maintaining a junior college which during the preceding fiscal year provided for the transportation of pupils, an amount which shall be computed as follows:

He shall determine the total current expenses of the district for such transportation during the preceding fiscal year as approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction in accordance with such regulations as he may establish. He shall then determine what rate of tax levied on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation of the district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding fiscal year, hereinafter referred to in this section as computed tax rate, would, if levied, produce such amount. If the computed rate of tax is more than three cents ($0.03) he shall allow to the district (a) 50 percent of the amount which would be produced by not more than twelve cents ($0.12) of the computed tax rate less three cents ($0.03) and (b) 100 percent of the amount which would be produced by the computed tax rate in excess of twelve cents ($0.12).

He shall allow to each unified school district maintaining a junior college, except as to any to which Section 7034 is applicable, which during the preceding fiscal year provided for the transportation of pupils, an amount which shall be computed as follows:

He shall determine the total current expenses of the district for such transportation during the preceding fiscal year, as approved by him in accordance with such regulations as he may establish. He shall then determine what rate of tax levied on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation of the district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding fiscal year, hereinafter referred to in this section as computed tax rate, would, if levied, produce such amount. If the computed rate of tax is more than four cents ($0.04) he shall allow to the district (a) 50 percent of the amount which would be produced by not more than sixteen cents ($0.16) of the computed tax rate less four cents ($0.04) and (b) 100 percent of the amount which would be produced by the computed tax rate in excess of sixteen cents ($0.16).

7034. He shall compute for each group of two or more school districts which have been continuously from a time prior to July 1, 1949 governed by boards of identical personnel during the preceding fiscal year and have maintained a single transportation system for all of such districts which provided for the transportation of pupils, an amount which shall be computed as follows:

He shall determine the total current expenses of the districts for such transportation during the preceding fiscal year, as approved by him, in accordance with such regulations as he shall establish. He shall, if such group includes an elementary school district and a high school district not maintaining a junior college and each district provided for the transportation of pupils, or includes an elementary school district, a high school district, and a junior college district and each district except the junior college district provided for the transportation of pupils, then determine what rate of tax levied on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation of the district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding fiscal year, hereinafter referred to in this section as computed tax rate, would, if levied, produce such amount. If the computed rate of tax is more than three cents ($.03) he shall allow to the district (a) 50 percent of the amount which would be produced by not more than twelve cents ($.12) of the computed tax rate less three cents ($.03) and (b) 100 percent of the amount which would be produced by the computed tax rate in excess of twelve cents ($.12).

He shall compute for each group of two or more school districts which have been continuously from a time prior to July 1, 1949, governed by boards of identical personnel during the preceding fiscal year and have maintained a single transportation system for all of such districts which provided for the transportation of pupils, an amount which shall be computed as follows:

He shall determine the total current expenses of the districts for such transportation during the preceding fiscal year, as approved by him, in accordance with such regulations as he may establish. He shall, if such group includes an elementary school district, and a high school district maintaining a junior college, each of which provided for the transportation of pupils, including those attending the junior college, or includes an elementary school district, a high school district, and a junior college district, each of which provided for the transportation of pupils, then determine what rate of tax levied on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation of the district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding fiscal year, herein after referred to in this section as computed tax rate, would, if levied, produce such amount. If the computed rate of tax is more than four cents ($.04) he shall allow to the district (a) 50 percent of the amount which would be produced by not more than sixteen cents ($.16) of the computed tax rate less four cents ($.04) and (b) 100 percent of the amount which would be produced by the computed tax rate in excess of sixteen cents ($.16).

He shall then allow to each district in the group the same ratio of the total amount computed for the group as the governing boards of the districts in the group certify to him is the ratio the amount expended for such transportation in such district during the preceding fiscal year was of the total expenditures of all districts in the group for such transportation during the preceding fiscal year.

7035. In the case of a unified school district formed under Chapter 16 of Division 2 of this code, the formation of which became effective for all purposes on July 1, 1948 or thereafter, there shall be included in addition to the current costs of the district the cost of school busses for the first fiscal year in which it purchases school busses determined by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to have been required because of changes in the location of schools within the district, the entire cost of such busses. This paragraph shall not be effective as to any unified school district after the end of the fifth fiscal year succeeding the formation of the district.

7036. The Superintendent of Public Instruction in approving, under this article, current expenditures of school districts for the transportation of pupils shall apply the same standards and bases for such approval to expenditures for such transportation provided by a school district in school busses owned and operated by the school district and expenditures for such transportation provided by contract with a private party except that with respect to expenditures for transportation by contract with a private party, he shall make due allowance for all expenditures by the private party required of it by law and not required of a school district in connection with the operation of busses owned by the district.

7037. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall not apportion during any fiscal year in excess of four million seven hundred thousand dollars ($4,700,000) under this article.

7038. In the event the amount available under Section 7037 for apportionment during any fiscal year is less than the total allowances computed under this article for such fiscal year, the amounts allowed shall be reduced in the ratio that the amount of such deficit bears to the amounts allowed.

Article 6. Computation of Foundation Program for School Districts

7051. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall compute for each school district the amount of a foundation program of school support therefor, in the manner prescribed by this article.

7056. For each elementary school district which had an average daily attendance during the preceding fiscal year of 100 or more, as computed under Sections 6911 and 6944, he shall multiply the number of units of average daily attendance so computed by one hundred eighty-five dollars ($185).

7058. For each high school district which had an average daily attendance during the preceding fiscal year of less than 300 he shall compute, except as otherwise provided, ten thousand eighty dollars ($10,080) for the first five units, five hundred four dollars ($504) for each of the sixth to sixty-second units, inclusive, three hundred thirty dollars ($330) for the sixty-third unit, one hundred sixty-six dollars ($166) for each of the sixty-fourth to one hundred thirtieth units, inclusive, and seventy-five dollars ($75) for each of the one hundred thirty-first to the two hundred ninety-ninth units, inclusive.

ten dollars ($210) or the following percentage of the amount computed under Section 7058, whichever amount is the larger:

(a) 55 percent if the high school maintains but one year.

(b) 65 percent if the high school maintains but two years, or

(c) 80 percent if the high school maintains but three years.

No computation shall be made under this section for any high school established after July 1, 1950, without the approval of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

7059. For each high school district he shall multiply the number of units of average daily attendance, exclusive of the average daily attendance of a day high school having an average daily attendance of less than 300 by two hundred ten dollars ($210).

7061. For each junior college district he shall multiply the units of average daily attendance in grades 13 and 14 computed for the district under Sections 6962 and 6971 by two hundred twenty-five dollars ($225).

Article 7. Computation of Basic State Aid Allowances to Elementary School Districts

7071. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow:

(a) Ninety dollars ($90) to each elementary school district for each unit of average daily attendance therein during the preceding fiscal year as computed for the district under Sections 6911 and 6944, but not less than two thousand four hundred dollars ($2,400) shall be allowed to any elementary school district.

(b) Two thousand four hundred dollars ($2,400) to each elementary school district during the first full fiscal year in which the formation of the district became effective for all purposes.

Article 8. Computation of Basic State Aid Allowances to High School Districts

7081. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow to each high school district one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each one of grades 9 to 12, inclusive, maintained in each day high school of the district, other than continuation high schools, during the preceding fiscal year.

7082. He shall allow to each high school district four thousand dollars ($4,000) for each evening high school and for each continuation high school maintained during the preceding fiscal year except that no allowance shall be made for any evening high school or continuation high school which does not comply with all requirements made by the State Board of Education.

7083. He shall allow four thousand dollars ($4,000) to each high school district during the first full fiscal year in which its organization became effective for all purposes.

7084. He shall allow to each high school district two thousand dollars ($2,000) during the first full fiscal year for which the district has been authorized to maintain a junior college.

7085. He shall allow to each high school district ninety dollars ($90) for each unit of average daily attendance in the district during the preceding fiscal year as computed under Sections 6943, 6962, and 6971.

Article 9. Computation of Basic State Aid Allowances to Junior College Districts

7091. An accredited junior college is one which complies with the standards prescribed by the State Board of Education.

7092. He shall allow to each junior college district one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each year of the two-year course covering grades 13 and 14 maintained in an accredited day junior college maintained during the preceding fiscal year.

7093. He shall allow to each junior college district two thousand dollars ($2,000) for each accredited evening junior college maintained by the district during the preceding fiscal year.

7094. He shall allow to each junior college district two thousand four hundred dollars ($2,400) during the first full fiscal year in which its formation became effective for all purposes.

7095. He shall allow to each junior college district ninety dollars ($90) for each unit of average daily attendance in grades 13 and 14 during the preceding fiscal year in the district as computed for the district under Sections 6961 and 6971.

Article 10. Computation of District Aid

7101. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall then compute for each district described herein the amount which a tax levied on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation in such district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding year would produce if levied, if such tax was:

(a) Sixty-eight cents ($0.68) in the case of an elementary school district.

(b) Forty cents ($0.40) in the case of a high school district.

(c) Twenty-five cents ($0.25) in the case of a junior college district.

Article 11. Computation of State Equalization Aid Allowances to School Districts

7111. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall then compare the total of the amounts allowed to, and computed for, each elementary school district pursuant to Articles 7 and 10 of this chapter with the amount of the foundation program of school support computed for each such district pursuant to Article 6 of this chapter.

If the total of the amounts allowed to, and computed for, any elementary school district pursuant to Articles 7 and 10 of this chapter is less than the amount of the foundation program of school support computed for such district pursuant to Article 6 of this chapter, he shall add to the total of the amounts allowed to, and computed for, such district pursuant to Articles 7 and 10 of this chapter such additional amount, to be known as state equalization aid, as may be necessary to equal that computed for such district pursuant to Article 6 of this chapter and shall allow the district such additional amount.

Notwithstanding anything in this article to the contrary, the amount allowed any elementary school district under this article shall be not less than it would have been had the foundation program of school support for such district under Article 6 of this chapter been computed by multiplying the number of units of average daily attendance in the district during the preceding fiscal year as computed under Sections 6911 and 6944 by one hundred ninety dollars ($190) if such district does not maintain a kindergarten or by one hundred ninety-four dollars ($194) if such district maintains a kindergarten and had the tax used in making the computation for the district under Article 10 of this chapter been the maximum rate of school district tax fixed for a separate elementary school district by subdivision (a) of Section 6357.

7112. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall then compare the total of the amounts allowed to, and computed for, each high school district pursuant to Article 8 and 10 of this chapter with the amount of the foundation program of school support computed for each district pursuant to Article 6 of this chapter.

If the total of the amounts allowed to, and computed for, any high school district pursuant to Articles 8 and 10 of this chapter is less than the amount of the foundation program of school support computed for such district pursuant to Article 6 of this chapter, he shall add to the total of the amounts allowed to, and computed for, such district pursuant to Articles 8 and 10 of this chapter such additional amount, to be known as state equalization aid, as may be necessary to equal that computed for such district pursuant to Article 6 of this chapter and shall allow the district such additional amount.

Notwithstanding anything in this article to the contrary, the amount allowed to any high school district under this article shall be not less than it would have been had the foundation program of school support for such district under Article 6 of this chapter been computed by multiplying the number of units of average daily attendance in the district during the preceding fiscal year as computed under Sections 6943, 6962, and 6971 by two hundred sixty dollars ($260) and had the tax used in making the computation for the district under Article 10 of this chapter been the maximum rate of school district tax fixed for a separate high school district for high school purposes by subdivision (b) of Section 6357.

7113. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall then compare the total of the amounts allowed to, and computed for, each junior college district pursuant to Articles 9 and 10 of this chapter with the amount of the foundation program of school support computed for each district pursuant to Article 6 of this chapter.

If the total of the amounts allowed to, and computed for, any junior college district pursuant to Articles 9 and 10 of this chapter is less than the amount of the foundation program of school support computed for such district pursuant to Article 6 of this chapter, he shall add to the total of the amounts allowed to, and computed for, such district pursuant to Articles 9 and 10 of this chapter such additional amount, to be known as state equalization aid, as may be necessary to equal that computed for such district pursuant to Article 6 of this chapter and shall allow the district such additional amount.

7114. No state equalization aid shall be allowed to any school district under this article unless, during the preceding fiscal year, there shall have been levied a tax for such district on 90 percent of each one hundred dollars ($100) of the assessed valuation in such district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the next preceding year of:

(a) In the case of an elementary school district forty-five cents ($0.45) for all kindergarten and elementary schools and classes maintained by the district.

(b) In the case of a high school district thirty two cents ($0.32) for all schools and classes maintained by the district other than grades 13 and 14, but including grades 11 and 12 of a four year junior college located in the high school district and maintained by a junior college district.

(c) In the case of a high school district twenty-two cents ($0.22) for grades 13 and 14 maintained by the district.

(d) In the case of a junior college district twenty-two cents ($0.22) for grades 13 and 14 and all classes of adults maintained by the district.

No district which has met the requirements of this section and is otherwise entitled to state equalization aid shall be denied such aid.

7116. No equalization aid shall be allowed to any high school district on account of any pupils attending the high schools of the district but who do not reside in any high school district.

For the purposes of this section, the county superintendent of schools shall report the attendance of such pupils to the Superintendent of Public Instruction separately.

Article 12. Computation of Allowances for Excess Costs

7121. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow to each school district an amount equal to the excess cost to such district of educating physically handicapped minor pupils but not in excess of four hundred dollars ($400) per each unit of average daily attendance of physically handicapped minor pupils in the district during the next preceding fiscal year.

The State Department of Education may prescribe minimum standards for the special education of physically handicapped minor pupils. No apportionment of state funds shall be made by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to any school district on account of the instruction of physically handicapped minor pupils unless the standards prescribed for the instruction are complied with.

7122. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow to each school district maintaining a 24-hour school, an amount equal to the excess cost of educating pupils in such school but not in excess of two hundred dollars ($200) for each unit of average daily attendance in each such school during the preceding fiscal year.

7124. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow to the county school service fund of each county an amount equal to the excess cost to the county superintendent of schools of educating physically handicapped minor pupils but not in excess of four hundred dollars ($400) for each unit of average daily attendance of physically handicapped minor pupils educated by the county superintendent of schools during the preceding fiscal year.

7125. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall determine the amount of the excess cost incurred by each school district and county superintendent of schools for the education of physically handicapped minor pupils. "Excess cost" as employed in this section includes the total current expenses incurred for remedial classes and for individual instruction of physically handicapped minor pupils, plus the identifiable special current expenses only, excluding teachers' salaries and including but not limited to special supplies, books and special transportation, incurred solely for physically handicapped minor pupils instructed in regular classes, plus the excess amount of the current expenses for all other physically handicapped minor pupils instructed in special schools, or in special classes, over the amount incurred for current expenses for an equal number of units of average daily attendance of normal pupils not classified as handicapped pupils; provided further, that in the computation of the excess cost to be allowed the county school service fund for physically handicapped minor pupils instructed in special schools or in special classes, the amount to be allowed under Sections 7015 and 7016 as state aid to the county school service fund during the then current fiscal year on account of all average daily attendance credited to the fund at that level shall be employed in lieu of the factor of current expense for normal pupils specified hereinbefore for the computation for school districts. "Remedial classes" as herein employed includes special classes providing remedial instruction for physically handicapped minor pupils who are excused in small numbers for a portion of a class period from regular classes, without appreciable reduction in the costs of the regular classes.

7126. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow to the county school service fund of each county an amount equal to 75 percent of the excess cost to the county superintendent of schools of educating of mentally retarded minors, including transportation, during the preceding fiscal year in special schools or classes but not in excess of one hundred dollars ($100) per unit of average daily attendance of such minors.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall determine the amount of excess cost incurred by each school district and county superintendent of schools for the education of mentally retarded minors. "Excess cost" as employed in this section includes the total current expenses incurred for mentally retarded minors instructed in special schools or classes, over the amount of the current expenses incurred for the education of normal pupils not classified as handicapped or the amount to be apportioned to the county school service fund during the then current fiscal year, computed in the same manner as the computation of the excess cost of educating physically handicapped minor pupils in special schools or in special classes, in the case of a school district or county school service fund, as the case may be.

7127. No allowance shall be made under this article for the education of mentally retarded minors in special schools or classes which do not comply with the standards established by the Department of Education.

Article 13. Principal Apportionment of State School Fund

7141. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall apportion to each elementary school district the total of the amounts allowed to the district under Articles 4, 7, 11, and 12 of this chapter.

7142. Notwithstanding anything in this division to the contrary, the amount allowed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction during each of the first five fiscal years as the total basic state aid and state equalization aid for a union elementary school district, joint union elementary school district, or unified school district formed after July 1, 1947 under Chapter 16 of Division 2 of this code, or for any district formed under any provision of this code after July 1, 1947 and conforming with approved plans and recommendations of a local survey committee or county committee, shall during each of the first five fiscal years of its existence for all purposes be not less than the total of the amounts which would have been computed as basic state aid and state equalization aid to the districts merged into the union elementary school district, joint union elementary school district, or unified school district had such school district not been formed, or two thousand four hundred dollars ($2,400) for each elementary school district and four thousand dollars ($4,000) for each high school district included therein in addition to the amount allowed to the district under other provisions of this chapter, whichever is the larger.

7143. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall apportion to each high school district the total of the amounts allowed to the district under Articles 4, 8, 11, and 12 of this chapter.

7144. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall apportion to each junior college district the total of the amounts allowed the district under Articles 4, 9, 11, and 12 of this chapter.

7145. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall apportion to each county school service fund the total of the amounts allowed the fund under Articles 2 and 12 of this chapter.

7146. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall apportion to the county high school tuition fund of each county the amount allowed the fund under Article 3 of this chapter.

7147. (a) The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall withhold from the apportionment to each high school district all amounts allowed such high school district by reason of the operation of subdivision (b) of Section 7001 for each year of grades 11 and 12 maintained in the district by a junior college district, plus an amount which shall bear the same ratio to the total amount computed for the high school district on account of the average daily attendance in grades 9 to 12, inclusive, as the average daily attendance in grades 11 and 12 maintained by the junior college district bears to the whole of the average daily attendance in grades 9 to 12, inclusive, maintained in the high school district, and shall add the amounts so withheld to the apportionment required to be made to the junior college district.

(b) The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall apportion to each high school district the amount computed for the high school district as a junior college district pursuant to subdivision (d) of Section 7001.

7148. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall furnish an abstract of the apportionment of the State School Fund made under this article to the State Controller, the Department of Finance, and to the county and city and county auditors, county and city and county treasurers, and to the county superintendents of schools of the several counties of the State.

7149. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall certify the apportionment made by him under this article to the State Controller, who shall draw his warrants during the fiscal year on the State School Fund in favor of the treasurer of each county for the amount apportioned to all the school districts of the county to the county school service fund and to the county high school tuition fund from the State School Fund.

7150. All moneys received by the treasurer of any county from the apportionment of the State School Fund made under this article shall be immediately credited by the treasurer to the county school service fund, the county high school tuition fund, and the general funds of the several school districts of the county exactly as apportioned by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

7151. The apportionment made under this article shall be known as the principal apportionment.

Article 14. Apportionment for Growth

7161. (a) "Single elementary school district" means an elementary school district which is not included within a union elementary school district, joint union elementary school district, or unified school district.

(b) "Eligible school district" means a single elementary school district which was in existence for all purposes on July 1, 1948 and a union elementary school district, joint union elementary school district, or unified school district which was in existence for all purposes on July 1, 1949 and as to which all of the following are true:

(1) The average daily attendance in the regular full-time day elementary and kindergarten schools of the district for the then current fiscal year as estimated by the governing board of the district, in the manner prescribed by, and as approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, will exceed the average daily attendance in the regular full time day elementary and kindergarten schools of the district for the preceding fiscal year by zero percent if the assessed valuation of the district per unit of actual average daily attendance in the regular full-time day elementary and kindergarten schools of the district for the preceding fiscal year as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for such preceding fiscal year is one thousand dollars ($1,000) or less, and by an additional 1 percent for each one thousand dollars ($1,000) or fraction of one thousand dollars ($1,000) the assessed valuation of the district per unit of actual average daily attendance in the regular full-time day elementary and kindergarten schools of the district for the preceding fiscal year as shown by the 1949 equalized assessment roll of the district for such preceding fiscal year exceeds one thousand dollars ($1,000), but in any event by not less than 10 units of average daily attendance.

(c) "Allowed average daily attendance" means the average daily attendance of a district for the then current fiscal year as estimated by the governing board of the district and approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction pursuant to this section less the increase in average daily attendance required to constitute a district an eligible school district under this section.

7163. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow to each eligible school district as to which the requirements of Section 7161 have been met an amount which he shall determine in the following manner:

(a) He shall compute for each such district the amount of a foundation program for school support under Article 6 of this chapter and Section 7111 except that such foundation program shall be computed on the allowed average daily attendance of the district.

(b) He shall compute the amount of district aid for such district under Article 10 of this Chapter or Section 7111, as the case may be, except that in making such computation the assessed valuation used shall be that shown by the current equalized assessment roll of the district.

(c) He shall compute the amount of basic state aid for such district under Article 7 of this chapter except that in making such computation the average daily attendance of the district used shall be the allowed average daily attendance of the district.

(d) He shall then deduct from the amount of the foundation program computed under this section the amount of district aid computed for the district under this section.

(e) He shall then compare the amounts computed for such district under (c) and (d) and from the larger of the amounts, he shall deduct (1) the total of basic state aid and state equalization aid allowed to the district during the then current fiscal year under Articles 7 and 11 of this chapter on account of the average daily attendance in the regular full-time day elementary and kindergarten schools of the district during the preceding fiscal year.

7166. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall furnish abstracts of the apportionments made under this article to the State Controller, the Department of Finance, and to the county and city and county auditors, county and city and county treasurers, and county superintendents of schools of the several counties of the State having jurisdiction over the districts to which such apportionments are made.

7167. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall certify each apportionment made by him under this article to the State Controller who shall draw his warrant during the fiscal year on the funds appropriated by this act in favor of the treasurer of the county having jurisdiction over the district for the amount of such apportionment.

7168. All money received by the treasurer of any county from an apportionment made under this article shall be immediately credited by the treasurer to the general fund of the district exactly as apportioned by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

7169. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall not apportion in excess of three million dollars ($3,000,000) during any fiscal year under the preceding sections of this article.

In the event the amount available under this section for any period is less than the total allowances computed under the preceding sections of this article for such period, the amounts allowed for such period shall be reduced in the ratio that the amount of such deficit bears to the amounts allowed.

7170. The governing board of a high school district may apply to the Superintendent of Public Instruction in the form and manner prescribed by him for an apportionment from the funds available under this article because of growth in the number of pupils attending the regular full-time day schools if the number of pupils attending the regular full-time day schools of the district during the then current fiscal year is in excess of the number of pupils attending such schools during the preceding fiscal year and a majority of the members of the governing board of the district so certify. The Superintendent of Public Instruction may apportion to such district from said funds such amount as in his judgment is necessary because of emergency conditions existing in the district. The provisions of Sections 7166, 7167, and 7168 shall apply to such apportionments.

7171. For the purposes of this article a union elementary school district, or joint union elementary school district, or unified school district which was not in existence prior to July 1, 1949, shall, as now constituted, be deemed to have been in existence on July 1, 1948.

For all purposes of this division, except as otherwise specifically provided, each of the districts merged or otherwise included within a unified school district shall be deemed a separate and independent district, but all apportionments from the State School Fund on account of any district merged or otherwise included within a unified school district shall be made to the unified school district and shall be available for expenditure by the unified school district for all schools and classes of the district.

7188. No state equalization aid shall be allowed under Article 11 of this chapter to any high school district or junior college district for which a tax is levied under subsection (e) of Section 6357 unless there shall have been levied pursuant to Division 3 of this code, during the preceding fiscal year, a tax under said subsection in not less than the amount determined by adding the rates of tax required to be levied under such of Sections 7114 and 7115 as may be applicable for a high school district and for a junior college district.

7189. For the purposes of this division whenever computations of apportionments based on average daily attendance are made for high school districts only the attendance in all classes of grades 9 to 12, inclusive, and in all types of ungraded classes, including classes for adults, which have been reported as attached to, or as a part of, a school which maintains any of grades 9 to 12, inclusive, shall be included.

7190. For the purposes of this division whenever computations of apportionments based on average daily attendance are made for junior college districts only the attendance in all classes of grades 13 and 14 and all types of ungraded classes, including

SEC. 10. Chapter 16 is added to Division 3 of said code, to read:

CHAPTER 16. COUNTY SCHOOL FUNDS

Article 1. County School Service Fund

7201. There is hereby established in the treasury of each county the "county school service fund."

7202. Wherever any of the terms "unapportioned county elementary school fund," "county elementary school supervision fund," or "unapportioned county high school fund" are used in this code or in any other law, said term shall be deemed to refer to and mean the "county school service fund" established by this chapter.

7203. During July or August of each year the county superintendent of schools shall transfer to the county school service fund 80 percent of any excessive balance or unnecessary surplus in any school fund of any elementary school district. Funds raised by school district taxes shall not be transferred.

7204. The county auditor of any county, receiving money from the Government of the United States pursuant to any act of Congress providing for the distribution and payment to states and territories of a fixed and definite percentage of the money received by the Government of the United States from the forest reserves established therein, shall apportion 50 percent of the money received to the credit of the county school service fund of the county.

The money thus added to the county school service fund shall be apportioned by the county superintendent of schools in the same manner as other county school service fund money, except that all or any portion of the money thus apportioned to the credit of the county school service fund shall upon the request of the county superintendent of schools be transferred to the forest reserve school fund, which shall be used by the county superintendent of schools for the benefit of school districts of the county lying within or adjacent to the United States Forest Reserve. The fund is available for any purpose for which county funds may be spent.

7205. The county school service fund shall be employed by the county superintendent of schools to pay such charges against the fund as are provided in this code; and to provide with the approval of the county board of education (a) additional apportionments to any school district under his jurisdiction for current expenses which (1) has levied the maximum district tax specified in Section 6357 and in which the annual average current cost per pupil does not exceed the annual average current cost per pupil for all districts of the same type within the county or under the jurisdiction of the county superintendent of schools, or (2) which needs additional apportionments for current expenses because of temporary emergency conditions, and (b) additional apportionments to any school district under his jurisdiction for the transportation of pupils to and from school to meet temporary emergency conditions.

7206. The county superintendent of schools may:

(a) With the approval of the county board of education, provide advisory services in school business administration, in maintenance of school buildings and grounds, and in the processing of special problems concerning credentials as designated by the State Department of Education.

(b) Pay actual and necessary travel expenses incurred, in connection with curricular and special services, by the county superintendent of schools, or by his designated staff members in accordance with regulations established by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The costs incurred under this section shall be paid out of the county school service fund.

7207. The county superintendent of schools shall, except as otherwise provided by this code, expend from the county school service fund all amounts apportioned to said fund for supervision of instruction, exclusive of the payment of the salaries and necessary expenses of supervisors to supervise instruction in the elementary school districts of the county having less than 900 units of average daily attendance during the next preceding fiscal year, and in any other elementary school districts of the county the governing board of which requests him to supervise instruction in the schools of such district, and for the furnishing of such clerical help, supplies, and equipment to the supervisors as the county superintendent of schools deems necessary. In the event of the inability of the county superintendent of schools to use such amounts advantageously during any fiscal year, the unexpended portion of such amounts may be used for other purposes of the county school service fund.

7208. No moneys shall be expended from the county school service fund for any purpose in excess of the total proposed expenditures for such purpose as approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction under Section 7011, without the approval of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Article 2. County School Tuition Fund

7211. The county superintendent of schools of any county contiguous to an adjoining state may grant permission to pupils residing in the county to attend elementary school or high school in a school district of the adjoining state and may provide for the transportation of the pupils to the school.

7212. The average daily attendance of pupils residing in any county of this State and attending an elementary school or high school in an adjoining state shall be credited to the county school tuition fund of said county and reported by the county superintendent of schools in his annual report to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, who shall include such average daily attendance in his report of average daily attendance in all the duly established schools of the State for the last preceding school year certified by him to the State Controller.

7214. The county superintendent of schools may provide for the transportation of such pupils to and from their homes and the school in an adjoining state attended by them. For this purpose the county superintendent of schools is authorized to purchase, maintain, and operate one or more school busses and to contract with a responsible party or parties for the providing of such transportation by such party or parties.

In lieu of providing such transportation for any such pupil, the county superintendent of schools may pay the parent or guardian of each such pupil five cents ($0.05), per mile for each mile necessarily traveled by such pupil in going to and from his home and school except that if there is more than one such pupil in the household of the parent or guardian the county superintendent of schools may pay two and one half cents ($0.025) for each such mile for each additional pupil in the household. The total amount paid to any parent or guardian hereunder shall not in any month exceed the sum of fifty dollars ($50) for the one pupil in the household of such parent or guardian and twenty-five dollars ($25) for each additional pupil in the same household.

7215. Any costs incurred by the county superintendent of schools for the transportation of pupils to a school in an adjoining state shall be paid by him by requisition drawn against the county school tuition fund.

7216. The superintendent of schools of any school district, or the principal of any school, in an adjoining state attended by pupils residing in an adjoining county in this State shall certify to the county superintendent of schools of the county not later than July 2d of each year the average daily attendance of pupils from the county attending the school and the current expenditure, including transportation, incurred for the education of the pupils. Certification shall be made on forms furnished by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

7217. The county superintendent of schools shall verify the certificates of attendance and cost of education of pupils attending schools in adjoining states and shall certify to the county auditor and the board of supervisors the amount of money required to be levied as a county school tuition tax. The amount shall not include any costs for the transportation of the pupils in excess of the amounts permitted by this article. The amount shall be determined by subtracting from the total cost of the tuition and transportation allowed under this article, the amount to be apportioned by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to the county school tuition fund during the fiscal year.

7218. The board of supervisors shall levy a county school tuition tax upon the taxable property of the county sufficient to produce the amount required by this article.

7219. The county auditor shall report to the county superintendent of schools all amounts received from county school tuition taxes.

7220. The county superintendent of schools shall pay all costs of transportation and all verified claims for tuition of pupils attending school in adjoining states allowed under this article, by requisition drawn against the county school tuition fund.

7221. All requisitions drawn by the county superintendent of schools under this article shall be approved by the county auditor and paid by the county treasurer.

7222. The county superintendent of schools may with the approval of the county auditor transfer any unnecessary surplus in the county school tuition fund to the county school service fund whenever in his judgment the surplus will not be needed for the payment of tuition.

Article 3. Junior College Tuition Fund

7231. Not later than July 20th of each year the superintendent of schools of each county in which there is not a county junior college shall certify to the board of supervisors and to the county auditor of the county the total cost of education during the next preceding fiscal year of all junior college pupils residing in the county and not in any junior college district, nor in any high school district maintaining junior college courses, and the estimated amount needed for that purpose for the current year.

The total cost shall not include outlays for permanent construction or improvements, or moneys received from the State School Fund or from the Federal Government, but shall include one hundred dollars ($100) per unit of average daily attendance for the use of buildings and equipment.

7232. The board of supervisors with whom the certificate is filed shall at the time of making the tax levy for that year for county purposes, levy a special tax upon all taxable property in the county not situated in any junior college district nor in any high school district maintaining a junior college, sufficient in amount to defray the costs, during the preceding fiscal year, of educating all junior college students residing in the county and not in any junior college district nor in any high school district maintaining a junior college.

7233. If the board of supervisors fails to make the tax levy, the auditor of the county shall make the levy.

7236. The amount apportioned to each junior college district or high school district under this article shall be paid into the treasury of the county whose superintendent of schools has jurisdiction over the district to the credit of district.

SEC. 3. This act is an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. The facts constituting such necessity are:

The present program of the State in financing in full the costs of the counties in relation to aid to the aged will terminate on June 30, 1950. Thereafter the counties will be required to administer and to finance in part this aid. This will, of necessity, result in increased property tax rates. SEC. 4. This act shall become operative on July 1, 1950, if Assembly Bill No. 65 of the 1950 First Extraordinary Session of the Legislature is enacted and takes effect prior to July 1, 1950; otherwise this act shall not become operative."

SEC. 3. This act is an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect. The facts constituting such necessity are:

The present program of the State in financing in full the costs of the counties in relation to aid to the needy blind will terminate on June 30, 1950. Thereafter the counties will be required to administer and to finance in part this aid. This will, of necessity, result in increased property tax rates. In order to alleviate the oppressive tax burden on property owners that will otherwise result, this act will provide for increased state participation in the aid to the needy blind program, thereby, to some extent lessening the necessity for increased property tax rates and the resultant burdens on property owners.

SEC. 4. This act shall become operative on July 1, 1950, and then only if Assembly Bill No. 65 of the 1950 First Extraordinary Session of the Legislature is enacted and takes effect prior to July 1, 1950."

Resolution read, and on motion of Senator O'Gara, adopted.

By Senators Hulse, Parkman, Burns, Powers, and Collier:

Senate Resolution No. 34

Relative to the proposed initiative measure exempting all personal property from taxation

WHEREAS, An initiative petition is being circulated to place before the voters in November a constitutional amendment to exempt three billions of dollars ($3,000,000,000) of personal property from the assessment rolls; and

WHEREAS, Petition circulators and the voters are being misinformed when told that this measure will reduce taxes; and

WHEREAS, The amendment to exempt manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, and others from the payment of any personal property taxes merely shifts the burden of local taxes to home owners and other owners of real property; and

WHEREAS, Those exempt from paying taxes will continue to receive police and fire protection services and to make use of sewage and water facilities and many other local services paid for from property taxes, but now to be enjoyed at the expense of others; and

WHEREAS, There already is exempt from local taxation and from payment for local services five hundred and ninety three million dollars ($593,000,000) of property values which does not include vast amounts of real and personal property owned by the Federal Government; and

WHEREAS, This proposal to exempt personal property from taxation will reduce the tax base of all local governments in California by an average of 20.7 percent, including Los Angeles County, 22.3 percent; San Diego County, 21.6 percent; San Francisco County, 22.4 percent; Alameda County, 22.2 percent; Contra Costa County, 21.2 percent; Sacramento County, 19 percent; and Fresno County, 16.7 percent; and

WHEREAS, Schools, streets, roads, and storm drains, and police, fire, sewage, and other services still must be provided by local government; and

WHEREAS, The Legislature of the State of California will be asked, if this measure is adopted, to impose additional state taxes and to make additional subventions to local government to make up for this loss of revenue; and

WHEREAS, The State of California also will lose millions of dollars in taxes if this exemption of personal property from taxation is granted; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of California:

1. That the people of the State of California are hereby urged to refuse to sign petitions asking to place this special privilege tax exemption measure on the ballot.

2. That all voters of the State of California are urged to reject this discriminatory tax exemption proposal which simply shifts more of the cost of local government to home and other real property owners and to the State of California.

3. That the Senate of the State of California finds and declares that the proposed constitutional amendment threatens the solvency of the counties, cities, schools, and other districts which must rely on the property tax base to continue existing services provided by, and demanded of, local governments.

4. That the Senate of the State of California is opposed to further tax exemption and particularly to this tax exemption which discriminates against homeowners.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules.

It shall be the duty of the committee to ascertain facts and make recommendations to the Legislature and to the houses thereof concerning the State Budget, the revenues and expenditures of the State, and of the organization and functions of the State, its departments, subdivisions and agencies, with a view of reducing the cost of the State Government, and securing greater efficiency and economy.

PLEASANT GROVE, CALIFORNIA, April 9, 1950

Members of the Legislature
State of California
Sacramento, California

HONORABLE MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE:

I have found it very difficult to put into writing words which would adequately express my own deep personal appreciation and gratitude, and that of my family, to you, the Members of the Legislature, for the joint resolution expressing your sentiments mourning the passing of my beloved husband, Rolland A Vandegrift.

My heart is warmed by the sincere depth of feeling expressed in your "In Memorium." Please may I say to you, that my gratitude is not so much gratitude for the written words, but gratitude that through these words as expressed in your "In Memorium," I have the knowledge that the loss is not mine alone but that it is shared by that great body of men, the Members of the Legislature of the State of California, to whom my husband was ever a willing and devoted servant.

He loved his State as no other man has loved her; to serve his State was his first purpose in life, and to serve her well and faithfully he strived with the maximum of his ability.

And, as we share together, the physical loss of this great public servant, Rolland A Vandegrift, please may I express the hope that we may never lose his spirit and guiding influence.

May you with whom he worked so closely these past years continue to further his sincere and well-thought-out programs for the betterment of State Government; may these continue as a living memorium to him.

My gratitude to you.

Yours most sincerely.

MOTION TO PRINT PRELIMINARY REPORT

Senator O'Gara moved that the following letter of transmittal regarding the Preliminary Report of the Joint Senate-Assembly Interim Committee on Community Redevelopment and Housing Problems be printed in the Journal, the preliminary report printed in the Appendix to the Journal, and 1,000 copies printed for distribution.

Motion carried.

PRELIMINARY REPORT OF THE JOINT SENATE-ASSEMBLY INTERIM COMMITTEE ON COMMUNITY REDEVELOPMENT AND HOUSING PROBLEMS

JOINT REDEVELOPMENT AND HOUSING COMMITTEE
SAN FRANCISCO 2, CALIFORNIA, April 6, 1950

Hon. Goodwin J. Knight, President of the Senate,
Hon. Samuel L. Collins, Speaker of the Assembly,
State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

DEAR SIRS: Pursuant to the provisions of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 79, the Joint Legislative Committee on Community Redevelopment and Housing Problems, with particular reference to legislation supplementary to federal legislation, was duly organized.

The committee has made inquiry into the housing problem throughout California, and has held hearings in several cities.

At the committee's request, Governor Earl Warren has included community redevelopment matters as Item No. 11 in his call for the First Extraordinary Session of the Legislature in 1950. Certain specific proposals for legislation have been submitted by members of the committee in both the Senate and Assembly. The committee will make its main report prior to the 1951 Regular Session of the Legislature.

At this time, however, the committee finds it necessary to report that there is great need for a publication which will set forth clearly and briefly the main features of the Community Redevelopment Act of California and related statutes.

Several official agencies have urged the committee to bring about the publication and sale at a nominal cost of such a document.

Community redevelopment is a relatively new departure in California, little understood by the average person who may be interested in or affected by it.

We have been requested to publish and sell, for not more than twenty-five cents, a copy of a booklet which would include the following matters:

(1) A copy of the Community Redevelopment Act, as amended by the 1950 Legislature.

(2) A clear statement of the distinction between public housing and community redevelopment.

(3) The applicable provisions of the current federal laws and regulations concerning community redevelopment. In this connection, it is pointed out that there is not now available any single up-to-date publication which includes both federal and state laws, and rules governing community redevelopment.

(4) A summary in nonlegal language of the steps involved in community redevelopment, with appropriate references to the pertinent statutes.

Officials of San Francisco and Los Angeles and of the League of California Cities have informed our committee that they have many requests from cities, service clubs, city officials, chambers of commerce, property owners, and representatives of the building industry for a pamphlet of the type described.

The committee finds: (a) a great and increasing interest in community redevelopment; (b) general lack of knowledge of the laws governing community redevelopment; and (c) many obstacles standing in the way of those who seek information concerning those laws.

The problem has been best summarized to the committee by Mr. Richard Graves, Executive Director, and Mr. Richard Carpenter, Legal Counsel of the League of California Cities, who, on January 5, 1950 wrote:

"From time to time we have had requests from those cities in California interested in community redevelopment for printed copies of the revised Community Redevelopment Act of 1945. As you well know, the act was extensively amended in 1949 both by substantive amendments and by the regrouping of sections which makes it extremely difficult to analyze the law as it now reads. This is a difficult job for both the lawyers and the executives of community redevelopment agencies and an almost impossible task for the layman. It is the average citizen whose property is affected by a proposed redevelopment project that the original legislation was carefully designed to protect, and unless he can have access to the law and easily understand it when he reads it, many of the provisions of the measure designed for his protection will not accomplish their objective.

Under the recently enacted federal legislation the financial aid required to accomplish urban redevelopment has been provided, and more and more city officials are anxious to know what can be done in their own communities under existing state law which has been supplemented by federal aid.

In order to make available to all such persons a convenient reference to California's Community Redevelopment Act, we respectfully request that your interim committee have the State Printer print in pamphlet form the Community Redevelopment Act of 1945 as amended in 1949. To accomplish its purpose the price of this document should not exceed 25c."

Similar sentiments have been expressed by Mr. William T. Sesnon, Chairman of the Community Redevelopment Agency of Los Angeles, and Mr. James E. Lash, Director of the Redevelopment Agency of the City and County of San Francisco.

The committee therefore requests and recommends that it be authorized to cooperate with the Office of the Legislative Counsel and the State Printer in preparing such a publication, and that that publication be printed as a supplement to this report in the supplement to the Senate Journal, and that 1,000 extra copies of this report, including the supplement described, be published and sold by this committee to interested agencies for a price not exceeding 25 cents a copy.

Respectfully submitted,

SENATOR GERALD J. O'GARA, Chairman
ASSEMBLYMAN JAMES G. CRICHTON, Vice Chairman

Request for Unanimous Consent

Senator Hulse asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up Senate Resolution No. 34, at this time, for consideration.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 34

Senate Resolution No. 34

Relative to the proposed initiative measure exempting all personal property from taxation

WHEREAS, An initiative petition is being circulated to place before the voters in November a constitutional amendment to exempt three billions of dollars ($3,000,000,000) of personal property from the assessment rolls; and

WHEREAS, Petition circulators and the voters are being misinformed when told that this measure will reduce taxes; and

WHEREAS, The amendment to exempt manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, and others from the payment of any personal property taxes merely shifts the burden of local taxes to homeowners and other owners of real property; and

WHEREAS, Those exempt from paying taxes will continue to receive police and fire protection services and to make use of sewage and water facilities and many other local services paid for from property taxes, but now to be enjoyed at the expense of others; and

WHEREAS, There already is exempt from local taxation and from payment for local services five hundred ninety-three million dollars ($593,000,000) of property values which does not include vast amounts of real and personal property owned by the Federal Government; and

WHEREAS, This proposal to exempt personal property from taxation will reduce the tax base of all local governments in California by an average of 20.7 percent, including Los Angeles County, 22.3 percent; San Diego County, 21.6 percent; San Francisco County, 22.4 percent; Alameda County, 22.2 percent; Contra Costa County, 21.2 percent; Sacramento County, 19 percent; and Fresno County, 16.7 percent; and

WHEREAS, Schools, streets, roads, and storm drains, and police, fire, sewage, and other services still must be provided by local government; and

WHEREAS, The Legislature of the State of California will be asked, if this measure is adopted, to impose additional state taxes and to make additional subventions to local government to make up for this loss of revenue; and

WHEREAS, The State of California also will lose millions of dollars in taxes if this exemption of personal property from taxation is granted; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of California:

1. That the people of the State of California are hereby urged to refuse to sign petitions asking to place this special privilege tax exemption measure on the ballot.

2. That all voters of the State of California are urged to reject this discriminatory tax exemption proposal which simply shifts more of the cost of local government to home and other real property owners and to the State of California.

3. That the Senate of the State of California finds and declares that the proposed constitutional amendment threatens the solvency of the counties, cities, schools, and other districts which must rely on the property tax base to continue existing services provided by, and demanded of, local governments.

4. That the Senate of the State of California is opposed to further tax exemption and particularly to this tax exemption which discriminates against homeowners.

Resolution read, and on motion of Senator Hulse, adopted.

Article 1. Use of Apportionments

6701. The governing board of each school district shall, except as may otherwise be specifically provided by law, use all money apportioned to the district from the State School Fund during any fiscal year exclusively for the support of the school or schools of the district for that year.

6702. If at the end of any fiscal year during which the schools of a school district have been maintained for the period required or permitted by law, there is standing to the credit of the district an unexpended balance of money received from the State School Fund, it may be expended for the payment of claims against the district outstanding, or it may be expended for the fiscal year succeeding.

6703. Not less than 85 percent of all moneys apportioned to a school district from the State School Fund under Articles 12 and 13 of Chapter 15 of this division, exclusive of said amounts allowed under Article 2 of Chapter 15, during any fiscal year must be expended during the same fiscal year for the payment of salaries of persons employed by the district in positions requiring certification qualifications.

In that event it appears to the governing board of a school district that the application of the preceding paragraph of this section would result in serious hardship to the district, or in the payment of salaries to persons employed by the district in positions requiring certification qualifications substantially in excess of the salaries paid persons employed in positions requiring certification qualifications by other districts of comparable type and functioning under comparable conditions, the board may, with the written approval of the county superintendent of schools having jurisdiction over the district, apply to the Superintendent of Public Instruction for exemption from the requirements of the preceding paragraph of this section. Upon receipt of such application, duly approved, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may grant the district exemption, to the extent deemed necessary by him, from such requirements.

Article 2. Districts Not Entitled to Apportionments

6711. No school district, other than one newly formed, shall, except as otherwise provided in this article, receive any apportionment from the State School Fund unless it has maintained a public school for at least 170 days during the next preceding fiscal year.

6713. An elementary school district which during any fiscal year provides for the education of pupils residing within the district under the provisions of this code, for not less than 170 days of actual teaching during the fiscal year, shall be deemed to have maintained school for not less than 170 days of actual teaching during the fiscal year.

6714. No school district shall receive any apportionment from the State School Fund unless each employee of the district employed in a position requiring certification qualifications in the district has secured and registered as required by law and within the time required by law an appropriate valid credential or certificate.

6715. A district which is prevented from maintaining a school during a fiscal year for the length of time prescribed by Section 6711 because of fire, flood, or epidemic, or because of any order of any military office of the United States or of the State to meet an emergency created by war, or of any civil officer of the United States, of the State, or of any county, city and county, or city authorized to issue such order to meet an emergency created by war, or because of other extraordinary conditions, or because of inability to secure or hold a teacher, or because of the illness of the teacher, which fact shall be shown to the satisfaction of the Superintendent of Public Instruction by the affidavits of the members of the governing board of the school district and of the county superintendent of schools, shall receive the same apportionment from the State School Fund as it would have received had it not been so prevented from maintaining school for the number of days prescribed by Section 6711.

6716. No money shall be apportioned to a district for the excess cost of educating pupils in a 24-hour elementary school of the district unless such school has met the requirements of the Superintendent of Public Instruction based upon educational standards and standards established by state agencies authorized by law to inspect or supervise child caring institutions.

6717. No grant college district or high school district shall receive any apportionment from the State School Fund for any junior college which has failed for three consecutive years to comply with the standards prescribed by the State Board of Education for accredited junior colleges.

CHAPTER 14. AVERAGE DAILY ATTENDANCE

Article 1. Generally

6901. Where in a high school, junior college, or elementary school four terms of school of at least 12 weeks each are maintained during a fiscal year, and where the course of instruction is so arranged that students may complete a full year's work in any three terms, the total number of days of pupils attendance shall be divided by the greatest number of days school was actually taught in any three of the four terms, but in no case shall the divisor be less than 170.

6902. This section shall apply to all allowances, computations, and apportionments made pursuant to this division.

(a) If any computation of average daily attendance made under, or necessitated by, any provision of this division results in a fraction of less than one-half of a unit, the average daily attendance shall be taken as the next lowest whole number, except that if such computation results in an average daily attendance of less than one unit, the average daily attendance shall be deemed to be one unit; but if the fraction is one-half or more of a unit the average daily attendance shall be taken as the next highest whole number.

6904. Whenever a junior college district is formed and a high school district included therein is maintaining one or more junior colleges, the governing board of the high school district may, by the unanimous vote of all the members thereof, file with the Superintendent of Public Instruction, in writing, on or before June 30th of the fiscal year in which the action for the formation of the junior college district was completed, a direction to credit the average daily attendance computed for the junior college or junior colleges maintained by the high school district for such fiscal year to the junior college district for all the purposes of this division. 6972. Whenever any attendance records of any district have been lost or destroyed, making it impossible for an accurate report on average daily attendance for the district for any school year to be rendered, which fact shall be shown to the satisfaction of the Superintendent of Public Instruction by the affidavits of the members of the governing board of the district and the county superintendent of schools, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall estimate the average daily attendance of such district. The estimated average daily attendance shall be deemed to be the actual average daily attendance for that fiscal year for the making of apportionments to the school district from the State School Fund.

6973. Whenever the average daily attendance of any school district during any fiscal year has been materially decreased during any fiscal year because of fire, flood, impassable roads, epidemic, or other emergency or because of an order provided for in Section 6715 which fact shall be established to the satisfaction of the Superintendent of Public Instruction by affidavits of the members of the governing board of the school district and the county superintendent of schools, the average daily attendance of the district for the fiscal year shall be estimated by the Superintendent of Public Instruction in such manner as to credit to the school district for determining the apportionments to be made to the district from the State School Fund approximately the total average daily attendance which would have been credited to the school district had the emergency not occurred or the order issued.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction may allow to each eligible school district submitting an application for an apportionment from the funds available under Section 7021 such additional allowance as in his judgment is necessary because of emergency conditions existing in the district.

7024. If the total amount allowed to all school districts under Sections 7012 and 7023 is less than the amount computed under Section 7011, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall apportion, not later than June 1st of the then current fiscal year, the balance pro rata on average daily attendance during the preceding fiscal years in the elementary, high school, and junior college districts, exclusive of grades 13 and 14, to those districts receiving state equalization aid.

7042. In addition, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow for all special schools or classes for mentally retarded minors maintained in each elementary school district of the county by the county superintendent of schools, the same amount as he would compute as the foundation program of an elementary school district under Article 4 of this chapter.

7052. The total amount allowed to an elementary school district which had an average daily attendance of less than 100 during the school year 1945-1946, shall not be less than an amount computed by allowing for each unit of average daily attendance the total amount apportioned to the district for the Fiscal Year 1946-1947 divided by the total average daily attendance credited to the district during the Fiscal Year 1945-46.

Article 7. Computation of Basic State Aid for High School Districts

7061. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow to each high school district one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each year of the four-year course covering grades 9 to 12, inclusive, maintained in each day high school of the district, other than continuation high schools, during the preceding fiscal year.

In the application of this section to junior high schools and to senior high schools the average daily attendance measures of 270 and of 10 units shall be reduced by the ratio that the number of years within the grade range 9 to 12, inclusive, actually maintained in each such junior high school or senior high school during said preceding fiscal year bears to four.

No allowance shall be made to any high school district under this section unless during the preceding fiscal year there was levied for the high school district at least the maximum rate of school district tax fixed for such district by Section 6357 less not more than one cent ($0.01), nor shall any allowance be made under this section on account of any high school established after the Fiscal Year 1946-1947 unless the establishment of such high school has been approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

He shall allow to each high school district ninety dollars ($90) for each unit of average daily attendance in the district during the preceding fiscal year as computed under Sections 6943, 6952, 6953, and 6961, for grades 11 and 12, subject to provisions of Section 7148, and for each unit of average daily attendance in the eleventh and twelfth grades of a four-year junior college situated in the district but maintained by a junior college district.

7068. The total amount allowed under this article, to a high school district which had an average daily attendance of less than 600 during the school year 1945-1946, shall not be less than an amount computed by allowing for each unit of average daily attendance the total amount apportioned to the district for the Fiscal Year 1946-1947 divided by the total average daily attendance credited to the district during the Fiscal Year 1945-1946.

Article 9. Computation of District Aid

7081. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall then compute for each district described herein the amount which a tax levied on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation in such district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding year would produce for the schools and classes mentioned if levied, if such tax was:

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall then compare the total of the amounts allowed to, and computed for, each high school district pursuant to Articles 7 and 9 of this chapter with the amount of the Foundation Program of School Support computed for each district pursuant to Article 4 of this chapter.

If the total amount allowed to, and computed for, any high school district pursuant to Articles 7 and 9 of this chapter is less than the amount of the Foundation Program of School Support computed for such district pursuant to Article 4 of this chapter, he shall add to the amount computed for such district pursuant to Article 7 and 9 of this chapter such additional amount, to be known as State Equalization Aid, as may be necessary to equal that computed for such district pursuant to Article 4 of this chapter.

7093. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall then compare the total of the amounts allowed each junior college district pursuant to Articles 8 and 9 of this chapter with the amount of the Foundation Program of School Support computed for each district pursuant to Article 4 of this chapter.

7095. No State Equalization Aid shall be allowed under this article unless there shall have been levied, pursuant to Division 3 of this code, for such district during the preceding fiscal year a tax not less than that set forth in Article 9 of this chapter for the district, and no district which has met the requirements of this section and is otherwise entitled to State Equalization Aid shall be denied such aid.

Article 11. Computation of Allowances for Excess Costs

7101. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow to each school district an amount equal to the excess cost to such district of educating physically handicapped pupils but not in excess of four hundred dollars ($400) for each unit of average daily attendance of physically handicapped pupils in the district during the next preceding fiscal year.

7111. If the total amount allowed to all elementary school districts and to all county school service funds under Articles 6 and 10 of this chapter on account of the average daily attendance of pupils in elementary school grades and in schools or classes of elementary school grade maintained by county superintendents of schools, is less than the total amount required to be transferred to the State School Fund on account of such average daily attendance, minus an amount equal to the amounts allowed under Sections 7001 and 7011 on account of such average daily attendance plus three-fourths of the amount allowed under Section 7003, the balance shall be allowed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to elementary school districts receiving state equalization aid during the then current fiscal year. The amount allowed each such district shall be in the ratio that the amount of the balance bears to the total amount apportioned as equalization aid to all elementary school districts, multiplied by the amount of equalization aid apportioned to the district.

7112. If the total amount allowed to all districts maintaining high school grades and county school service funds under Articles 7 and 10 of this chapter on account of the average daily attendance of pupils in high school grades and in schools or classes of high school grade maintained by county superintendents of schools is less than the total amount required to be transferred to the State School Fund on account of such average daily attendance, minus an amount equal to the amounts allowed under Sections 7001 and 7011 on account of such average daily attendance plus one-fourth of the amount allowed under Section 7003, the balance shall be allowed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to districts maintaining high school grades receiving state equalization aid during the then current fiscal year. The amount allowed each such district shall be in the ratio that the amount of the balance bears to the total amount apportioned as equalization aid to all districts maintaining junior colleges multiplied by the amount of equalization aid apportioned to the district.

7114. If the total amount allowed to all elementary school districts and county school service funds from the State School Fund under Articles 6 and 10 of this chapter on account of the average daily attendance of pupils in elementary school districts and in schools or classes of elementary school grade maintained by county superintendents of schools is larger than the total amounts required to be transferred to the State School Fund on account of such average daily attendance, minus an amount equal to the amounts allowed under Sections 7001 and 7011 on account of such average daily attendance plus three-fourths of the amount provided in Section 7003, the amount allowed each such district as state equalization aid, shall be reduced in the ratio that the amount of the deficit bears to the total amount of equalization aid multiplied by the amount of equalization aid assumed to be apportioned to the district.

7115. If the total amount allowed to all districts maintaining high school grades and county school service funds from the State School Fund under Articles 7 and 10 of this chapter on account of the average daily attendance of pupils in high school districts and in schools or classes of high school grade maintained by county superintendents of schools, is larger than the total amounts required to be transferred to the State School Fund on account of such average daily attendance, minus an amount equal to the amounts allowed under Sections 7001 and 7011, on account of such average daily attendance plus one-fourth of the amount allowed in Section 7003, the amount allowed each such district as equalization aid from the State School Fund, shall be reduced in the ratio that the amount of the deficit bears to the total amount of equalization aid multiplied by the amount of equalization aid assumed to be apportioned to the district.

7116. If the total amount allowed to all districts maintaining junior college grades and county school service funds from the State School Fund under Articles 8 and 10 of this chapter on account of the average daily attendance of pupils in junior college districts and in schools or classes of junior college grade maintained by county superintendents of schools, is larger than the total amounts required to be transferrd to the State School Fund on account of such average daily attendance, minus an amount equal to the amount allowed under Section 7001 on account of such average daily attendance, the amount allowed each such district from the State School Fund as equalization aid, shall be reduced in the ratio that the amount of the deficit bears to the total amount of equalization aid multiplied by the amount of equalization aid assumed to be apportioned to the district.

7117. If the total amounts of the computations or allowances to the county school service funds under Section 7002 is less than the total amount allowable to such funds under Section 7001, the balance shall be apportioned to all school districts receiving equalization aid during the then fiscal year. The amount allowed each such district shall be in the ratio that the amount of this balance bears to the total amount apportioned as equalization aid to all districts, multiplied by the amount of equalization aid apportioned to the district.

Article 13. Apportionment of State School Funds

7121. Notwithstanding anything in Article 10 of this chapter to the contrary, the amount computed for any elementary school district under Article 10 of this chapter shall be not less than it would have been had the foundation program of school support for such district under Article 4 of this chapter been computed by multiplying the number of units of average daily attendance in the district during the preceding fiscal year as computed under Sections 6911 and 6944 by one hundred fifty dollars ($150) and had the tax used in making the computation for the district under Article 9 of this chapter been fifty-five cents ($0.55), but no computation shall be made for any district pursuant to this sentence unless there shall have been levied, pursuant to Division 3 of this code, for such district during the preceding fiscal year a tax of not less than fifty-five cents ($0.55) on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation in such district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding year.

7122. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall apportion to each high school district the total of the amounts computed for the district under Articles 2, 3, 7, 10, 11, and 12 of this chapter. Notwithstanding anything in Article 10 of this chapter to the contrary, the amount computed for any high school district under Article 10 of this chapter shall be not less than it would have been had the foundation program of school support for such district under Article 4 of this chapter been computed by multiplying the number of units of average daily attendance in the district during the preceding fiscal year as computed under Sections 6943, 6952, 6953, and 6961 by two hundred dollars ($200) and had the tax used in making the computation for the district under Article 9 of this chapter been fifty cents ($0.50), but no computation shall be made for any district pursuant to this sentence unless there shall have been levied, pursuant to Division 3 of this code, for such district during the preceding fiscal year a tax of not less than fifty cents ($0.50) on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation in such district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding year.

7232. The board of supervisors with whom the certificate is filed shall at the time of making the tax levy for that year for county purposes, levy a special tax upon all taxable property in the county not situated in any junior college district nor in any high school district maintaining junior college courses, sufficient in amount to defray the costs, during the preceding school year, of educating all junior college students residing in the county and not in any junior college district nor in any high school district maintaining junior college courses.

7233. If the board of supervisors fails to make the tax levy the auditor of the county shall make the levy.

7234. The tax when collected shall be paid into the county treasury and placed in the junior college tuition fund which fund is continued in existence.

7235. The auditor shall not later than the last Monday in December and the last Monday in May of each year notify the superintendent of schools of the amount in the funds, and the superintendent of schools shall thereupon apportion the funds to the several junior college districts, and high school districts maintaining junior college courses, in his county or in other counties, in proportion to the total cost to each of the districts of educating junior college students who reside in his county but not in any junior college district nor in any high school district maintaining junior college courses as shown in his report for the preceding school year, and certify the apportionment to the auditor.

7237. The superintendent of schools of a county having junior college pupils attending junior college in another county shall draw his order on the county auditor in favor of the superintendent of schools of the county in which the students attend junior college for any money belonging to any junior college outside of his county as provided in this article.

7238. The county auditor shall draw his warrant as directed by the superintendent of schools and the county treasurer shall pay it.

7239. A superintendent of schools in whose favor the order is drawn shall pay the money into the county treasury to the credit of the junior colleges educating the students from the county paying the money.

SEC. 8. This act shall remain effective to and including June 30, 1951, and shall have no force or effect thereafter.

SEC. 9. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is as follows:

The existing law providing for the apportionment of the State School Fund for the support of the public kindergarten schools, elementary schools, and secondary schools was enacted by Chapter 401 of the Statutes of 1947 which, because of Section 10 thereof, will remain in effect only to and including June 30, 1950. COMMUNICATIONS

The following communication was received and read and ordered printed in the Journal:

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
WASHINGTON 25, D. C., April 10, 1950

Hon. J. A. Beek, Secretary of the Senate
Sacramento, California

DEAR MR. BEEK: This is to acknowledge receipt of a copy of Joint Resolution No. 3 adopted by the Senate and the Assembly of the State of California, concerning the distribution of surplus foods to unemployed seasonal agricultural workers in California.

The Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the California State Department of Education, has made special efforts to distribute surplus foods available for donation to unemployed agricultural workers in California. Between December 26, 1949 and February 1950, almost 1,685,000 pounds of surplus foods have been distributed to 37,000 persons in the Counties of Fresno, Humboldt, Kern, Kings, Madera, Merced, San Joaquin, Stanislaus, Sutter, and Tulare. The foods that have been made available to these families include fresh apples, dried eggs, honey, nonfat dry milk solids, and potatoes.

The fresh apples and honey distributed were from supplies previously made available to the State for distribution to nonprofit school lunch programs and charitable institutions under our program to remove agricultural surpluses. Potatoes, dry milk, and eggs presently available for distribution to these families are made available under a new authority in the Agricultural Act of 1949, which authorizes the donation of certain government-owned surpluses to needy groups.

The 1949 act does not give the department blanket authority to donate to needy groups all of the foods held by the Commodity Credit Corporation. Section 416 of the act requires that it must first be determined that supplies held are in danger of loss through deterioration, or spoilage before they can be offered for distribution. As of this date, this declaration has been made only with respect to dry milk, dried eggs, and potatoes.

Because we are anxious to give maximum assistance to these workers and their families, we are asking Mr. Chester Freeman, who is in charge of the San Francisco office of our Food Distribution Programs Branch, to call on you in Sacramento to discuss this matter with you. Mr. Freeman, who is in charge of this program for the Western area, has been working in close cooperation with the State Department of Education in providing all possible assistance to these families.

Sincerely yours,

K. T. HUTCHINSON, Acting Secretary

By Senator Donnelly:

Senate Resolution No. 40

Relative to memorializing Congress to consider and act upon legislation for the economic security of aged persons

WHEREAS, The economic security of aged persons is of vital interest to all citizens, and the need for an adequate and sound program whereby aged citizens will become economically secure is a matter of national concern; and

WHEREAS, The social security laws of our Nation have thus far proven inadequate to make a general pension program a reality, and over 13,000 pension systems of various types have been instituted by private and public agencies which nevertheless provide for only a small percentage of the population, with a consequent lack of uniformity and equity; and

WHEREAS, A uniform, national, and economically sound pension plan, adequate to furnish a proper retirement is needed to solve present problems and to remove the questions and issues of pensions for aged people from the realm of local politics; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Senate of the State of California respectfully memorializes the Congress of the United States to take immediate action to consider, introduce, and enact legislation for a national and comprehensive pension program; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the President and Vice President of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, to each member of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives, and each member of the Finance Committee of the Senate, and to each Senator and Representative from California in the Congress of the United States.

It is the intent of the Legislature in enacting this act to continue in effect until July 1, 1951, Chapter 401, Statutes of 1947, and Chapter 1017, Statutes of 1949, as the several provisions of each will be in effect upon the taking effect of this act. On page 15 of the printed bill, as amended in Senate April 13, 1950, after line 32, insert

"SEC. 12. Article 11.5 is added to Chapter 15, Division 3 of the Education Code, to read:

Article 11.5. Computation of Additional Allowances to School Districts for Transportation

7108. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall allow to each school district such amount as is required by this article.

7108.1. "Transportation" as used in this article includes, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) The transportation of pupils between their homes and the schools attended by them as provided by a school district.

(b) The payment of moneys by a school district to parents or guardians of pupils in lieu of providing for the transportation of such pupils between their homes and the schools attended by them.

(c) The providing of board and lodging to pupils by a school district in lieu of providing for the transportation of such pupils between their homes and the schools attended by them.

7108.2. He shall allow to each elementary school district, high school district, and junior college district, except as to any to which Section 7034 is applicable, which during the preceding fiscal year provided for the transportation of pupils, an amount which shall be computed as follows:

He shall determine the total current expenses of the district for such transportation during the preceding fiscal year, as approved by him in accordance with such regulations as he may establish. He shall then determine what rate of tax levied on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation of the district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding fiscal year, hereinafter referred to in this section as computed tax rate, would, if levied, produce such amount. If the computed rate of tax is more than two cents ($0.02) he shall allow to the district (a) 50 percent of the amount which would be produced by not more than eight cents ($0.08) of the computed tax rate less two cents ($0.02) and (b) 100 percent of the amount which would be produced by the computed tax rate in excess of eight cents ($0.08).

He shall allow to each high school district maintaining a junior college, except as to any to which Section 7034 is applicable, which during the preceding fiscal year provided for the transportation of pupils, an amount which shall be computed as follows:

He shall determine the total current expenses of the districts for such transportation during the preceding fiscal year, as approved by him, in accordance with such regulations as he shall establish. He shall then determine what rate of tax levied on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation of the district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding fiscal year, hereinafter referred to in this section as computed tax rate, would, if levied, produce such amount. If the computed rate of tax is more than three cents ($0.03) he shall allow to the district (a) 50 percent of the amount which would be produced by not more than twelve cents ($0.12) of the computed tax rate less three cents ($0.03) and (b) 100 percent of the amount which would be produced by the computed tax rate in excess of twelve cents ($0.12).

7108.3. He shall allow to each unified school district formed under the provisions of Chapter 16 of Division 2, the formation of which became effective on July 1, 1948 or thereafter, an amount equal to the total current expenses of the district during the preceding fiscal year for the transportation of pupils, determined by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to have been required because of a change of the location of schoolhouses within the district during such preceding fiscal year. No allowance shall be made under this paragraph subsequent to the close of the fifth fiscal year following that in which the district was formed and thereafter the provisions of the next paragraph shall control as to such district.

He shall allow to each unified school district not maintaining a junior college which during the preceding fiscal year provided for the transportation of pupils, an amount which shall be computed as follows:

He shall determine the total current expenses of the district for such transportation during the preceding fiscal year as approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction in accordance with such regulations as he may establish. He shall then determine what rate of tax levied on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation of the district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding fiscal year, hereinafter referred to in this section as computed tax rate, would, if levied, produce such amount. If the computed rate of tax is more than three cents ($0.03) he shall allow to the district (a) 50 percent of the amount which would be produced by not more than twelve cents ($0.12) of the computed tax rate less three cents ($0.03) and (b) 100 percent of the amount which would be produced by the computed tax rate in excess of twelve cents ($0.12).

He shall allow to each unified school district maintaining a junior college, except as to any to which Section 7034 is applicable, which during the preceding fiscal year provided for the transportation of pupils, an amount which shall be computed as follows:

He shall determine the total current expenses of the district for such transportation during the preceding fiscal year, as approved by him in accordance with such regulations as he may establish. He shall then determine what rate of tax levied on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation of the district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding fiscal year, hereinafter referred to in this section as computed tax rate, would, if levied, produce such amount. If the computed rate of tax is more than four cents ($0.04) he shall allow to the district (a) 50 percent of the amount which would be produced by not more than sixteen cents ($0.16) of the computed tax rate less four cents ($0.04) and (b) 100 percent of the amount which would be produced by the computed tax rate in excess of sixteen cents ($0.16).

7108.4. He shall compute for each group of two or more school districts which have been continuously from a time prior to July 1, 1949 governed by boards of identical personnel during the preceding fiscal year and have maintained a single transportation system for all of such districts which provided for the transportation of pupils, an amount which shall be computed as follows:

He shall determine the total current expenses of the districts for such transportation during the preceding fiscal year, as approved by him, in accordance with such regulations as he shall establish. He shall, if such group includes an elementary school district and a high school district not maintaining a junior college and each district provided for the transportation of pupils, or includes an elementary school district, a high school district, and a junior college district and each district except the junior college district provided for the transportation of pupils, then determine what rate of tax levied on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation of the district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding fiscal year, hereinafter referred to in this section as computed tax rate, would, if levied, produce such amount. If the computed rate of tax is more than three cents ($0.03) he shall allow to the district (a) 50 percent of the amount which would be produced by not more than twelve cents ($0.12) of the computed tax rate less three cents ($0.03) and (b) 100 percent of the amount which would be produced by the computed tax rate in excess of twelve cents ($0.12).

He shall compute for each group of two or more school districts which have been continuously from a time prior to July 1, 1949, governed by boards of identical personnel during the preceding fiscal year and have maintained a single transportation system for all of such districts which provided for the transportation of pupils, an amount which shall be computed as follows:

He shall determine the total current expenses of the districts for such transportation during the preceding fiscal year, as approved by him, in accordance with such regulations as he may establish. He shall, if such group includes an elementary school district, and a high school district maintaining a junior college, each of which provided for the transportation of pupils, including those attending the junior college, or includes an elementary school district, a high school district, and a junior college district, each of which provided for the transportation of pupils, then determine what rate of tax levied on each one hundred dollars ($100) of 90 percent of the assessed valuation of the district as shown by the equalized assessment roll of the district for the preceding fiscal year, hereinafter referred to in this section as computed tax rate, would, if levied, produce such amount. If the computed rate of tax is more than four cents ($0.04) he shall allow to the district (a) 50 percent of the amount which would be produced by not more than sixteen cents ($0.16) of the computed tax rate less four cents ($0.04) and (b) 100 percent of the amount which would be produced by the computed tax rate in excess of sixteen cents ($0.16).

He shall then allow to each district in the group the same ratio of the total amount computed for the group as the governing boards of the districts in the group certify to him is the ratio the amount expended for such transportation in such district during the preceding fiscal year was of the total expenditures of all districts in the group for such transportation during the preceding fiscal year.

7108.5. In the case of a unified school district formed under Chapter 16 of Division 2 of this code, the formation of which became effective for all purposes on July 1, 1948 or thereafter, there shall be included in addition to the current costs of the district the cost of school busses for the first fiscal year in which it purchases school busses determined by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to have been required because of changes in the location of schools within the district, the entire cost of such busses. This paragraph shall not be effective as to any unified school district after the end of the fifth fiscal year succeeding the formation of the district.

7108.6. The Superintendent of Public Instruction in approving, under this article, current expenditures of school districts for the transportation of pupils shall apply the same standards and basis for such approval to expenditures for such transportation provided by a school district in school busses owned and operated by the school district and expenditures for such transportation provided by contract with a private party except that with respect to expenditures for transportation by contract with a private party, he shall make due allowance for all expenditures by the private party required of it by law and not required of a school district in connection with the operation of busses owned by the district.

7108.7. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall not apportion during any fiscal year in excess of four million seven hundred thousand dollars ($4,700,000) under this article.

7108.8. In the event the amount available under Section 7037 for apportionment during any fiscal year is less than the total allowances computed under this article for such fiscal year, the amounts allowed shall be reduced in the ratio that the amount of such deficit bears to the amounts allowed."

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Senator Regan asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following words to the song, "California, Golden Land," by Ann Anderson of Weaverville, printed in the Journal:

CALIFORNIA, GOLDEN LAND

Oh California,
Golden land beside the sea
Oh California,
Of romantic history!
She lies beneath the sun
From the sea to the Sierra snow,
From the sighing woods of Oregon
All the way to Mexico!

Oh, the padres come from Spain,
Long years ago——
Wandering herds and fields of grain
And old rancho!
And we still hear the sound
Of the dashing caballero,
Ringing spur and castanet
In the gay patio.

Oh California,
Happy land of golden dreams,
Oh California,
Mountains, valleys, mighty streams!
Those skies of deepest blue,
Those flowers of every hue,
They will always call me home to you,
Call me home again to you!

Finale:

Oh California, Golden land beside the sea,
California! Dearest home on earth to me!

7109.2. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall ascertain for each school district as to which the requirements of Section 7161 have been met an amount which he shall determine in the following manner:

(a) He shall compute for each such district the amount of a foundation program for school support under Article 6 of this chapter and Section 7111, except that such foundation program shall be computed on the allowed average daily attendance of the district.

(b) He shall compute the amount of district aid for such district under Article 10 of this chapter or Section 7111, as the case may be, except that in making such computation the assessed valuation used shall be that shown by the 1949 equalized assessment roll of the district.

(c) He shall compute the amount of basic state aid for such district under Article 7 of this chapter except that in making such computation the assessed valuation of the district used shall be that allowed average daily attendance.

(d) He shall then deduct from the amount of the foundation program computed under this section the amount of district aid computed for the district under this section.

(e) He shall then compare the amounts computed under subdivisions (b) and (d) and from the larger of the amounts so computed under subdivisions (b) and (d) and local and state equalization aid allowed to the district for the then current fiscal year under Article 7 and 11 of this chapter on account of the average daily attendance in the regular full time day elementary and kindergarten schools of the district during the preceding fiscal year.

7109.3. The amount allowed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to a district under Section 7163 shall be apportioned by him to the district.

7109.4. If the actual average daily attendance in the regular full-time day elementary and kindergarten schools of the district for the fiscal year shall prove to be less than the estimated average daily attendance upon the basis of which in computing the allowed average daily attendance of the district under Section 7161, the amount apportioned to the district under this article in excess of the amount which would have been apportioned had such corrected average daily attendance been used in such computation and the actual daily attendance been the same, shall be corrected by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to the State Controller who shall draw his warrant upon the State Treasurer in favor of the district entitled to the same and the State Treasurer shall pay the same from the State School Fund during the next fiscal year; and shall pay the amount deducted into the Sate General Fund.

7109.5. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall furnish abstracts of the apportionments made under this article to the State Controller, the Director of Finance, and to the county and city superintendents of schools, county auditors, county treasurers, and county superintendents of schools of the several counties of the State having jurisdiction over the districts to which such apportionments are made.

7109.7. All money received by the treasurer of any county from an apportionment made under this article shall be immediately credited by the treasurer to the general fund of the district exactly as apportioned by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

7109.8. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall not apportion in excess of three million dollars ($3,000,000) during any fiscal year under the preceding sections of this article.

In the event the amount available under this section for any period is less than the total allowances computed under the preceding sections of this article for such period, the amounts allowed for such period shall be reduced in the ratio that the amount of such deficit bears to the amounts allowed.

7109.9. The governing board of a high school district may apply to the Superintendent of Public Instruction in the form and manner prescribed by him for an apportionment from the funds available under this article because of growth in the number of pupils attending the regular full-time day schools if the number of pupils attending the regular full-time day schools of the district during the then current fiscal year is in excess of the number of pupils attending such schools during the preceding fiscal year and a majority of the members of the governing board of the district so certify. The Superintendent of Public Instruction may apportion to such district from said funds such amount as in his judgment is necessary because of emergency conditions existing in the district. The provisions of Sections 7166, 7167, and 7168 shall apply to such apportionments.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall not apportion in excess of three hundred fifty thousand dollars ($350,000) during any fiscal year under this section.

7109.10. For the purposes of this article a union elementary school district, or joint union elementary school district, or unified school district which was not in existence prior to July 1, 1949, shall, as now constituted, be deemed to have been in existence on July 1, 1948."

My dear Mr. Beek:

Our Association, in conjunction with the P.T.A., League of Women Voters and others, asked Governor Warren to put the Child Care Centers on the call for the legislative session.

This Association is a non-profit organization which is interested in the problems of delinquency. Therefore, we were desirous of continuing the Child Care Centers, as we felt that it prevented 13,000 children from having to face problems without their mothers, if their mothers had to work. Our late president, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, and our organization have been much interested in this problem for the last four years, and therefore, our Board of Directors asked me to go to Sacramento to discuss this matter with some of the legislators. I was there on March 22nd, and inasmuch as I had expected to appear before some Senate committees (which did not materialize), I was told that I should register as a "legislative representative." I did this, stating that none of my small salary - I work only three days a week - applied to anything I do in Sacramento.

However, in my various visits since the first of March, I have spent around $100 on hotels, meals, railroad and automobile transportation. I noticed from the paper, that some of the "legislative representatives" who were in Sacramento all the time, and were paid a salary, and had large expense accounts for their work, had to make some statement. I was wondering whether it was necessary for me to do so, or whether this letter would suffice. Can I trouble you to let me know whether anything further is necessary? I found out afterwards that most of the unofficial groups who were just interested in this public service did not register, therefore, this letter to you.

Very truly yours,

Lawrence Arnstein

Dear Mr. Beek:

Pursuant to the provisions of the Government Code regulating legislative representatives, I submit herewith the following report of money received and expended in carrying on legislative work. Where the expenditures are in excess of ten dollars, I have preserved receipted bills which are on file in the office of the League of California Cities and which may be examined by you at any time. Although the Government Code sections became effective March 22, the information submitted is for the period commencing March 6, 1950 to and including April 9, 1950.

1.	Hotel, March 6 to Mar. 12, inclusive (Room @9 per day, balance incidentals such as laundry, room service, telephone, etc.)	$ 69.72
2.	Hotel, March 12 to Mar. 19, inclusive	69.09
3.	Hotel, March 19 to Mar. 26, inclusive	100.21
4.	Hotel, March 26 to Apr. 2, inclusive (Hotel expenses after second week include additional room for secretary brought from main office in Berkeley to Sacramento for legislative services.)	135.60
5.	Hotel, April 2 to Apr. 10, inclusive	87.50
6.	Legislative Bill Room - bill service	43.01
7.	Automobile parking	10.00
8.	Personal expenses including meals, tips, local telephone calls:
	a. March 13 - Mar. 16	40.00
	b. March 20 - Mar. 24	45.00
	c. March 27 - Apr. 1	53.85
	d. April 3 - Apr. 7	38.50

I am employed in my professional capacity as Legal Counsel for the League of California Cities. Included in my duties is the duty to support legislation beneficial to the cities of California and to oppose legislation detrimental to the best interests of the cities of California. During the Special Legislative Session I have caused to be brought to the attention of the city officials of the cities of California Senate Bill 39 by Senator Mayo and 32 by Senator O'Gara and Assembly Bills 83 by Assemblyman Geddes and 77 by Assemblyman Stewart, all of which the cities of California support. These bills were brought to the attention of city officials by newsletter rather than by the type of publication referred to in Government Code section 9906.

There may be certain other items of expenditure such as long distance telephone calls made on a credit card or others for which we have, as yet, received no bill. It is impossible to give you the information on these until the bills are received. However, such information will be furnished with my next report.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Beek;

The American Temperance Society is the name under which the Pacific Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists carries on its temperance work. We maintain an office in Sacramento at 1005 Eighth Street. I am registered with the Senate as legislative representative, for the Society.

During the year as a whole, very little of the office work is an attempt to influence legislation. We are much more concerned with education and with having present laws relating to liquor enforced.

However, when the legislature is in session, about 25% of my time and a considerably smaller part of the time of the two office secretaries is devoted to legislation.

In the table below I am charging (as a legislative representative item) 25% of my own salary and expense allowance from March 22 to 31 inclusive. I am also charging 25% of the rent, 25% of the telephone bill, 50% of the cost of newspapers, 25% of the local busfare, my best estimate on stationery and postage bills, and the actual cost of clerical time.

My salary and rent allowance	$ 21.38
Office rent	3.43
Telephone	5.49
Newspapers	.37
Bus Tokens	.53
Stationery and postage	5.00
Clerical time	5.53

Dear Mr. Beek:

I was in Sacramento March 27, 28, and 29, primarily for the purpose of calling on the three local savings and loan associations which are members of the league, but I took the opportunity to visit members of the Legislature. We were not interested in any legislation and did not do any so-called lobbying.

However, in an attempt to live up to the spirit of the Collier Control Act, I registered. It is our understand that an accounting is to be made and in compliance, I submit that my meals and expenses for the stay in Sacramento at Hotel El Rancho amounted to $41.64. A voucher is enclosed for your files.

If additional supporting information is required or this form of report does not meet your requirements, please write me.

Replying to yours of the tenth, I know of no forms prepared for the filing of the statements containing the expenses of the Legislative Representatives. Each representative has made out his report individually. The law requires that these be filed only before the tenth of the month and that they be acknowledged by a notary.

Since I have yours of the tenth I will construe it as meeting the requirements as to date. Please make out a report, have it acknowledged, date it April 10th and let me have it by return mail. These reports must be published in the Journal, and we will be in session only a few more days.

Honorable Arthur A. Ohnimus
Chief Clerk of the Assembly
Sacramento, California

Gentlemen:

The undersigned is retained as a full time paid elected Executive Secretary-Treasurer of the California State Federation of Labor, AFL, which is an unincorporated association, to-wit: a bona fide labor organization with which most of the American Federation of Labor unions in the state of California are affiliated.

This organization is basically, fundamentally and primarily a labor organization and is not concerned primarily with the influencing of legislatures or the members thereof. The undersigned is employed primarily and essentially as the full time paid elected Executive Secretary-Treasurer of such organization and not as a lobbyist.

In view of the foregoing, therefore, it is the position of the undersigned and of the California State Federation of Labor that he is not required to comply with the provisions of the so-called Collier Act.

In order, however, to cooperate fully with the state government, the undersigned has registered on a voluntary basis with both the Senate and the Assembly and is voluntarily submitting the enclosed statement.

Such registration and the submission of such statement, however, should not be construed and is not intended as a concession that compliance with the so-called

Collier Act is mandatory, nor is any inference to be derived therefrom that either this individual or the California State Federation of Labor is concerned primarily with the influencing of the legislature or any of the members thereof.

Dear Mr. Beek:

Pursuant to Chapter 8, Part 1, Division 2, Title 2, of the Government Code, I am herewith furnishing a statement of expenses paid by me in connection with my work in Sacramento as directed by the Board of Trustees of the California Osteopathic Association.

While this Association does not do a critical cost accounting analysis of its expenses, I think I should point out to you that in the statement herein cited some of the expenses were partially for the work with the Legislature and partly in connection with other items of business in the Northern part of the State. For example, the Director of the Department of Education of our National Association was in California and part of the expenses, herein cited, was in connection with work with that individual in visiting colleges and the State Department of Education. From a practical standpoint, it was not possible to determine, for example, what portion of the hotel bill would be paid for visiting with Legislators or visiting with colleges. Although the enclosed statement of expenses show an airline fare, it does not include a monthly allowance paid to me for the use of my automobile in lieu of the Association owning its own car.

Statement of expenses paid by Thomas C. Schumacher and reimbursed by the California Osteopathic Association:

United Airlines	$107.88
Stenographic Services	14.00
Meals	79.10
Tips, taxi, hotel, misc.	59.23
Hotel Senator, March 13	59.70
March 15	27.67

Gentlemen:

The undersigned is retained as General Counsel for the California State Federation of Labor, A.F. of L., which is an unincorporated association, to-wit: a bona fide labor organization with which most of the American Federation of Labor unions in the state of California are affiliated.

This organization is basically, fundamentally and primarily a labor organization and is not concerned primarily with the influencing of legislatures or the members thereof. The undersigned is employed primarily and essentially as the General Counsel of such organization and not as a lobbyist.

In view of the foregoing, therefore, it is the position of the undersigned and of the California State Federation of Labor that he is not required to comply with the provisions of the so-called Collier Act.

In order, however, to cooperate fully with the state government, the undersigned has registered on a voluntary basis with both the Secretary of State and the Assembly and is voluntarily filing the enclosed statement.

Such registration and the submission of such statement, however, should not be construed and is not intended as a concession that compliance with the so-called Collier Act is mandatory, nor is any inference to be derived therefrom that either this individual or the California State Federation of Labor is concerned primarily with the influencing of the legislature or any member thereof.

Gentlemen:

Since the effective date of Chapter 4, Statutes of 1949, First Extraordinary Session, up to and including the last day of March 1949, I have, as a Legislative Representative and Advocate, received the sum of $70.00 in the form of salary as total compensation for such work.

I have caused no articles or editorials to be published attempting to influence state legislation.

I am employed to do many things, one of these being to oppose or support legislation affecting directly or indirectly the farmers of California or their organizations, on instructions thereon from my directors.

Respectfully submitted,

The California Monument Association, Inc. maintains my office as their office and my secretary keeps the books and sends out the notices of meetings for the Board of Directors and for the membership, also the bills. The 65 members each pay the sum of $5.00 per month as and for their membership in the Association. During the last legislative session, we hired a special legislative representative, However, we have no further agreement with him and his contract was merely for the term of the legislature. Aside from the legal expense and secretarial expense each month, there is usually a small expense for mimeographing the monthly news report and stamps. Of the 65 members, approximately 45 members are current with their dues, so that the monthly income is very little more than the amount expended for legal and secretarial services. The monthly expenditures of the Association last month were $100.00 to Frank W. Troost, for legal services; $75.00 for secretarial services; $6.00 for stamps; $12.68 to Office Service Company, Los Angeles, California, for mimeographing services; and $7.00 to Allen's Clipping Service, Los Angeles, California.

Consequently, I feel that I am and the California Monument Association, Inc. is not subject to the Collier Bill; to wit: Chapter 8, Part 1, Division 2, Title 2 of the Government Code of the State of California. However, by reason of the fact that construction of this statute is difficult and the statute seems ambiguous, until such time as decisions are made relative thereto, I should like this to stand as the monthly report of myself and the California Monument Association, Inc., and if there are any variations therefrom, I shall in the month of the variation inform you.

Dear Sir:

May I take this opportunity of informing you that I am General Counsel for the California Monument Association, Inc.

The California Monument Association, Inc., is an association of quarriers, wholesalers and retailers who engage in the business of removing granite from the earth and manufacturing it for monumental purposes. The association is a corporation duly incorporated under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California. The purposes of the association are to get together and to take joint action on any matters which would benefit the industry as a whole.

Certain laws have been passed in the State of California which are deemed to be a detriment to the industry and the development of natural resources. As an attorney, I was consulted in January of 1947, relative to acting as attorney for the Association and aiding in the change of these laws.

At that time and at the present time, in addition to practicing law, I am a partner in the Frank Troost Monument Co. of Inglewood, California, which is engaged in the manufacture and retail sale of monuments and markers.

As attorney for the association, I render opinions to them relative to various matters. I attend their Board of Directors meetings as their attorney and generally carry out all legal matters for them. For this service, I am paid by the California Monument Association, Inc. the sum of $100.00 per month. In addition, I am paid all expenses, such as, postage, long distance telephone calls, travel expenses, and when I am out of the City of Los Angeles on business for them, the sum of $25.00 per day, plus my living expenses and my entertainment expenses involved. From time to time during the 1947 and the 1949 legislative sessions, I appeared in Sacramento on approximately three or four occasions for several days on their behalf. Since the 1949 legislative session, I have appeared once on their behalf before the Interim Committee on Cemeteries.

The California Monument Association, Inc. maintains my office as their office and my secretary keeps the books and sends out the notices of meetings for the Board of Directors and for the membership, also the bills. The 65 members each pay the sum of $5.00 per month as and for their membership in the Association. During the last legislative session, we hired a special legislative representative, However, we have no further agreement with him and his contract was merely for the term of the legislature. Aside from the legal expense and secretarial expense each month, there is usually a small expense for mimeographing the monthly news report and stamps. My duties as Legislative Representative for the State Bar of California are incidental to my position as Secretary and Counsel of the State Bar of California. My duties as Legislative Representative would require me to support or oppose such legislation as to which the State Bar of California, acting by and through its Board of Governors, may take a position.
